We Europeans? Tony Kushner, 2017-03-02 We Europeans is the first book length study of the original mass observation project It is also the first detailed historical study of the formation of ordinary people's racial attitudes in Britain Drawing upon historical literary cultural and anthropological approaches this book examines the sources of cultural identity in Britain in the twentieth century and how these were shaped through the influences of family education and everyday high and low culture The examination focuses on the archives of the British social anthropological organization Mass Observation and is the first detailed history of it to be published Founded in the 1930s by poets psychoanalysts surrealists and sociologists among others the purpose of the organization was to create an anthropology of the British people by the natives themselves through the use of diaries directives and special surveys The organization was active from 1937 to 1951 then revived in the 1980s when a new group of Mass Observers were recruited to keep diaries and respond to directives Both the historical archive of Mass Observation and the more recent material provide fascinating insight into the everyday lives and formation of identities of ordinary people in Britain Kushner places the material from these archives in the context of other contemporary writings through them he explores grassroots identities in Britain in relation to the outside world especially Europe but also the former Empire and the USA This study will be of interest to scholars of sociology cultural studies literary studies and history who are particularly interested in race race relations immigration and cultural difference J.B.

Priestley Maggie B. Gale, 2008-03-03 The first book to provide a detailed and up to date analysis of Priestley's enormous contribution to twentieth century British theatre This study unpicks the contradictions of a playwright and theatre theorist popular with audiences but too often dismissed by critics General Catalogue of Printed Books British Museum. XXVII. 1947.*, English Shakespeariana, Nash - Zukofsky Birmingham Shakespeare Library, 1971 Theatre and National Identity Nadine Holdsworth, 2014-06-27 This book explores the ways that pre-existing national works or national theatre sites can offer a rich source of material for speaking to the contemporary moment because of the resonances or associations they offer of a different time place politics or culture Featuring a broad international scope it offers a series of thought provoking essays that explore how playwrights directors theatre makers and performance artists have re-staged or re-worked a classic national play performance theatrical form or theatre space in order to engage with conceptions of and questions around the nation nationalism and national identity in the contemporary moment opening up new ways of thinking about or problematizing questions around the nation and national identity Chapters ask how productions engage with a particular moment in the national psyche in the context of internationalism and globalization for example as well as how productions explore the interconnectivity of nations intercultural agendas or cosmopolitanism They also explore questions relating to the presence of migrants exiles or refugees and the legacy of colonial histories and post colonial subjectivities The volume highlights how theatre and performance has the ability to contest and unsettle ideas of the nation and national identity through the use of various sites stagings and performance strategies and how contemporary theatres have portrayed national agendas and characters at a time of intense cultural flux and repositioning Stage Lives ,1985-02-14 Product information not available

An essay towards a topographical history of the county of Norfolk. (Continued from p. 678 [of vol. 3] by C. Parkin). Francis Blomefield,1807 We Europeans? Antony Robin Jeremy Kushner,2004 Drawing upon historical literary cultural and anthropological approaches this book examines the sources of cultural identity in Britain in the twentieth century and how these were shaped through the influences of family education and everyday high and low culture The examination focuses on the archives of the British social anthropological organization Mass Observation and is the first detailed history of it to be published Founded in the 1930s by poets psychoanalysts surrealists and sociologists among others the purpose of the organization was to create an anthropology of the British people by the natives themselves through the use of diaries directives and special surveys The preliminary history to the election of Eadward the Confessor Edward Augustus Freeman,1877 The History of the Norman Conquest of England: The preliminary history to the election of Eadward the Confessor. 1867 Edward Augustus Freeman,1877 The History of the Norman Conquest of England: The preliminary history to the election of Eadward the Confessor. 1877 Edward Augustus Freeman,1877
