Schools of Quality John Jay Bonstingl, 2001-03-12 My hat s off to Jay Bonstingl and his third edition of Schools of Quality for pointing out that quality in schools is a process of working in teams self assessment improvement of systems and having students actively engaged in their learning through problem solving tools and the use of data for continuous improvement Mick McNiell Director National Quality Network of the American Association of School Administrators Successful schools are built on a strong foundation of Quality In this book Bonstingl outlines the blueprints for creating such a foundation and provides practical tools and examples for putting the Quality Philosophy to work at every level By applying these principles administrators can have more collaborative and trusting relationships with their colleagues and staff Teachers can develop their students potential to the fullest enabling each one to succeed Students get more involved in their work and take greater pride and joy in doing their work well Parents become avid supporters of the school and are pleased by their children s improved sense of responsibility Bonstingl explains how educators have used the Quality Philosophy to guide strategic planning communicate more effectively with parents improve students learning strategies and build a community of learners based on mutual respect and clearly defined aims The many practical Quality strategies in this book are designed to help educators establish processes that foster continuous improvement for everyone involved in schooling This third edition of Schools of Quality includes a new prologue by the author which not only provides a clear overview of the text but also highlights the fundamental benefits of enacting the Quality Philosophy in today s educational environment In addition Bonstingl has enriched the contents by incorporating suggestions from readers of the first and second editions throughout the book John Jay Bonstingl is an international education consultant specializing in the application of Quality Philosophy concepts and practices to the continuous improvement of schools businesses and governments as learning organizations

The War Against the Professions Judith J. Slater, David M. Callejo Pérez, Stephen M. Fain, 2008-01-01 The modern American university has for more than a century been the frontier where those who aspired to social and economic advancement ventured Initially the guides for the aspirants were the professors who having earned the trust of both the general public and practitioners provided the necessary foundation for entry into the profession It was understood that what took place in the academy was an introductory experience as all professions require some form of supervised practical experience prior to being admitted into the profession Research done by members of the academy served as the primary source of knowledge advancing the professions Finally those who were engaged in these acts of knowledge production were actively involved establishing pre professional curriculum teaching and evaluation and they were held in high regard for this work The final quarter of the twentieth century marked a shift in the general attitude toward the professorate and the academy Trust was replaced with accountability and the high regard once enjoyed was undermined by suspicion The traditional model of the academy once seen as a community of scholars was replaced by a new corporate mind set Production became more important than inquiry These shifts resulted in a university where students were trained in response to the needs of others who defined the frontier for them This shift responds to the mitra of the day Social Education Erling Messer Hunt,1979 Includes section Book reviews Restructuring Schools Maureen T.
