Ecology And Conservation Of The Valley Of Flowers National Park Garhwal Himalaya:

Ecology and Conservation of the Valley of Flowers National Park, Garhwal Himalaya C. P. Kala, G. S. Rawat, V. K. Uniyal, 1998 Community-based Biodiversity Conservation in the Himalayas Yogesh Gokhale, Ajeet K. Negi, 2011-01-01 Conservation of biodiversity by local communities has been part of the social system in the Himalayas. A variety of ecosystems are conserved traditionally by local communities. These communities are fully aware of the relationship between protecting the nature and getting ecosystem goods and services. The van panchayat system in Uttarakhand and sacred natural sites all over the Himalayas suggest a mix of the institutions in the region. Globally, community conserved areas (CCAs) are gaining importance. Biodiversity Heritage Sites, Community Reserves, and Conservation Reserves are the new institutional legal provisions that recognize the efforts of local communities in biodiversity conservation in India. The present volume highlights the importance of the existing systems in terms of their role in biodiversity conservation with community participation and suggests ways to enhance community-based biodiversity conservation in light of the emerging policy provisions. It would serve as an important reference for a wide range of stakeholders from policy makers to environmentalists, biodiversity experts, development practitioners, academicians, and researchers.

Bird Migration across the Himalayas Herbert H. T. Prins, Tsewang Namgail, 2017-04-06 Birds migrating across the Himalayan region fly over the highest peaks in the world, facing immense physiological and climatic challenges. The authors show the different strategies used by birds to cope with these challenges. Many wetland avian species are seen in the high altitude lakes of the Himalayas and the adjoining Tibetan Plateau. Such as Bar-headed Geese. Ringing programmes have generated information about origins and destinations, and this book is the first to present information on the birds' exact migratory paths. Capitalising on knowledge generated through satellite telemetry, the authors describe the migratory routes of a multitude of birds flying over or skirting the Himalayas. The myriad of threats to migratory birds and the wetland system in the Central Asian Flyway are discussed with ways to mitigate them. This volume will inform and persuade policy makers and conservation practitioners to take appropriate measures for the long-term survival of this unique migration.

Conservation of Kashmir Himalayan Endemic Plants Abdul Rashid Dar, G. H. Dar, 2017-02 Although a compendium of the extent of endemism in the Himalaya is not known, it is believed that the majority of dicot endemic species of India are concentrated in the Himalaya. A significant proportion of the Kashmir Himalayan endemics are endangered due to a multitude of factors, and several of them are now listed in the Red Data Books at regional, national, and international levels. For this study, ex situ conservation efforts were attempted by raising plants of some economically important critically endangered endemic angiosperms species of the Kashmir Himalaya from rhizomes, seeds, or other reproductive propagules in the experimental plot at Kashmir University Botanical Garden, KUBG. Nine species belonging to 9 genera and 7 families were dealt with. The paucity of critical information necessitated the present study to explicate the macro-level factors constraining the populations of the target species through extensive field survey.

trips and also to undertake measures for ex situ propagation and conservation in order to support their recovery and restoration and provide long term backup collections for sustained use by the local populace

Ethnobotany of the Himalayas Ripu M. Kunwar, Hassan Sher, Rainer W. Bussmann, 2021-07-29 Research in recent years has increasingly shifted away from purely academic research and into applied aspects of the discipline including climate change research conservation and sustainable development It has by now widely been recognized that traditional knowledge is always in flux and adapting to a quickly changing environment Trends of globalization especially the globalization of plant markets have greatly influenced how plant resources are managed nowadays While ethnobotanical studies are now available from many regions of the world no comprehensive encyclopedic series focusing on the worlds mountain regions is available in the market Scholars in plant sciences worldwide will be interested in this website and its dynamic content The field and thus the market of ethnobotany and ethnopharmacology has grown considerably in recent years Student interest is on the rise attendance at professional conferences has grown steadily and the number of professionals calling themselves ethnobotanists has increased significantly the various societies like the Society for Economic Botany the International Society of Ethnopharmacology the Society of Ethnobiology and the International Society for Ethnobiology currently have thousands of members Growth has been most robust in BRIC countries This new MRW on Ethnobotany of the Himalayas takes advantage of the increasing international interest and scholarship in the field of mountain research It includes the best and latest research on a full range of descriptive methodological theoretical and applied research on the most important plants in the Himalayas Each contribution is scientifically rigorous and contributes to the overall field of study Biodiversity of the Himalaya Rajesh Kumar, Suresh Kumar, 2025-10-28 This new two volume set pays tribute to the incredibly diversified Himalaya It presents and assesses the various threats and challenges to Himalayan biodiversity documenting the multifaceted approaches for conservation and sustainable management of biological resources in the Himalayan region Volume 1 focuses on the flora of the area exploring the diversity distribution utilization threat status and conservation of medicinal edible and other economic plant resources of the region The chapters consider the impact of traditional as well as scientific knowledge on the conservation of floral wealth in the region and recognize the importance of maintaining and preserving the plant diversity The chapters cover diverse topics including the traditional medicinal uses pharmacological activity and phytochemistry of selected plants and mushrooms The book also proposes several biotechnological interventions and propagation strategies for some endangered plants The threats posed by non native invasive plants to the region s diverse biodiversity are examined as well as is the very real and destructive impact of climate change Conservation and management strategies for endangered plants of the Himalaya are also covered

Global Perspectives on Sustainable Forest Management Dr. Clement A. Okia, 2012-04-25 This book is dedicated to global perspectives on sustainable forest management It focuses on a need to move away from purely protective management of forests to innovative approaches for multiple use and management of forest resources The book is divided into two sections the first section with thirteen chapters deals with the forest management aspects while the second section with five chapters is dedicated to forest utilization This book will fill the existing gaps in the knowledge about emerging perspectives on sustainable forest management It will be an interesting and helpful resource to managers specialists and students in the field of forestry and natural resources management Biodiversity, Communities and Climate Change Chandra Prakash Kala,Chandra Shekhar Silori,2013-01-01 Biodiversity conservation and sustainable use of natural resources has remained one of the key challenges for development agencies and concerned stakeholders for decades together The huge threat of climate change has only added to this complexity In this context the present book Biodiversity Community and Climate Change is designed to help in guiding the various principles of biodiversity conservation effects of climate change and role of communities at various levels and landscapes A total of 19 chapters are covered in this book and they encompass a wide range of topics including tools of biodiversity assessment ranging from conventional ecological and social survey methods to the use of latest technology such as Geographical Information System GIS and remote sensing Threatened Medicinal Plants in the Indian Himalayan Region Arun Pratap Mishra,Amit Kumar,Naveen Chandra,Gajendra Singh,Chaitanya Baliram Pande,2024-12-30 The book provides an in depth analysis of the major issues related to the conservation of threatened medicinal plants in the Indian Himalayan region The book is a comprehensive resource and sustainability of challenges and conservation strategies that highlights the critical role of medicinal plants in traditional healthcare systems and identifies the significant threats that these plants face due to various anthropogenic and natural factors The book covers ten major themes that are critical to understanding the sustainability conservation of threatened medicinal plants in the Indian Himalayan region It provides an essential resource for researchers policymakers and practitioners interested in the sustainability conservation of threatened medicinal plants in the Himalayan area The book provides an overview of the major issues related to medicinal plant sustainability conservation and suggests strategies for the sustainable management of these plants The authors have provided a comprehensive and insightful analysis of the sustainability conservation status of medicinal plants in the region highlighting the urgent need for concerted efforts to conserve these valuable resources Community Ecology of Shola Grasslands Dr. Sameer Patil,2022-09-22 Shola grassland forest mosaics also known as sholas are unique and ecologically significant ecosystems found in the Central Southern Western Ghats India These high altitude grassland forest mosaics are characterized by their rolling hills dense forests and meadows of grasses and wildflowers They are not only aesthetically pleasing but also play a crucial role in the biodiversity of the region They are considered biodiversity hotspots due to their remarkable diversity of flora and fauna The formation of this unique ecosystem is a dynamic and ongoing process It is influenced by factors such as fire grazing by herbivores rainfall patterns and human activities However other factors like deforestation land conversion and invasive species can easily disrupt the delicate balance between grasslands and forests

Consequently the conservation of this unique ecosystem is crucial for maintaining its ecological integrity and the services it provides including biodiversity conservation water regulation carbon sequestration and cultural values International Journal of Advanced Remote Sensing and GIS Cloud Publications,2012-01-01 International Journal of Advanced Remote Sensing and GIS IJARSG ISSN 2320 0243 is an open access peer reviewed scholarly journal publishes original research papers reviews case study case reports and methodology articles in all aspects of Remote Sensing and GIS including associated fields This Journal commits to working for quality and transparency in its publishing by following standard Publication Ethics and Policies Land Use Change and Mountain Biodiversity Eva M. Nanda's Neelkanth Chandra Prakash Kala,2015-03-11 Being blessed to wander in some of the most fascinating hills and valleys of nature I have been endeavoring for long to put these stories together I offer here the elements that appeal most to me during my wanderings in the jungles meadows villages and towns especially in the abode of gods and goddesses the Himalaya I pick up one of the tales as a title of the book Nanda s Neelkanth Neelkanth is one of the several names of the Lord Shiva the Hindu god Many snow clad peaks of the Himalaya are named after the gods and goddesses and Neelkanth is one of the most magnificent peaks It attracts every human soul not only to its brilliant hues and majestic snowy peak but Neelkanth as the Mahadev also remains the source of spirituality for billions Likewise His consort Nanda who is adorned with innumerable names including the Gaura has been venerated in the form of beautiful mountains of the Himalaya The quiet and unquiet woods the elusive and elegant wildlife the people and their culture and their struggle for living are the other elements in this bouquet of experiences Ecology and Environment in the Himalayas Kuldip Singh Gulia,2007 Today environment and ecology are the buzzwords The pace of development and modernization has endangered the ecological balance of Himalaya When the British brought railways in the India in the late 18th century the Himalayan jungles were denuded of the vast forests covers due to the demand for sleepers When in early 19th century the Britishers attempted to curb wanton tree felling there arose resentment among the people of Garhwal and Kumaon in Uttarakhand But in later times those very women folk took to Chipko movement to curb tree felling The book gives a multitude of ill effects of tree felling ranging from soil erosion to causing floods in the plains and depositing silt The shrinking of various Himalayan glaciers has also created alarm among the global ecologists and environmentalists Denudation of forests also has been causing landslides and endangering the wildlife Now the efforts are being made to avert the man made disaster This book comes to grips with the magnitude of problem in the entire Himalayan region Ecology of Himalayan Treeline Ecotone S P Singh, Zafar Ahmad Reshi, Rajesh Joshi, 2023-02-21 This book brings together comprehensive multi disciplinary knowledge on diverse aspects of the Himalayan treeline ecotone which is considered one of the most sensitive ecosystems to climate change The contents of this book are based on the results of extensive research and provide a holistic understanding of the treeline ecotone in Himalaya The book will serve as an important reference manual and a textbook on treeline ecology The book is unique in the sense that it provides an engaging account of almost all the aspects of the treeline ecotone such as taxonomic functional and phylogenetic species diversity temperature lapse rates tree phenology water relations and stress physiology tree ring width chronology and climate relationships and the role of treeline ecotone in human sustenance in the Indian Himalayan region The treelines in the Himalaya being the highest in the Northern Hemisphere up to 4900 m are among the least investigated systems and hence this book is timely and fills all important knowledge gaps vis vis treeline shifts physiognomic structural and functional changes in mountain landscapes and ecosystems particularly under the changing climate This book for the first time summarizes evidence based knowledge about various aspects of treeline ecotone in Himalaya that was largely generated through a well coordinated a team science approach The book will be of interest to ecologists climatologists dendrochronologists foresters plant physiologists and resource managers and policy planners for a better understanding of the organization and dynamics of this fragile ecosystem in relation to climate change and other anthropogenic stresses that are rampant in the Himalaya The book lays a solid foundation for further investigation of the ecology and dynamics of the treeline ecotone in the Himalayas and provides a rationale for pursuing a team science approach for macroecological investigations
