Mourning El Dorado Charlotte Rogers,2019-06-13 What ever happened to the legend of El Dorado the tale of the mythical city of gold lost in the Amazon jungle Charlotte Rogers argues that El Dorado has not been forgotten and still inspires the reckless pursuit of illusory wealth The search for gold in South America during the colonial period inaugurated the promise of El Dorado the belief that wealth and happiness can be found in the tropical forests of the Americas That assumption has endured over the course of centuries still evident in the various modes of natural resource extraction such as oil drilling and mining that characterize the region today Mourning El Dorado looks at how fiction from the American tropics written since 1950 engages with the promise of El Dorado in the age of the Anthropocene Just as the golden kingdom was never found natural resource extraction has not produced wealth and happiness for the peoples of the tropics While extractivism enriches a few outsiders it results in environmental degradation and the subjugation displacement and forced assimilation of native peoples This book considers how the fiction of five writers Alejo Carpentier Wilson Harris Mario Vargas Llosa Ivaro Mutis and Milton Hatoum criticizes extractive practices and mourns the lost illusion of the forest as a place of wealth and happiness eighteen substantial essays by distinguished scholars critics and translators and two interviews with eminent figures of British theatre to explore the idea and practice of translation The individual but conceptually related contributions examine topics from the Renaissance to the present in the context of apt exploration of the translation process invoking both restricted and extended senses of translation The endeavour is to study in detail the theory workings and implications of what might be called the art of creative transposition effective at the level of interlingual transcoding dynamic rewriting theatrical and cinematic adaptation intersemiotic or intermedial translation and cultural exchange Many of the essays focus on aspects of intertextuality the dialogue with text past and present as they bear on the issue of translation attending to the historical political or cultural dimensions of the practice whether it illuminates a gendered reading of a text or a staging of cultural difference The historic and generic range of the discussions is wide encompassing the Elizabethan epyllion Sensibility fiction Victorian poetry and prose modern and postmodern novels but the book is dominated by dramatic or performance related applications with major representation of fresh investigations into Shakespeare from A Midsummer Night s Dream to The Tempest and foregrounding of acts of self translation on stage in the dramatic monologue and in fiction Contributions from theatre practitioners such as Sir Peter Hall John Barton and Peter Lichtenfels underscore the immense practical importance of the translator on the stage and the business of both acting and directing as a species of translation
