Lanham, 2010-06-15 The personal computer has revolutionized communication and digitized text has introduced a radically new medium of expression Interactive volatile mixing word and image the electronic word challenges our assumptions about the shape of culture itself This highly acclaimed collection of Richard Lanham's witty provocative and engaging essays surveys the effects of electronic text on the arts and letters Lanham explores how electronic text fulfills the expressive agenda of twentieth century visual art and music revolutionizes the curriculum democratizes the instruments of art and poses anew the cultural accountability of humanism itself Persuading us with uncommon grace and power that the move from book to screen gives cause for optimism not despair Lanham proclaims that electronic expression has come not to destroy the Western arts but to fulfill them The Electronic Word is also available as a Chicago Expanded Book for your Macintosh This hypertext edition allows readers to move freely through the text marking pages annotating passages searching words and phrases and immediately accessing annotations which have been enhanced for this edition In a special prefatory essay Lanham introduces the features of this electronic edition and gives a vividly applied critique of this dynamic new edition The Cambridge Handbook of Literacy David R. Olson, Nancy Torrance, 2009-02-09 This handbook marks the transformation of the topic of literacy from the narrower concerns with learning to read and write to an interdisciplinary enquiry into the various roles of writing and reading in the full range of social and psychological functions in both modern and developing societies It does so by exploring the nature and development of writing systems the relations between speech and writing the history of the social uses of writing the evolution of conventions of reading the social and developmental dimensions of acquiring literate competencies and more generally the conceptual and cognitive dimensions of literacy as a set of social practices Contributors to the volume are leading scholars drawn from such disciplines as linguistics literature history anthropology psychology the neurosciences cultural psychology and education     Interactive Realism Daniel Mark Downes,2005 Interactive realism is a new and original theory of the Net that explains cyberspace as a social phenomenon Mark Poster author of The Second Media Age and The Mode of Information Poststructuralism and Social Context

Hyper/Text/Theory George P. Landow,1994-12-05 In his widely acclaimed book Hypertext George P Landow described a radically new information technology and its relationship to the work of such literary theorists as Jacques Derrida and Roland Barthes Now Landow has brought together a distinguished group of authorities to explore more fully the implications of hypertextual reading for contemporary literary theory Among the contributors Charles Ess uses the work of Jürgen Habermas and the Frankfurt School to examine hypertext's potential for true democratization Stuart Moulthrop turns to Deleuze and Guattari as a point of departure for a study of the relation of hypertext and political power Espen Aarseth places hypertext within a framework created by other forms of electronic textuality David Kolb explores what hypertext implies for philosophy and philosophical discourse Jane Yellowlees Douglas Gunnar Liestol and Mireille Rosello use contemporary theory to come to terms with hypertext narrative Terrence Harpold investigates the hypertextual fiction of Michael Joyce Drawing on Derrida Lacan and Wittgenstein Gregory Ulmer offers an example of the new form of writing hypertextuality demands     The Visual Culture Reader Nicholas Mirzoeff,2002 The diverse essays collected here constitute an exploration of the emerging interdisciplinary field of visual culture and examine why modern and postmodern culture place such a premium on rendering experience in visual form     Humane Economics Jack C. High,Don Lavoie,2006-10-27 Don Lavoie's published work encompassed a wide range of subjects socialism hermeneutics information technology and culture The subjects appear unrelated but a close examination of his research reveals an underlying unity of thought and an economics at sharp variance with the post World War II mainstream By linking economics to other disciplines Lavoie demonstrated that economics is closer to the humanities than to the physical sciences The contributors to this volume explore Don Lavoie's legacy and its implications for economics     Rhetorical Memory and Delivery John Frederick Reynolds,2013-11-05 Why has classical rhetoric been a subject of such growing interest for the past ten years Because the most exciting work in classical rhetoric has asked us to rethink classical concepts in modern terms What's been missing at least in book length form is a scholarly rethinking of rhetorical memory and delivery As many scholars have been noting in their work for some time now three of five classical issues invention arrangement and style have dominated rhetorical studies while the other two memory and delivery have largely been misunderstood or ignored Re-examined in light of recent research on orality literacy and electronic technology rhetorical memory and delivery issues can become not only central to the field but also key to the continued interest in classical rhetoric Bringing together national scholars from a variety of related disciplines in which rhetoical memory and delivery issues matter this collection is the only volume that examines classical and contemporary interpretations of rhetorical memory and delivery in depth and detail      Information Arts Stephen Wilson,2003-02-28 An introduction to the work and ideas of artists who use and even influence science and technology A new breed of contemporary artist engages science and technology not just to adopt the vocabulary and gizmos but to explore and comment on the content agendas and possibilities Indeed proposes Stephen Wilson the role of the artist is not only to interpret and to spread scientific knowledge but to be an active partner in determining the direction of research Years ago C P Snow wrote about the two cultures of science and the humanities these developments may finally help to change the outlook of those who view science and technology as separate from the general culture In this rich compendium Wilson offers the first comprehensive survey of international artists who incorporate concepts and research from mathematics the physical sciences biology kinetics telecommunications and experimental digital systems such as artificial intelligence and ubiquitous computing In addition to visual documentation and statements by the artists Wilson examines relevant art theoretical writings and explores emerging scientific and technological research likely to be culturally significant in the future He also provides lists of resources including organizations publications conferences museums research centers and Web sites

From Text to Hypertext Silvio Gaggi, 2015-07-27 It is a tenet of postmodern writing that the subject the self is unstable fragmented and decentered One useful way to examine this principle is to look at how the subject has been treated in various media in the premodern modern and postmodern eras Silvio Gaggi pursues this strategy in From Text to Hypertext analyzing the issue of subject construction and deconstruction in selected examples of visual art literature film and electronic media Gaggi concentrates on a few paradigmatic works in each chapter he contrasts van Eyck s Wedding of Arnolfini with the photography of Cindy Sherman and Barbara Kruger examines fiction that centers on an elusive subject in works by Conrad Faulkner and Calvino and explores the ability of such films as Coppola's One from the Heart and Altman's The Player to emancipate the subject through cinematography and editing. In considering electronic media, Gaggi takes his argument to an entirely new level. He focuses on computer-controlled media, specifically examples of hypertextual fiction by Michael Joyce and Stuart Moulthrop. Besides recognizing how the computer has enabled artists to create works of fiction in which readers themselves become decentered, Gaggi also observes the impact of literature created on computer networks where even the limitations of CD-ROM are lifted and the notion of individual authorship may for all practical purposes be lost.

The Absent Body Drew Leder, 1990-07-20

The body plays a central role in shaping our experience of the world. Why then are we so frequently oblivious to our own bodies? We gaze at the world but rarely see our own eyes. We may be unable to explain how we perform the simplest of acts. We are even less aware of our internal organs and the physiological processes that keep us alive. In this fascinating work, Drew Leder examines all the ways in which the body is absent, forgotten, alien, uncontrollable, obscured. In part 1, Leder explores a wide range of bodily functions with an eye to structures of concealment and alienation. He discusses not only perception and movement skills and tools but a variety of bodies that philosophers tend to overlook: the inner body with its anonymous rhythms, the sleeping body into which we nightly lapse, the prenatal body from which we first came to be. Leder thereby seeks to challenge the primacy of perception. In part 2, Leder shows how this phenomenology allows us to rethink traditional concepts of mind and body. Leder argues that Cartesian dualism exhibits an abiding power because it draws upon life-world experiences. Descartes' corpus is filled with disruptive bodies which can only be subdued by exercising disembodied reason. Leder explores the origins of this notion of reason as disembodied, focusing upon the hidden corporeality of language and thought. In a final chapter, Leder then proposes a new ethic of embodiment to carry us beyond Cartesianism. This original, important, and accessible work uses examples from the author's medical training throughout. It will interest all those concerned with phenomenology, the philosophy of mind, or the Cartesian tradition, those working in the health care professions, and all those fascinated by the human body.

Doing Things with Things Ole Dreier, 2016-05-23

It has been claimed that the natural sciences have abstracted for themselves a material world set apart from human concerns, and social sciences in their turn constructed a world of actors devoid of things. While a subject such as archaeology, by its very nature, takes objects into account, other disciplines such as psychology emphasize internal mental structures and other non-material issues. This book brings together a team of contributors from across the social sciences who have been taking things more seriously to examine how people relate to objects. The contributors focus on every-day objects and how these objects enter into our activities over the course of time. Using a combination of different theoretical approaches, including actor-network theory, ecological psychology, cognitive linguistics, and science and technology studies, the book argues against the standard notion of objects and their properties as inert and meaningless and argues for the need to understand the relations between people and objects in terms of process and change      Greek Literature in the Classical Period: The Prose of Historiography and Oratory Gregory Nagy, 2014-07-16 This volume is available on its own or as part of the seven volume set Greek Literature This collection reprints in facsimile the most influential scholarship published in this field during the twentieth century For a complete list of the volume titles in this set see the listing for Greek Literature ISBN 0 8153 3681 0 A full table of contents can be obtained by email reference routledge ny com      Buddhist Theology Roger Jackson, John Makransky, 2013-12-16 Scholars of Buddhism themselves Buddhist here seek to apply the critical tools of the academy to reassess the truth and transformative value of their tradition in its relevance to the contemporary world      Communication Yearbook 19 Brant R. Burleson, 2012-03-22 Communication Yearbook 19 originally published in 1996 provides rich overviews of key developments in theory method and application The volume contains ten integrative research reviews on diverse topics including communication and the elderly compliance gaining in organizations interpersonal violence communication technologies media access and consumption as well as three reviews addressing sex and gender issues Each review synthesizes findings of past research discusses current controversies and identifies challenges for future scholarship
