Foreign Service Journal, 1952
Jet, 1966-09-22 The weekly source of African American political and entertainment news Annual Reports of Officers, Boards, and Institutions of the Commonwealth of Virginia, for the Year Ending September 30 ... Virginia, 1915 Movers and Stayers Irwin L. Morris, 2021-01-14 The South is on the cusp of a partisan transformation one in which Democratic support is quickly accelerating and Movers and Stayers explains why this change is occurring It shows how young educated movers are encouraging the increasing progressivism of the high growth communities that are their new homes and it highlights the increasing conservatism of white stayers in the communities movers are leaving behind Movers and Stayers highlights the contributions of blacks and Latinos to the growing progressivism in the South and it explains the coming schism between high growth and stagnating communities and states in the South A Generation at War Nicole Etcheson, 2023-02-10 For all that has been written about the Civil War's impact on the urban northeast and southern home fronts we have until now lacked a detailed picture of how it affected specific communities in the Union's Midwestern heartland Nicole Etcheson offers a deeply researched microhistory of one such community Putnam County Indiana from the Compromise of 1850 to the end of Reconstruction and shows how its citizens responded to and were affected by the war Delving into the everyday life of a small town in one of the nineteenth century's bellwether states A Generation at War considers the Civil War within a much broader chronological context than other accounts It ranges across three decades to show how the issues of the day particularly race and sectionalism temporarily displaced economic and temperance concerns how the racial attitudes of northern whites changed and how a generation of young men and women coped with the transformative experience of war Etcheson interrelates an impressively wide range of topics Through temperance and alcohol she illustrates nativism and class consciousness while through an account of a murder she probes ethnicity politics and gender She reveals how some women wanted to maintain dependence and how the war gave independence to others as pensions allowed them to survive without a male provider And she chronicles the major shift in race relations as the most revolutionary change blacks had been excluded from Indiana in the 1850s but were invited into Putnam County by 1880 Etcheson personalizes all of these issues through human stories bringing to life people previously ignored by history whether veterans demanding recognition of their sacrifice women speaking out against liquor or Copperheads parading against Republicans The introduction of race with the North Carolina Exodusters marks a particularly effective lens for seeing how the idealism unleashed by Lincoln's war influenced the North Etcheson also helps us understand how white Southerners tried to reunify the country on the basis of shared white racism Drawing on personal papers local newspapers pension petitions Exoduster pamphlets and more Etcheson demonstrates how microhistory helps give new meaning to larger events A Generation at War opens a new window on the impact of the Civil War on the agrarian North Illustrated Sporting & Dramatic News, 1917 Language, Print, and Electoral Politics, 1790-1832 Hannah Barker, David Vincent, 2001 An unusually complete collection of over 300 broadsides from Newcastle under Lyme Staffordshire produced in the heated political climate of the early 18c In the half century before 1790 there had been only one contested election in Newcastle but between 1790 and 1832 there were a dozen This new and heated political climate prompted the production of a vast array of printed propaganda and political commentary aimed at voters and non voters alike Most of this material took the form of single printed sheets or broadsides produced in great numbers and distributed amongst the town's inhabitants for free This volume reproduces just over three hundred Newcastle broadsides published during this time they constitute an important and unique collection for though such material was produced in many constituencies in Hanoverian England rarely has it survived in such a complete form Material comes from Keele University Library the Sutherland papers at the Staffordshire Record Office and Newcastle Museum A representative selection of reproductions of original broadsides is included to give the reader an idea of how contemporaries would have seen the texts and an introduction explains their context Dr HANNAH BARKER is Lecturer in History at the University of Manchester Dr DAVID VINCENT is Professor of Social History at the University of Keele

Writing and America Gavin Cologne-Brookes, Neil Sammells, David Timms, 2016-07-01 Writing and America surveys the writing genres that have contributed to the American notions of America Essays from scholars from both side of the Atlantic chart the range of responses to American nationhood from colonial times to the present and include dissenting responses from communities such as native American black and feminist writers Case studies from writers such as James Fenimore Cooper and William Carlos Williams provide a framework for discussions on topics such as colonial notions of America as the promised land the discourses of nationhood in the republic the sense of nationhood in American historiography and the formation of the American Canon Draws upon extracts from the American Bills of Rights and the Constitution as examples of different types of writing
