Adolescents and Literacies in a Digital World Donna E. Alvermann, 2002 By embracing a rapidly changing digital world the so called millennial adolescent is proving quite adept at breaking down age old distinctions among disciplines between high and low brow media culture and within print and digitized text types Adolescents and Literacies in a Digital World explores the significance of digital technologies and media in youth s negotiated approaches to making meaning within a broad array of self defined literacy practices Organized around a series of case studies this book blends theories of an attention economy generational differences communication technologies and neoliberal enactive texts with actual accounts of adolescents use of instant messaging shape shifting portfolios critical inquiry and media production Segregation by Experience Jennifer Keys Adair, Kiyomi Sánchez-Suzuki Colegrove, 2021-05-03 Early childhood can be a time of rich discovery a period when educators have an opportunity to harness their students fascination to create unique learning opportunities Some teachers engage with their students ideas in ways that make learning collaborative but not all students have access to these kinds of learning environments In Segregation by Experience the authors filmed and studied a first grade classroom led by a Black immigrant teacher who encouraged her diverse group of students to exercise their agency When the researchers showed the film to other schools everyone struggled Educators admired the teacher but didn t think her practices would work with their own Black and brown students Parents of color many of them immigrants liked many of the practices but worried that they would compromise their children And the young children who viewed the film thought that the kids in the film were terrible loud and badly behaved they told the authors that learning was supposed to be quiet still and obedient In Segregation by Experience Jennifer Keys Adair and Kiyomi Sánchez-Suzuki Colegrove show us just how much our expectations of children of color affect what and how they learn at school and they ask us to consider which children get to have sophisticated dynamic learning experiences at school and which children are denied such experiences because of our continued racist assumptions about them Literacy for All Students Rebecca Powell, Elizabeth Rightmyer, 2012-04-27 The Culturally Responsive Instruction Observation Protocol CRIOP is a framework for implementing culturally relevant literacy instruction and classroom observation Drawing on research and theory reflecting a range of perspectives multicultural instruction literacy theory equity pedagogy language and discourse models sheltered instruction critical pedagogy it provides a means for assessing the many variables of classroom literacy instruction and for guiding practitioners in their development as multicultural educators Literacy for All Students Discusses issues in multicultural literacy instruction within the context of various essential instructional components such as assessment curriculum parent collaboration Provides a protocol for observing features of literacy instruction for culturally and linguistically diverse students Presents vignettes from real classrooms written by elementary and middle school teachers showing their victories and struggles as they attempt to implement a pedagogy that is culturally responsive within a climate of high stakes testing A highly effective instrument for

"Good Guys Don't Wear Hats" Joseph Jay Tobin,2000-01-01

Joseph Tobin offers a fresh perspective on how children make sense of media representations of race sex violence and class By weaving such cutting edge approaches as poststructuralism performance theory and critical theory into his analysis he demonstrates how the meanings children give to media messages depend on the local contexts in which they live Tobin challenges the convention that children are easily fooled by the media and suggests instead that they are capable of resistant interpretations of the movies and television they watch

Critical Pedagogy Peter McLaren,Joe L. Kincheloe,2007 Our educational system is in turmoil Many would argue that it has been assaulted and oversimplified by the right There is growing concern that we are becoming a liberal nation state with an increasingly anti liberal population and an electorate that is disinterested in politics In this globalized world the power of capital is so great that opposition to it is often discouraged and disheartened leaving many citizens few political precepts by which to consider their institutions This contemporary failure of vision has opened the way for the unimpeded return of the philosophy of the free market As a result social and educational policies are debated almost solely in terms of how they fit with the needs of the market Social and ethical understandings are replaced by a failed economic theory that requires a radical constraint of our political and economic choices Compassion for the poor the market lets us know is wrong headed because any interference with the labor market will always result in unfortunate economic and social consequences Moral issues are eclipsed by market needs In Critical Pedagogy Where Are We Now the contributors discuss how the field of critical pedagogy should respond to such dire conditions in a way that is theoretically savvy and visionary while concurrently contributing to the struggle to improve the lives of those most hurt by them Critical Pedagogy is essential reading for every classroom teacher and pre service teacher It is also a valuable tool for use in undergraduate and graduate level classrooms
