Library Collection Development for Professional Programs: Trends and Best Practices Holder, Sara, 2012-07-31 Collection development the process used by librarians to choose items for a particular library or section of a library can be time consuming and difficult due to the many factors that must be taken into consideration Library Collection Development for Professional Programs Trends and Best Practices addresses the challenging task of collection development in modern academic libraries which is largely learned on the job This publication contains practical advice and innovative strategies essential for current collection development librarians and future librarians seeking guidance in this complex position

North Carolina Women Michele Gillespie, Sally G. McMillen, 2014 This first of two volumes on North Carolina women chronicles the influence and accomplishments of individual women from the pre Revolutionary period through the early 20th century They represent a range of social and economic backgrounds political stances areas of influence and geographical regions within the state Even though North Carolina remained mostly rural until well into the twentieth century and the lives of most women centered on farm family and church Gillespie and McMillen note that the state's people exhibited a progressive streak that positively influenced women Public funds were set aside to advance statewide education private efforts after the Civil War led to the founding of numerous black schools and colleges and in 1891 the General Assembly chartered the State Normal and Industrial School later UNC-G as one of the first publicly funded colleges for white women By the late 19th century as several essays in this volume reveal education played a pivotal role in the lives of many white and black women It inspired their activism and involvement in a world beyond their traditional domestic sphere Product

Stewardship in Action Helen Lewis, 2017-09-08 Product Stewardship in Action describes how and why leading companies are taking responsibility for the environmental impact of their products and packaging Product stewardship often referred to as extended producer responsibility or EPR is the idea that everyone that benefits commercially from a product including manufacturers distributors and retailers has a shared responsibility to minimize its environmental impacts Written primarily for a business audience it draws on the knowledge and experience of industry practitioners and other experts to provide a structured approach to product responsibility within firms This will help those new to the field as well as more experienced practitioners to develop an effective response to stakeholder concerns about the environmental impacts of their products and packaging Unlike other resources on product stewardship and EPR which tend to focus on the design or evaluation of public policy this book highlights the business case for action It argues that companies can achieve shared value both public and commercial value when they take a proactive and knowledge based approach to the life cycle management of their products Product Stewardship in Action focuses on product stewardship as an effective business strategy rather than a philanthropic exercise To be effective it needs to be based on a good understanding of product impacts and stakeholder concerns and the risks and opportunities that these present to the business The most effective responses will be those that address material issues in the product life cycle while supporting the achievement of other corporate goals and priorities Collections of United States Joint Publications Research Service Translations in the Social Sciences Emanating from Communist China United States.
