 Science fiction has evolved and diverged in many ways and moods When World Views Collide is the third and final volume in a history of the genre that began with Foundations of Science Fiction and continued in Great Themes of Science Fiction The conflicts in science fiction are conflicts about world views which Pierce defines as fundamental beliefs about the nature of man the universe and man s place in the universe Pierce presents each world view in science fiction on its own terms as expressed in the works of its partisans This final volume of the trilogy thus examines science fiction as a way of defining and delimiting humanity and human values which may well be the most important aspect of the genre today This unique and formidable study is based on a reading of much of the genre from its beginnings to its most recent publication Pierce traces relationships and erects a framework on which future scholars can build in their efforts to place the works and the fields in the totality of world literature Fans of science fiction those interested in the history and literary criticism of the genre and anyone interested in popular culture and literature and world literature will find When World Views Collide enlightening and thought provoking reading British Fantasy and Science-fiction Writers Since 1960 Darren Harris-Fain,2002 Essays on British writers of fantasy and science fiction discuss the changing attitudes towards this genre including serious consideration by critics Covers the publication of science fiction in comic books limited productions of publications by fan presses the difference between British and American science fiction the birth of the New Wave and the revival of horror fiction as a distinct genre An Informal History of the Hugos Jo Walton,2018-08-07 Engaged passionate and consistently entertaining An Informal History of the Hugos is a book about the renowned science fiction award for the many who enjoyed Jo Walton s previous collection of writing from Tor com the Locus Award winning What Makes This Book So Great The Hugo Awards named after pioneer science fiction publisher Hugo Gernsback and voted on by members of the World Science Fiction Society have been presented since 1953 They are widely considered the most prestigious awards in science fiction Between 2010 and 2013 Jo Walton wrote a series of posts for Tor com surveying the Hugo finalists and winners from the award s inception up to the year 2000 Her contention was that each year s full set of finalists generally tells a meaningful story about the state of science fiction at that time Walton s cheerfully opinionated and vastly well informed posts provoked valuable conversation among the field s historians Now these posts lightly revised have been gathered into this book along with a small selection of the comments posted by SF luminaries such as Rich Horton Gardner Dozois and David G Hartwell A remarkable guided tour through the field a kind of nonfiction companion to Among Others It s very good It s great New York Times bestselling author Cory Doctorow Being Boing on What Makes This Book So Great

Challenging Anthropocentrism in Eco-Science Fiction Novels Fatma Gamze Erkan,2024-01-03 This book explores the relationship between humanity and nature while challenging the notion that anthropocentric behaviour causes the environmental catastrophes depicted in the four selected British eco science fiction novels These novels are John Christopher's The Death of Grass 1956 J G Ballard's The Drought 1965 Brian Aldiss's Earthworks 1965 and John Brunner's The Sheep Look Up 1972 all of which fictionalise the fact that the consequences of environmental problems can be diverse but equally serious This book examines how even the smallest damage caused by human beings to the environment negatively affects them other living beings and the ecosystem they need to live and flourish In conjunction with these the factors and conditions that push characters in the novels to ignore and harm the environment are also scrutinised While examining how and why the environmental problems in the novels have arisen it is evaluated whether the authors propose solutions to these problems and if so what they are
