Hedda Morrisons Hong Kong:

Hong Kong as it was Edward Stokes, Hedda Morrison, 2009 In September 1946 when the photographer Hedda Morrison reached Hong Kong it remained little changed from decades earlier Acclaimed for her images of China taken in the 1930s and 1940s Hedda Morrison delighted in recording the patterns of everyday life Now captivated by Hong Kong and its people she embraced the colony's diversity For six months cameras in hand Morrison roamed its districts streets coasts and valleys Within years much of what Hedda Morrison witnessed in 1946-47 would be swept aside Yet when she was there Hong Kong life still had its old feel and traditions with fine colonial precincts tenement streets bustling markets itinerant hawkers fisherfolk and rice farmers In this book Morrison's telling images are complemented by Edward Stokes' essays portraying the postwar years Hedda Morrison's photographs are the work of a masterful artistic photographer However fewer than thirty of this book's photographs had been published before It was those images first sighted in a 1946 government report that led Edward Stokes to begin searching for Morrison's original negatives which later were discovered at the Harvard-Yenching Library Harvard University This is a unique record of a now vanished Hong Kong the most complete pictorial account of how the colony looked during the decades from the early 1930s to the 1950s Hedda Morrison's photographs will appeal to all who value documentary images and Asian history This new edition contains over three quarters of the photographs from Hedda Morrison's Hong Kong the original edition of this book published in 2005 The complete English text which has been widely praised accompanies the photographs Reviews of Hedda Morrison's Hong Kong appear below and on the back jacket

Hong Kong Michael Ingham, 2007-06-18 Hong Kong has always been something of an anomaly and an outpost of empire whether British or Chinese Once described as a barren island the former fishing community has been transformed by its own economic miracle into one of Asia's World Cities taking in its stride the territory's 1997 return to Chinese sovereignty Beneath the surface of Hong Kong's clichéd self image as Pearl of the Orient and Shopping Paradise Michael Ingham reveals a city rich in history myth and cultural diversity

Visualising China, 1845-1965, 2012-11-09 How does China project its image in the world Why and how has the world come to form certain impressions of the Chinese and their way of life These are issues that preoccupy Chinese citizens in the globalizing 21st century as they travel overseas riding on the capacity of the country's newly acquired economic power In Visualizing China the authors join forces to launch a broader inquiry aimed at a synergistic understanding of the larger story of visibility in modern China The essays cluster around several nodal points including photographs advertising posters and movies spanning from the 1840s to the 1960s and devote special attention to modern Chinese practices in the visualization of things Chinese

The Forbidden City Geremie Barmé, 2008 Barmé peels away the veneer of power secrecy inscrutability and passions of imperial China to provide a new and original history of the culture politics and architecture of the Forbidden City an extraordinary attraction which encapsulates much of the country's history Sunday Telegraph

Passport to Peking Patrick Wright, 2010-10-28 President Nixon's famous 1972 trip has gone down in history as the first great opening between the West and Communist China However eighteen years previously former prime minister Clement Attlee had also been to China to shake Chairman Mao by the hand In the second half of 1954 scores of European delegations set off for Beijing in response to Prime Minister Chou En lai's invitation to come and see the New China and celebrate the fifth anniversary of the Communist victory In this delightfully eclectic book part comedy part travelogue and part cultural history Patrick Wright uncovers the story of the four British delegations that made this journey These delegations included an amazing range of people from the political academic artistic and cultural worlds of the day Clement Attlee and his former Health Minister Nye Bevan dapper and self important philosopher A J Ayer the brilliant young artist reporter Paul Hogarth poet and novelist Rex Warner a former Marxist who had just married a Rothschild and the infuriatingly self obsessed Stanley Spencer who famously lectured Chou En lai on the merits of his hometown of Cookham but who emerges as the unlikely hero of the story Using a host of previously unpublished letters and diaries Patrick Wright reconstructs their journey via the USSR to the New China capturing the impressions both mistaken and genuinely insightful of the delegates as they ventured behind both the iron and the bamboo curtains Full of comic detail of the delegates and their interactions it is also a study of China as it has loomed in the British mind the primitive orient of early western philosophy a land of backwardness that was used to contrast with the progressive dynamism of Victorian Britain as well as the more recent allure of revolutionary transformation as it appeared in the minds of twentieth century Britons

Barmé, Geremie Barmé, 2011-06-01 The Forbidden City Zijing Cheng lying at the heart of Beijing formed the hub of the Celestial Empire for five centuries Over the past century it has led a reduced life as the refuge for a deposed emperor as well

The Daoist Tradition Louis Komjathy, 2013-06-20 Using a historical textual and ethnographic approach this is the most comprehensive presentation of Daoism to date. In addition to revealing the historical contours and primary concerns of Chinese Daoists and Daoist communities, The Daoist Tradition provides an account of key themes and defining characteristics of Daoist religiosity, revealing Daoism to be a living and lived religion. Exploring Daoism from a comparative religious studies perspective, this book gives the reader a deeper understanding of religious traditions more broadly. Beginning with an overview of Daoist history, The Daoist Tradition then covers key elements of Daoist worldviews and major Daoist practices. This is followed by a discussion of the importance of place and sacred sites as well as representative examples of material culture in Daoism. The work concludes with an overview of Daoism in the modern world. The book includes a historical timeline, a map of China, 25 images, a glossary, text boxes, suggested reading, and chapter overviews. A companion website provides both student and lecturer resources: <http://www.bloomsbury.com/the-daoist-tradition> 9781441168733

Barbarian Lens Regine Thiriez, 1998-10-20 Part of the prestigious academic book series Documenting the Image, this is a fascinating survey illustrated by extremely rare photographs of the burned architectural and landscape complex known as the Rape of the Summer Palace. In 1860, Western armies brought ruin to the treasured seat of the Qing emperors near Beijing. One hundred and fifty images have been collected to date as a support for an extensive study of the building of the palaces and their subsequent destruction. This book is a rigorous analysis of the work and experiences of the European photographers, both amateur and professional, working in Beijing during this period and as such becomes an account of the development of photography itself. Offering a fascinating glimpse into 19th Century China, the book gives an historical overview of the political situation.
