Heinrich Von Kleist An Interpretation:

Heinrich Von Kleist W. N. Brown, 1952 Heinrich Von Kleist John Martin Ellis, 1979 Ellis's book confronts directly the most central issue of Kleist criticism the essential nature and meaning of his work Rather than provide a general survey of Kleist's writings Ellis performs an analysis of six of his most mature works Der Findling Die Marquise von O Das Erdbeben in Chili Der Zweikampf Michael Kohlhaas and Prinz Friedrich von Homburg Ellis draws some general conclusions about the uniquely Kleistian character of these six works which are at sharp variance with previous Kleist criticism Heinrich Von Kleist: The Dramas and Stories Anthony Stephens, 1994-09-15 Heinrich von Kleist has emerged as one of the great literary figures of his era yet surprisingly few critical studies of his works exist in English This book by a distinguished authority on Kleist attempts to fill the gap by offering an up to date and challenging reading of his dramas and stories in the light of recent scholarship in German and other languages Musical Meaning and Interpretation Michael J. Puri, Jason Geary, Seth Monahan, 2025-03-28 This collection of essays brings together leading musicologists and music theorists working across a range of genres classical jazz and popular to offer fresh approaches to questions of meaning in music Rooted in humanistic values Musical Meaning and Interpretation combines rich analytical insights with critical perspectives on musical hermeneutics arguing collectively for the strength necessity and urgency of interpretive work in music Heinrich Von Kleist's Conception of the Tragic Walter Silz, 1923 Publications of the Modern Language Association of America Modern Language Association of America, 1895 Vols for 1921 1969 include annual bibliography called 1921 1955 American bibliography 1956 1963 Annual bibliography 1964 1968 MLA international bibliography Drive Toward Divinity Richard Carl Spuler, 1976 Gender and Narrativity R. Barry Rutland, 1997 It is impossible to imagine a community that is not divided into at least two gender groups It is equally impossible to imagine a community that does not tell or enact stories The relationship between these universal aspects of human culture is the mainspring of Gender and Narrativity From Genesis to Freud the Western narrative tradition tells the same old story of masculine dominance feminine subservience as a matter of divine will or natural truth Here nine Canadian scholars challenge and interpret this tradition in effect re telling the story of gender and themselves intervening in the narrative process Critical readings from a wide range of literary texts medieval and modern European and Canadian replace abstract theory in these studies while sociology anthropology psychoanalysis deconstruction and new history are the axes of discussion This book exemplifies the current range and diversity of Canadian critical writing Translation and Interpreting University of Hawaii at Manoa. College of Languages, Linguistics, and Literature, East-West Center, 1994-01-01 Translation and Interpreting in the 20th Century Wolfram Wilss, 1999-01-01 This book provides a historical survey of the unfolding of translation and interpreting language mediation in the 20th century with special reference to the German speaking area It is based first on extensive archive research in Austria Germany and Switzerland second on a large number of interviews with experts in the field of language mediation and third on the author's observations and experiences in the field of translation practice translation teaching and translation studies between 1950 1995 A specific feature of the book is the description of the social role of the language mediator through the prisms of communicative targets and technological developments and to determine his function as that of an indispensable bridge builder between the members of differing linguistic and cultural communities Historically it distinguishes between three main phases the period from 1900 to 1919 with the dominance of French as lingua franca in international communication the period from 1919 to 1945 which is characterized by English French bilingualism and the period from 1945 to approximately 1990 with its massive trend toward multilingualism and the development of language mediation into a translation industry The book continues with chapters on the implications of globalization specialization and automaticization for international communication and it closes with reflections on future prospects for the profession in a knowledge society both from a practical and a pedagogical viewpoint

The Mirror of Justice Theodore Ziolkowski, 2018-06-05 This book studies major works of literature from classical antiquity to the present that reflect crises in the evolution of Western law the move from a prelegal to a legal society in The Eumenides the Christianization of Germanic law in Njal s Saga the disenchantment with medieval customary law in Reynard the Fox the reception of Roman law in a variety of Renaissance texts the conflict between law and equity in Antigone and The Merchant of Venice the eighteenth century codification controversy in the works of Kleist the modern debate between pure and free law in Kafka s The Trial and other fin de si cle works and the effects of totalitarianism the theory of universal guilt and anarchism in the twentieth century Using principles from the anthropological theory of legal evolution the book locates the works in their legal contexts and traces through them the gradual dissociation over the centuries of law and morality It thereby associates and illuminates these masterpieces from an original point of view and contributes a new dimension to the study of literature and law In contrast to prevailing adherents of Law and Literature this book professes Literature and Law in which the emphasis is historical rather than theoretical substantive rather than rhetorical and literary rather than legal Instead of adducing the literary work to illustrate debates about modern law this book consults the history of law as an essential aid to the understanding of the literary text and its conflicts

Stylistics, Stylometry and Sentiment Analysis in German Studies Massimo Salgaro, 2023-04-17 Can literature be investigated through quantitative methods Can style empathy and prestige be measured This study attempts to respond to these questions by providing results from a selection of case studies taken from German literature of the 19th through the 21st century including Goethe s late style Felix Salten and the output of contemporary writers such as Florian Meimberg s twitterature and Daniel Glattauer s e mail novel Altogether this study shows how the interplay among literary theory stylometry stylistics sentiment analysis empirical studies and archival research can offer new answers to old questions regarding German literature and provide tools to formulate new questions and novel approaches to research

Music,

Madness, and the Unworking of Language John T Hamilton, 2013-05-14 John T Hamilton investigates how literary philosophical and psychological treatments of music and madness challenge the limits of representation thereby creating a crisis of language. He particularly focuses on the decidedly autobiographical impulse of the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries where musical experience and mental disturbance disrupt the expression of referential thought illuminating the irreducible aspects of the self before language can work them back into a discursive system. The study begins in the 1750s with Diderot's Neveu de Rameau and situates that text in relation to Rousseau's reflections on the voice and the burgeoning discipline of musical aesthetics. Hamilton then traces the linkage of music and madness that courses through the work of Herder, Hegel, Wackenroder, and Kleist before turning his attention to E. T. A. Hoffmann whose writings of the first decades of the nineteenth century accumulate and qualify preceding traditions. Throughout his analysis, Hamilton considers the particular representations that link music and madness, exploring underlying motives, preconceptions, and ideological premises that facilitate the association of these two experiences.

Crafting Flesh, Crafting the Self John B. Lyon, 2006 This book analyzes wounded human bodies in early nineteenth-century German literature and traces their connection to changing philosophical models of the self. It argues that literary representations and metaphors of violence against the body not only offer powerful physical referents for a concept of self but that they also define violence as an integral component of the self.

Borders of a Lip Jan Plug, 2012-02-01 This book recasts questions about the overlapping boundaries of language, history, and politics that have been at the center of critical and theoretical debates in the study of Romantic literature and thought. While poststructuralism and deconstruction have been accused of privileging language over history, the New Historicism and other historicist and cultural approaches to literature have attempted to restore history's place in the study of literature. Taking its title from a reading of the word Lippe in Kleist's Die Hermannsschlacht, Borders of a Lip is drawn to neither of these poles but instead to their meeting place or coincidence: the site of a border, a political or national boundary, even the boundary that is the political, the lip that is also the place of language. Through readings of Kant, Wordsworth, Kleist, Mary Shelley, Yeats, and Lyotard, the book examines the convergence of language and history that takes place in their work. Instead of placing language and history in absolute opposition, making the border an unbreachable limit, the book explores how crossing these borders redefines the political.
