bring together the stories of all of the remarkable men and women and all of the violent contrasts that made up one of the most enthralling chapters in American history Fisher a respected scholar and versatile creative writer devoted three years to the writing of this book     A Concordance to the Poems of Robert Browning Leslie Nathan Broughton, Benjamin Franklin Stelter, 1924     New York Times Saturday Review of Books and Art , 1970     Ghosts of the Fireground Peter M Leschak, 2018-11-27 In October 1871 a massive forest fire incinerated the town of Peshtigo Wisconsin It was the deadliest fire in North American history an event so intense that its release of energy was not approximated until the advent of thermo nuclear weapons At least 1 200 people perished some in bizarre and disturbing ways and the actual number of fatalities is unknown perhaps as many as 1 500 were lost Since the Great Chicago Fire occurred at the same time Peshtigo was overshadowed and almost forgotten In 2000 veteran wild land firefighter Peter Leschak was faced with a hot and challenging fire season tasked with the leadership of a helitack crew an airborne fire team expected to be the tip of the spear on wildfire initial attacks During that long summer he studied Father Peter Pernon s eyewitness account of the Pehstigo holocaust and using his knowledge and experience as a firefighter Leschak placed himself in Pernin s shoes as much as possible being transported to the firestorm of 1871 Ghosts of the Fireground tells both tales the horrific saga of Peshtigo and the modern battles of a wildfire helicopter crew seamlessly intertwining the stories to enhance them both     On Fire Larry Brown, 1994-01-01 The author of Joe recounts his experiences with the Oxford Mississippi fire department describing the tedium of waiting the shock of the alarm the horror of fires disaster and death and the delirium of saving lives 25 000 first printing 25 000 ad promo Tour     Fire Man John Meyers, 2015-11-16 Black and white photo version A finger of smoke from the fire seemed to eerily follow me down to the creek where I drafted water to refill tanker 1 81 s three hundred gallon tank It thickened and lay like a dirty cloud over the truck as I slowly maneuvered my way on an old logging road for about a half mile back to the fire In order to make it easier to get out in a hurry in case the whole thing blew up around us I turned the truck around in the middle of the road where there was a fire line scraped out by a cat that tied into the road I then backed up the cat trail about fifty yards to get to our hose line While performing this extraordinary feat of skill I managed to knock off the driver s side mirror With these words author John Meyers takes us on a twelve year journey following his career as a wildland firefighter and a city department fireman Generally firemen who fight wildland fires are called Firefighters and firefighters who fight city fires are called Firemen I m not sure what the difference is I ve done both and both are dangerous and the flames are just as hot and can burn you up in either environment At times the journey was exciting The Lieutenant and I were on one side of the truck with a live reel a rubber one inch hose on a reel that always stays charged with water and a couple of guys were on the other side of the truck with the other live reel The engineer was supposed to be watching both of us He wasn t He saw that the other guys got their part of the fire knocked down so he shut off the pump At times it was dangerous I looked at Popeye on one side of me and Cowboy on the other We didn t say anything but we joined the rest of the crew in lying down in the middle of the line we had made Maybe this was going to be the first time we deployed our turkey roasters but no word came about that either We just laid there as the fire came roaring right up to us And lots of times it was just plain humorous I made my way back down a heavily covered slope crashing noisily through the buck brush As I broke out on the road at the bottom of the hill a bear broke out about ten or fifteen yards to my left He had been crashing noisily down the same slope and neither one of us had heard the other We looked at each other with a great deal of surprise we both grunted and we both took off running in opposite directions Bear Human Aaaahhhhh John describes the danger and tragedy he faced at times and shares the joys of developing a comradeship with his fellow crewmen by taking you inside his experiences 28 glorious full black and white photographs included
