European Glass:

European Glass in the J. Paul Getty Museum Catherine Hess, Timothy Husband, 1998-02-19 The Getty Museum's collection of postclassical European glass represents a well defined chapter within the history of the medium. These objects, which range in date from the late Middle Ages to the late seventeenth century, originated in important Italian, German, Bohemian, Netherlandish, Silesian, and Austrian centers of production. The sixty-eight pieces presented in this catalogue include vessels made to resemble rock crystal or chalcedony glass blown into unusually large or remarkably refined shapes and glass decorated with ornament that is intricately applied, elegantly enameled, or gilded. Each object is described in detail, including provenance, bibliography, and relevant comparative examples. An introductory essay traces the history of European glass from classical times to the present.

Jerusalem, 1000-1400 Barbara Drake Boehm, Melanie Holcomb, 2016-09-14 Medieval Jerusalem was a vibrant international center home to multiple cultures, faiths, and languages. Harmonious and dissonant voices from many lands, including Persians, Turks, Greeks, Syrians, Armenians, Georgians, Copts, Ethiopians, Indians, and Europeans, passed in the narrow streets of a city not much larger than midtown Manhattan. Patrons, artists, pilgrims, poets, and scholars from Christian, Jewish, and Islamic traditions focused their attention on the Holy City, endowing and enriching its sacred buildings, creating luxury goods for its residents, and praising its merits. This artistic fertility was particularly in evidence between the eleventh and fourteenth centuries, notwithstanding often devastating circumstances from the earthquake of 1033 to the fierce battles of the Crusades. So strong a magnet was Jerusalem that it drew out the creative imagination of even those separated from it by great distance, from as far north as Scandinavia to as far east as present-day China. This publication is the first to define these four centuries as a singularly creative moment in a singularly complex city. Through absorbing essays and incisive discussions of nearly 200 works of art, Jerusalem 1000-1400: Every People Under Heaven explores not only the meaning of the city to its many faiths and its importance as a destination for tourists and pilgrims, but also the aesthetic strands that enhanced and enlivened the medieval city that served as the crossroads of the known world.

Chinese-Islamic Works of Art, 1644-1912 Emily Byrne Curtis, 2019-11-27 Chinese Islamic studies have concentrated thus far on the arts of earlier periods, with less attention paid to works from the Qing Dynasty, 1644-1912. This book focuses on works of Chinese Islamic art from the late seventeenth century to the present day and brings to the reader's attention several new areas for consideration. The book examines glass wares, which were probably made for a local Chinese Muslim clientele, illustrating a fascinating mixture of traditional Chinese and Muslim craft traditions. While the inscriptions on them can be related directly to the mosque lamps of the Arab world, their form and style of decoration is characteristically that of Han Chinese. Several contemporary Chinese Muslim artists have succeeded in developing a unique fusion of calligraphic styles from both cultures Other works examined include enamels porcelains and interior painted snuff bottles with emphasis on either those with Arabic inscriptions or on works by Chinese Muslim artists The book includes a chapter written by Dr Shelly Xue and an addendum written by Dr Riccardo Joppert This book will appeal to scholars working in art history religious studies Chinese studies Chinese history religious history and material culture
