European Migration What Do We Know:

European Migration Centre for Economic Policy Research (Great Britain), 2005 Preliminary versions of many of these papers were presented at the CEPR conference European migration what do we know held in Munich on November 14 15th 1997 Acknowledgements European Migration Klaus F. Zimmermann, 2023 Developed countries especially in Europe face a number of issues related to migration social and economic disruptions caused by the declining demand for unskilled labour and resulting unemployment a shortage of skilled labour in many professions increasing international competition for highly qualified human capital radical demographic changes and the expansion of the European Union However there is a growing impression that migration does serve less and less the needs of the labour market This suggests a stronger focus on economic channels of immigration for which the book provides a conceptual basis and the required empirical facts and institutional background

Legal Migration to the European Union Anja Wiesbrock, 2010-08-16 This book provides a comprehensive analysis of EU legislation in the area of legal migration Five Directives on family reunification long term residence students researchers and highly qualified migrants are critically assessed Moreover the implementation of the Directives in three Member States Germany the Netherlands and Sweden and national legislation in two Member States with an opt out from EU migration law the UK and Netherlands are assessed This includes national rules on the integration of third country nationals and access to citizenship The book calls into question the compliance of several European and national provisions with EU principles of law and international human rights

Postwar Migration in Southern Europe, 1950-2000 Alessandra Venturini, 2004-07-26 Managing migration promises to be one of the most difficult challenges of the twenty first century It will be even more difficult for south European countries from which emigration has levelled off and to which immigration has become a significant economic issue Southern Europe is close to other regions where the pressure to emigrate is intense these regions have a high level of unemployment above the European Union average and a large informal sector often 15 25 per cent of their economies as a whole This book analyses the southern European migration case using an economic approach It combines a theoretical and an empirical approach on the fundamental migration issues the decision to migrate effects on the country of departure and country of destination and the effectiveness of policies in managing migration It also explores the transformation due to migration of southern European countries in the 1980s and 1990s

South-North Migration of EU Citizens in Times of Crisis Jean-Michel Lafleur, Mikolaj Stanek, 2016-12-08 This open access book looks at the migration of Southern European EU citizens from Portugal Spain Italy Greece who move to Northern European Member States Belgium France Germany United Kingdom in response to the global economic crisis Its objective is twofold First it identifies the scale and nature of this new Southern European emigration and examines these migrants socio economic integration in Northern European destination countries This is achieved through an analysis of the most recent data on flows and profiles of this new labour force using sending country and receiving country databases Second it looks at the politics and policies of immigration both from the perspective of the sending and receiving countries. Analysing the policies and debates about these new flows in the home and host countries, this book shows how contentious the issue of intra EU mobility has recently become in the context of the crisis when the right for EU citizens to move within the EU had previously not been questioned for decades. Overall, the strength of this edited volume is that it compiles in a systematic way quantitative and qualitative analysis of these renewed Southern European migration flows and draws the lessons from this changing climate on EU migration.

Economic and Social Perspectives on European Migration Francesca Fauri, Debora Mantovani, Donatella Strangio, 2020-12-29. This book addresses a wide range of migration related issues in the European context and examines the socioeconomic consequences of migratory flows throughout Europe, focusing on a number of emblematic European countries. The book is divided into three parts. The first part deals with the tension between migrants and their integration processes in the receiving country, which is deeply influenced by the attitude of the local population and the different approach to highly and less skilled immigrants. The second part analyses the impact of migration on the economic structure of the receiving country, while the third part explores the varying degree of immigrants' socioeconomic integration in the country of destination. The book offers an essential interdisciplinary contribution to the issue of migration and provides readers with a better understanding of the effects that different forms of migration have had and will continue to exert on economic and social change in host countries. It also examines migration policy issues and builds on historical and empirical case studies with policy recommendations on labour market integration and welfare policy issues. The book is addressed to a wide audience, including researchers, academics, and students of economics, sociology, politics, and history, as well as government EU officials working on migration topics.

A Social History of Twentieth-Century Europe Béla Tomka, 2013-03-12. A Social History of Twentieth-Century Europe offers a systematic overview on major aspects of social life, including population, family, and households, social inequalities, and mobility, the welfare state, work, consumption, and leisure, social cleavages in politics, urbanization, as well as education, religion, and culture. It also addresses major debates and diverging interpretations of historical and social research regarding the history of European societies in the past one hundred years. Organized in ten thematic chapters, this book takes an interdisciplinary approach, making use of the methods and results of not only history but also sociology, demography, economics, and political science. Béla Tomka presents both the diversity and the commonalities of European societies, looking not just to Western European countries but Eastern, Central, and Southern European countries as well. A perfect introduction for all students of European history.

Central and East European Migrants' Contributions to Social Protection S. Maatsch, 2012-12-15. In 2001, Germany and Austria became the last EU states to lift transnational controls restricting access to their labour markets for citizens of ex-communist countries. This book challenges anti-immigration discourses to show that, given the high percentage of skilled immigrants, it is the sending rather than the receiving countries who lose out.

Migration Statecraft Kristof Tamas, 2024-06-05. Applying realist constructivist theory this innovative book investigates the migration development nexus in the European Union's approach to cooperation with its external partner countries. It explores the reasons why action in this field appears to be irrational and counterproductive and surveys contemporary political dialogues and funding.

Population Change in Europe, the Middle-East and North Africa Koenraad Matthijs, Karel Neels, Christiane Timmerman, Jacques Haers, 2016-12-05. Current demographic trends raise new questions, challenges and controversies. Comparing demographic trends in Europe and the NAME region (North Africa and the Middle East), this book demonstrates how population change interacts with changing economic landscapes, social distinctions and political realities. A variety of drivers contribute to demographic change in the various regions and countries considered, such as family policies, economic realities, the impact of educational differentials and the attitudes towards marriage. On the macro level, the new trends are restructuring the age composition of populations and are reshaping the life courses of individuals and families. In turn, the impact demographic forces have on the organisation of labour markets, on fiscal policies, on the care of the elderly, on migration flows and on political changes can be quite radical. Bridging the Gaps Martin Ruhs, Kristof Tamas, Joakim Palme, 2019-03-28. What is the use of research in public debates and policy making on immigration and integration? Why are there such large gaps between migration debates and migration realities and how can they be reduced? Bridging the Gaps: Linking Research to Public Debates and Policy Making on Migration and Integration provides a unique set of testimonies and analyses of these questions by researchers and policy experts who have been deeply involved in attempts to link social science research to public policies. Bridging the Gaps argues that we must go beyond the prevailing focus on the research-policy nexus by considering how the media, public opinion and other dimensions of public debates can interact with research and policy processes. The chapters provide theoretical analyses and personal assessments of the successes and failures of past efforts to link research to public debates and policy making on migration and integration in six different countries: Germany, the Netherlands, Norway, Sweden, the United Kingdom and the United States, as well as in European and global governance debates. Contrary to common public perceptions and political demands, Bridging the Gaps argues that all actors contributing to research, public debates and policy making should recognize that migration, integration and related decision making are highly complex issues and that there are no quick fixes to what are often enduring policy dilemmas. When the different actors understand and appreciate each other's primary aims and constraints, such common understandings can pave the way for improved policy making processes and better public policies that deal more effectively with the real challenges of migration and integration.

The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe Rita Chin, 2019-06-11. From the influx of immigrants in the 1950s to contemporary worries about refugees and terrorism, The Crisis of Multiculturalism in Europe examines the historical development of multiculturalism on the Continent Rita Chin argues that there were few efforts to institute state sponsored policies of multiculturalism and those that emerged were pronounced failures virtually from their inception She shows that today's crisis of support for cultural pluralism isn't new but actually has its roots in the 1980s Chin looks at the touchstones of European multiculturalism from the urgent need for laborers after World War II to the public furor over the publication of The Satanic Verses and the question of French girls wearing headscarves to school While many Muslim immigrants had lived in Europe for decades in the 1980s they came to be defined by their religion and the public's preoccupation with gender relations Acceptance of sexual equality became the critical gauge of Muslims' compatibility with Western values The convergence of left and right around the defense of such personal freedoms against a putatively illiberal Islam has threatened to undermine commitment to pluralism as a core ideal Chin contends that renouncing the principles of diversity brings social costs particularly for the left and she considers how Europe might construct an effective political engagement with its varied population Publisher web site Ethnic Diversity in European Labor Markets Martin Kahanec, Klaus F. Zimmermann, 2011-01-01 This highly accessible book illustrates how policy makers can address and nurture the effects of growing ethnic diversity in European labor markets The contributors present an unprecedented large scale study on ethnic diversity in European labor markets via a combination of hard data analysis with expert evaluation of integration practices and policy options Key questions explored include Does ethnic diversity in European labor markets lead to poor socio economic outcomes for some ethnic groups in the face of fierce competition for jobs and welfare Can labor immigration and improved integration of all ethnic groups provide a solution to the challenges posed by a shrinking population an aging workforce skill shortages and other bottlenecks that constrain the innovative potential of the EU What can policy makers do to nurture and encourage the benefits of ethnic diversity in the EU Economic Migration to the EU Great Britain: Parliament: House of Lords: European Union Committee, 2005-11-16 The European Commission published a Green Paper An EU approach to managing economic migration in January 2005 setting out proposals for a common EU policy for the admission of immigrants for employment and migrant workers' rights In light of this consultation paper the Committee's report examines the issue of economic migration to the EU and the level at which it should be regulated and discusses whether Member States should retain the freedom to decide on issues of economic migration independently of each other The report is mostly concerned with migration into the EU but also looks at some aspects of intra EU movement it does not consider illegal immigration or asylum issues Issues discussed include wider economic issues the impact of globalisation EU enlargement options for control of migrant workers the UK's position on the Commission's Green Paper the case for a common EU policy and the rights of migrant workers OECD Economic Surveys: Greece 2005 OECD, 2005-09-06 This 2005 edition of OECD's periodic survey of Greece's economy examines two key challenges the need for sustained fiscal consolidation and closing the income gap with the European Union After an examination of major economic trends the Survey     Handbook on Migration and Ageing Sandra Torres,Alistair Hunter,2023-07-01 This comprehensive Handbook explores the fundamental concepts surrounding the ageing migration nexus It is indispensable reading presenting interdisciplinary research to investigate the unique experiences of older migrants migrant eldercare workers and older people left behind     Immigration Policy and the Labor Market Klaus F. Zimmermann,Holger Bonin,René Fahr,Holger Hinte,2007-03-21 This book examines the history of German immigration policy It analyzes the country's future demand for immigration Coverage develops an economic model for the effective selection and integration of labor migrants that could provide the foundation for a joint European immigration strategy     Migration and Multi-ethnic Communities Maija Ojala-Fulwood,2018-02-19 This book aims to shed light on a global and complex phenomenon migration In order to grasp this vast and ambiguous issue the book offers ten multi-layered case studies each focussing on one aspect of migration With this selection of articles this collected volume builds a bridge between the past and the present and highlights the many sides of migration The chapters will demonstrate how the questions of controlled migration movement of labour improvement of one's life and interaction of people of different origin have puzzled us in the course of the last five hundred years     Narratives of Immigration in the EU Mihaela Iorga,2025-08-03 This book examines the representation of migrants and the European Union EU in the Romanian and British press adopting a Critical Discourse Analysis approach to analyse a corpus of newspaper articles published between 1st January 2006 and 31st December 2018 The analysis reveals that through conceptual metaphors migrants were likened to objects ships illegal goods waves flows liquids invaders enemies and threats The key themes identified in the analysis are the quantification and the otherisation of migrants as well as their portrayal as economic burdens or invaders in their destination countries With regard to the EU the author explores how both countries' memberships have followed different trajectories than those of other member states ever since their accession to the EU bloc The novelty of this research lies in the diachronic comparison of the representations of migrants and the European Union in Romania a country characterised by emigration versus the United Kingdom a country characterised by immigration This volume will be of interest to academics and students concerned with issues to do with migration and the EU including those in fields such as political communication migration policy sociology of migration and the language of media     Structural Unemployment in Western Europe Martin Werding,2006 Leading international economists examine the different patterns and long term trends behind persistent unemployment across Western Europe in light of recent developments in labor market theory Structural unemployment or persistently high levels of unemployment that do not follow the ups and downs of a typical business cycle varies significantly across industrialized countries In this CESifo volume leading labor economists analyze the widely diverging patterns of long term unemployment across Western Europe Drawing on recent developments in labor market theory and macroeconomics to explain the emergence and persistence of unemployment the studies look for fundamental explanations and common patterns that might lead to policy solutions The two opening chapters offer overviews of the problem European labor market expert Stephen Nickell highlights the unemployment situation in the Big Four continental European states of France Germany Italy and Spain and American economist Edmund S Phelps focuses on new theoretical approaches that examine institutional factors influencing unemployment in a given country Following these introductory essays prominent economists consider the experiences of their home countries in chapters on Denmark Sweden the Netherlands Finland Ireland the United Kingdom France Germany Italy and Spain By taking advantage of the richness of research conducted at a national level and making the work accessible to an international audience this volume contributes to a new understanding of structural unemployment and how it can be overcome through labor market reforms and other economic policy measures Contributors Torben Andersen Samuel Bentolila Norbert Berthold Guiseppe Bertola Rainer Fehn Pietro Garibaldi Bertil Holmlund Juan F Jimeno Erkki Koskela Stephen J Nickell Jan C van Ours Edmund S Phelps Jean Pisany Ferry Christopher Pissarides Roope Uusitalo Brendan Walsh Martin Werdning
