European Towns Maurice Willmore Barley, Council for British Archaeology, 1977 Papers presented at a conference on European towns held at Oxford 1975 At Europe's Borders: Medieval Towns in the Romanian Principalities

Laurentiu Radvan, 2010-01-28 This ambitious work focuses on the emergence and the development of medieval towns in the two Romanian principalities of South Eastern Europe Wallachia and Moldavia from their earliest days in the 13th century up to the 16th It is the only work of its kind in English but at the same time the first in the field seeking to identify and substantiate common elements between towns in this area of Europe It also covers Poland Hungary and the lands south of the Danube By relying both on various written sources and on archeological finds the author addresses several controversial issues starting from the particulars of urbanization through an analysis of local institutions of urban society and economy and concluding with thorough case studies The result is a book which shows that medieval towns in the Romanian Principalities despite being on the outskirts of Europe were nevertheless part of it Towns and their Territories Between Late Antiquity and the Early Middle Ages Brogiolo, N. Society John Blair, 2005-01-20 From the impact of the first monasteries in the seventh century to the emergence of the local parochial system five hundred years later the Church was a force for change in Anglo Saxon society It shaped culture and ideas social and economic behaviour and the organization of landscape and settlement This book traces how the widespread foundation of monastic sites minsters during c 670 730 gave the recently pagan English new ways of living of exploiting their resources and of absorbing European culture as well as opening new spiritual and intellectual horizons Through the era of Viking wars and the tenth century reconstruction of political and economic life the minsters gradually lost their wealth their independence and their role as sites of high culture but grew in stature as foci of local society and eventually towns After 950 with the increasing prominence of manors manor houses and village communities a new and much larger category of small churches were founded endowed and rebuilt the parish churches of the emergent eleventh and twelfth century local parochial system In this innovative study John Blair brings together written topographical and archaeological evidence to build a multi dimensional picture of what local churches and local communities meant to each other in early England
