Countries' Strategies towards the European Union in an Inter-regionalist Context Wai Ting Michito Tsuruoka Si Hong Kim, 2015-02-09 This is the first book on Asian countries strategies towards the EU Since the introduction of Common Foreign and Security Policy in 1993 and the publication of the EU s first strategic document on Asia one year later hundreds of books and journal articles have been dedicated to the study of the EU policies towards Asia as a whole or to individual Asian countries However very few of these researchers ever intended to explore the strategies of Asian countries and Asian leaders mindsets vis vis the EU Quite often the policies of Asian countries towards the EU were simply interpreted as responses to the EU's actions in Asia. Having been passive players for decades, Asian countries are now increasingly willing to participate in the formulation of regional and global orders for which they need to articulate their own strategies and the world needs to better understand their mindsets. In the past two years, in the framework of EU Centres in Asia Pacific, some top Asian scholars on EU-Asian relations were brought together to debate the strategies of individual Asian countries towards the EU and evaluate the EU's actions in the region. In their eyes, the EU was interpreted as a normative power, a security player, a civilian promoter and a health care supplier. Together, they aimed to establish some common rules for explaining Asian countries' strategies towards the EU after an in-depth study of the actions of individual countries in their bilateral relations with the EU. This book is therefore indispensable to any efforts to understand Asian leaders' mindset in the EU-Asian relations and their strategies towards the EU in the twenty-first century.

The European Union in the Asia-Pacific Weiqing Song, Jianwei Wang, 2019-02-20. Since the mid-1990s, the European Union has defined the Asia Pacific as one of its key strategic targets on its ambitious road towards a global power. Over the past decades, big changes have taken place on both sides and the wider world. It's high time to evaluate the EU's performance in its Asian policy. In fact, the EU is at crossroads with its Asia Pacific policy. On several aspects, the EU is compelled to redefine its interests and roles and rethink its strategies and policies towards the dynamic and ever-important Asia Pacific region. This volume addresses this theme by elaborating the general context, major issues and countries in the EU's Asia Pacific policy. It covers issue areas of traditional security, economy and trade, public diplomacy and human security and focuses on the EU's relations with China, Japan, the ASEAN countries and Australasia.

The EU Through the Eyes of Asia Natalia Chaban, Martin Holland, Peter Ryan, 2009. Provides an analysis of the external relations and the European Union's EU identity in Vietnam, Indonesia and the Philippines. This work allows readers to gauge the EU's identity across three levels: media analysis, public opinion survey and key stakeholder interview.

Eu Through The Eyes Of Asia, The - Volume Ii: New Cases, New Findings Martin Holland, Peter Ryan, Natalia Chaban, 2009-10-19. Asia and Europe have become increasingly interconnected over the last few decades; this growth in mutual interest is due largely to their economic, political, cultural and historical ties to one another. Due to the deepening relationship between the two regions, it seems natural to ask: How is the European Union perceived in Asia? This question has become very relevant to Asia-Europe relations, especially as the EU is the most significant economic partner for many Asian countries while at the same time emerging as an increasingly prominent political and security dialogue partner for the region. This second volume offers a new and reliable insight into the perception of the EU in Asia. In 2006, the Asia Europe Foundation and National Centre for Research on Europe, University of Canterbury, created the European Studies in Asia (ESiA) Network and initiated the EU through the Eyes of Asia survey. This unprecedented comparative study looks at the attitudes and citizens' perceptions of the EU in Asia and by 2009 has been undertaken in 12 research sites throughout Asia. In each locality, the project systematically assessed daily representations of the EU in reputable local news media as well as the EU's imagery among the general public and the EU's vision among the national stakeholders and opinion leaders. Presenting the findings of this project, this book provides a systematic and detailed empirical insight into EU visibility in the public discourses of three Southeast Asian countries: Vietnam, Indonesia, and the Philippines, the so-called VIP. The data and analyses in this work cover 2008 and the first half of 2009 and it compares the findings with those published in Volume I which examined the perceptions of the EU in China, Japan, Singapore, South Korea, and Thailand. EU through the Eyes of Asia is indispensable to policy makers and opinion leaders in the Asian and European milieux, putting forward vital recommendations to the EU, Asian governments, the media, and those managing relations between the two regions.

The Role of the European Union in Asia Juha Jokela, 2016-02-24. Establishing strategic partnerships is a key objective for the European Union. These partnerships provide frameworks for flexible and long-term cooperation with global and regional players. This book focuses on the EU's strategy toward China and India and explores ways of promoting a stronger and more versatile role for the EU in Asia. The volume examines the emergence of China and India as global powers and the implications for the EU's common policies and strategies. It focuses on the role of the EU within Asia in terms of its political security-related and cultural impact, in addition to economic presence, and it explores the interplay of the EU, China, and India in global governance and in utilizing and promoting multilateralism, especially in the context of climate change and energy security. The contributors discuss avenues for the EU to pursue its interests in Asia and to achieve its objectives in global governance and multilateralism through partnerships with China and India while retaining its special relationship with the United States.

The European Union and East Asia Christopher M. Dent, 1999. This text analyses the economic relationship that has evolved between the European Union and East Asia and its future prospects, especially in the wake of the financial crisis that shook East Asia.

EU-ASEAN Relations in the 21st Century D. Novotny, C. Portela, 2012-10-17. Escaping the economic and security-centered approaches prevalent in contemporary U.S. debate, the contributors explore political relations between the European Union, EU, and Association of Southeast Asian Nations (ASEAN). Their interdisciplinary perspectives touch on domains such as security, comparative integration, human rights, energy.

China, East Asia and the European Union, 2016-11-21. In China, East Asia, and the European Union, specialist authors from both Europe and Asia reflect on the dynamic relationship between the three actors from an International Relations perspective. The book is a testimony to China's seemingly unstoppable rise both in the East Asian region and in the relationship with the EU and its member states. The authors investigate why the economic links between the European Union and East Asia have become so firmly established while, in comparison, the political bond has remained underdeveloped. They conclude that the crises the EU is currently facing seriously affect its manoeuvring space vis-à-vis China and its neighbours, both economically and politically. Asia and Europe in the 21st Century Rahul Mishra,Azirah Hashim,Anthony Milner,2021-05-25 How are the rising mutual concerns of Asian and European countries shaping their approaches to the international order Contributors to this volume discuss emerging critical issues in International relations including the Indo Pacific constructs China s Belt and Road Initiative BRI and the progress of established regional security mechanisms like the Shanghai Cooperation Organisation They also compare western and non western approaches to these issues with a holistic perspective on the origins and evolutions of these approaches Both the Indo Pacific constructs and BRI present a remarkable set of opportunities for Europe as well as Asia This book presents key implications of the changing politico security dynamics in the two regions from the perspectives of both Asian and European scholars and theoretical traditions A must read for scholars of International Relations with a focus on relations between Asia and Europe The European Union's Influence in Central Asia Olga Alinda Spaiser,2018-03-12 Unknown yet highly strategic Central Asia attracts the interest of major global powers due to its vast energy resources and crucial geographic position Russia China and the European Union view this region as an indispensable springboard to enhance their political and economic influence on the Eurasian landmass Thus facing strong competition and working on low budget the EU is attempting to establish itself as a relevant and influential actor in an environment in which its leadership role is far from certain Unlike in other post communist regions the EU is not able to rely on the attractiveness of its political models and risks being marginalized by other global powers The crucial question then is How does the EU exert influence in such a challenging geopolitical context Which strategies does the EU apply to be an actor who counts Through an analysis of the EU s discourse instruments and the reception of its policies in Central Asia this study argues that the EU consciously takes the position of a second tier actor who acts as a consultant and projects a picture of itself as an honest broker with no geopolitical agenda The EU s influence is confined to niche domains in the security sphere that are nevertheless important for the regional security The EU is not a great power in the region nor is it willing to become one It does however have comparative advantages in being perceived as inoffensive and for occupying areas that are neglected by the other actors such as governance and water security
