Evangelical Catholics:

The Lion and the Lamb William M. Shea, 2004-03-04 One of the most intriguing questions in contemporary American Christianity is whether the recent warming of relations between Catholics and conservative evangelicals promises a thaw in the ice age that has lasted since the sixteenth century American evangelical Protestants and Roman Catholics have hated and suspected one another since colonial times In the twentieth century however each community has experienced radical change and this has led to a change in the relationship between the two In this book William Shea examines the history of this troubled relationship and the signs of potential reconciliation His springboard is the recent publicity given to the 1993 document Evangelicals and Catholics Together in which several well known figures from each camp acting as individuals signed a statement affirming much more common theological and social ground than any other American Catholic evangelical group had ever done Looking back Shea surveys the long and very bitter history of published recriminations that have flown back and forth between Catholics and many kinds of Protestants since the 16th century He makes the case that Catholics and conservative Protestants reacted along parallel lines to western modernity especially naturalistic evolution and higher criticism of the Bible That deeper history leads him to the more recent history that has partially overcome the severe Catholic evangelical antagonisms Here he focuses on the rise of neo evangelicals associated with Billy Graham and the National Association of Evangelicals and on the changes with the Catholic church since Vatican II He goes on to offer systematic interpretations of recent evangelical literature on Catholics and Catholic literature on evangelicals The book ends with some historical but also theological social and personal conclusions This accessible groundbreaking and timely study will be indispensable reading for all interested in the religious landscape of America today

Catholics and Evangelicals Thomas P. Rausch, 2000 A report on the new dialogue growing up between Catholics and Protestant evangelicals with an honest summary of issues that still divide them

Evangelical Exodus Douglas Beaumont, 2016-01-06 Over the course a single decade dozens of students alumni and professors from a conservative Evangelical seminary in North Carolina Southern Evangelical Seminary converted to Catholicism These conversions were notable as they occurred among people with varied backgrounds and motivations many of whom did not share their thoughts with one another until this book was produced Even more striking is that the seminary's founder long time president and popular professor Dr Norman Geisler had written two full length books and several scholarly articles criticizing Catholicism from an Evangelical point of view What could have led these seminary students and even some of their professors to walk away from their Evangelical education and risk losing their jobs ministries and even family and friends to embrace the teachings they once rejected as false or even heretical Speculation over this phenomenon has been rampant and often dismissive and misguided leading to more confusion than understanding The stories of these converts are now being told by those who know them best the converts themselves They discuss the primary issues they had to face the nature of the biblical canon the identification of Christian orthodoxy and the problems with the Protestant doctrines of sola scriptura scripture alone and sola fide faith alone The New Evangelical Subordinationism? Dennis W. House,2012-08-16 Whether and in what sense the Son of God might eternally submit to his Father s will is a question that has ignited a firestorm of controversy in today s evangelical academy On one side stand those who regard the affirmation of any inequality whatsoever in the Godhead as a revival of ancient subordinationism On the other stand persons who consider the Son functionally subordinate to the Father even within the immanent Trinity without respect to the Incarnation and regard their belief as integral to historic orthodoxy Many evangelicals moreover view the issue of subordination within the Trinity as pivotal to contemporary disputes about the role of women in church home and state If the relations of the divine persons constitute a paradigm for human life persons on all sides of the gender question argue human relations ought to reflect either the divine persons exceptionless equality or their orderly differentiation of roles At the same time others consider the issues of equality in the Trinity and gender relations irrelevant to each other and accuse both complementarians and evangelical feminists of degrading the doctrine of the Trinity into a partisan weapon The New Evangelical Subordinationism gathers commentary on evangelical debates about equality and subordination in the Trinity from representatives of the gamut of perspectives just mentioned Here evangelical theologians biblical scholars and church historians of widely differing theological orientations address themselves to the panoply of questions raised by these debates This volume unprecedented in the breadth and depth of its coverage of the controversy over subordination in the Trinity should become a standard source for teaching and research on its subject Evangelical Catholicism George

Evangelicalism and National Identity in Ulster, 1921-1998 Patrick Mitchel, 2003-10-30 Evangelical Protestantism in Ulster is the most influential and historically significant sector of Christianity in Northern Ireland This innovative and controversial book explores different Evangelical responses to the declining fate of Ulster Unionism during the period from Partition in 1921 to the 1998 Good Friday Agreement Focusing on how religious belief has interacted with national identity in a context of political conflict it eschews a reductionist or purely historical approach to interpreting religion Rather using a combination of historical and theological material Patrick Mitchel offers a critical assessment of how Evangelical identities in Ulster have embodied the religious beliefs and values to which they subscribe Evangelical Protestantism is often associated only with the Orange Order and with the controversial figure of Ian Paisley This book's fresh analysis of a spectrum of Evangelical opinion including the frequently overlooked moderate Evangelicals provides a more rounded picture that shows why and how Evangelical Christians in Ulster are deeply divided over politics national identity and the current Peace Process Patrick Mitchel concludes with a critical assessment of the political and theological challenges facing different Evangelical identities in the context of identity conflict in Northern Ireland This is an invaluable guide to understanding both the past and contemporary mindset of Ulster Protestantism

A Catholic Modernity? James L. Heft, 1999-09-30 This book offers a series of reflections on the state of Christianity and especially Catholicism in the world today The centerpiece of the volume is a lecture by the renowned philosopher Charles Taylor from which the title of the book is taken The lecture delivered at Dayton University in January of 1996 offered Taylor the opportunity to speak about the religious dimensions of his intellectual commitment dimensions left implicit in his philosophical writing In fact this is the only place where Taylor a Roman Catholic spells out his theological views and his sense of the cultural placement of Catholicism its history and trajectory He uses the occasion to argue against the common claim that obstacles to religious belief in modern culture are epistemic that they have to do with the triumph of the scientific worldview The real obstacles says Taylor are moral and spiritual having to do with the historic failures of religious institutions Four well known commentators on religion and society two Protestant two Catholic were invited to respond to Taylor's lecture William M Shea George Marsden Jean Bethke Elshtain and Rosemary Luling Haughton Their chapters offer a variety of astute reflections on the tensions between religion and modernity and in particular on the role that Catholicism can and should play in contemporary society The volume concludes with Taylor's perceptive and thoughtful response to his interlocutors A Catholic Modernity provides one of the most thoughtful conversations to date about the place of the Catholic Church in the modern world and more generally about Mattison III,2005-06-03 The growing shift in Catholic moral theology from reflecting on rules alone to focusing on the identity and formation of persons as moral agents prompts a further question What impact do recent changes in the identity and formation of Catholic moral theologians themselves have on how that discipline is practiced Young Catholic moral theologians experience a sharply different professional formation and a changed location of ongoing professional life than prior generations of moral theologians How do these differences influence the field of moral theology as a whole New Wine New Wineskins A Next Generation Reflects on Key Issues in Catholic Moral Theology addresses these questions and more by offering a snapshot of how a new generation of Catholic moral theologians understands not only topics in the field but the effects of their own identity and formation on their treatment of those topics The distinctive contribution of this volume is the interweaving of three key concerns all of which arise out of a critical self reflection on the task of moral theology today the character and adequacy of training and ongoing formation in the field of Catholic moral theology the purpose and nature of teaching Catholic moral theology and the fittingness of methodological debates with regard to the needs of the Christian life Each essay makes a contribution to its specific area of interest ranging from economic ethics to Patristic rhetoric to the nature and development of practical reasoning while probing what exactly young Catholic moral theologians are doing and how they can do what they do better Roman Catholics and Evangelicals Norman L.
