Evenings At Five:

Evenings at Five Gail Godwin, 2003-04-01 Every evening at five o'clock Christina and Rudy stopped work and began the ritual commonly known as Happy Hour Rudy mixed Christina's drink with loving precision the cavalier slosh of Bombay Sapphire over ice shards before settling across from her in his Stickley chair with his glass of Scotch They shared a love of language and music she is an author he a composer after all a delight in intense conversation a fascination with popes and nearly thirty years of life together What did I think that we had forever muses Christina seven months after Rudy's unexpected death While coming to terms with her loss with the space that Rudy once inhabited Christina reflects on their vibrant bond with all its quirks habits and unguarded moments as well as her passionate sorrow and her attempts to reposition herself and her new place in the very real world they shared In this literary jewel a bittersweet novella of absence and presence and the mysterious gap between them Gail Godwin has performed a small miracle In essence Evenings at Five is a grief sonata for solo instrument transposed into words Interwoven with meditations and movements full of aching truths and a wicked sense of humor it exquisitely captures the cyclical nature of commitment and the eternal quality of a romance completed Fishery Bulletin, 1971 Annual Report of the Bureau of Statistics of Labor and Industries of New Jersey, for the Year Ending ... New Jersey.
