[Continued as] The Christian monthly and family treasury rev Andrew Cameron,1861 Emilie Davis's Civil War Judith Giesberg,2016-06-08 Emilie Davis was a free African American woman who lived in Philadelphia during the Civil War She worked as a seamstress attended the Institute for Colored Youth and was an active member of her community She lived an average life in her day but what sets her apart is that she kept a diary Her daily entries from 1863 to 1865 touch on the momentous and the mundane she discusses her own and her community s reactions to events of the war such as the Battle of Gettysburg the Emancipation Proclamation and the assassination of President Lincoln as well as the minutiae of social life in Philadelphia s black community Her diaries allow the reader to experience the Civil War in real time and are a counterpoint to more widely known diaries of the period Judith Giesberg has written an accessible introduction situating Davis and her diaries within the historical cultural and political context of wartime Philadelphia In addition to furnishing a new window through which to view the war s major events Davis s diaries give us a rare look at how the war was experienced as a part of everyday life how its dramatic turns and lulls and its pervasive agonizing uncertainty affected a northern city with a vibrant black community Re-envisioning the Everyday John Fagg,2023-09-22 Often seen as backward looking and convention bound genre painting representing scenes of everyday life was central to the work of twentieth century artists such as John Sloan Norman Rockwell Jacob Lawrence who adapted such subjects to an era of rapid urbanization mass media and modernist art Re-envisioning the Everyday asks what their works do to the tradition of genre painting and whether it remains a meaningful category through which to understand them Working with and against the established narrative of American genre painting s late nineteenth century decline into obsolescence John Fagg explores how artists and illustrators used elements of the tradition to picture everyday life in a rapidly changing society whether by appealing to its nostalgic and historical connotations or by updating it to address new formal and thematic concerns Fagg argues that genre painting enabled twentieth century artists to look slowly and carefully at scenes of everyday life and on some occasions to understand those scenes as sites of political oppression and resistance But it also limited them to anachronistic ways of seeing and tied them to a freighted history of stereotyping and condescension By surveying genre painting when its status and relevance

were uncertain and by looking at works that stretch and complicate its boundaries this book considers what the form is and probes the wider practice of generic categorization It will appeal to students and scholars of American art history art criticism and cultural studies The Sunday-school World ,1867 All the Year Round ,1868 All the Year Round was a weekly Victorian journal specializing in literature published throughout the United Kingdom All the Year Round was created and edited by Charles Dickens and featured many of his famous novels including A Tale of Two Cities as well as other Victorian literary achievements This particular installment is from December 14 1867 to June 6 1868 and includes No 451 to No 476 Good Housekeeping Magazine ,1889 Christian Advocate and Journal and Zion's Herald ,1911
