Serious Fun Ruth Yamamoto, 2016-11-09 The importance of play and fun to people's lives cannot be stressed enough in today's cultural climate of high stress, high stakes and competition. One activity that gains recognition and credibility as both fun and transformative is theatrical improvisation or improv. In this book, Ruth Yamamoto reviews her research on the influences of improvisation on community college students. Educators, theatre artists, improvisers or anyone interested in building community, developing self-awareness and affecting positive social change will want to read this book. Dr. Yamamoto examines the principles of improvisation and the concepts of play and flow to add credibility to a craft and practice that is often viewed as frivolous and silly. Ruth Yamamoto extends her research through interviews with applied improvisation professionals, examples and suggestions of games and exercises, and provides solid evidence of the serious positive benefits of improvisation. National Environmental Policy Act Processes Across Federal Land Management Agencies Marc J. Stern, 2010-10 Broad discretion is granted at all levels throughout federal land management agencies regarding compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA). The authors explored the diversity of procedures employed in NEPA processes across four agencies: the Forest Service, the National Park Service, the Bureau of Land Management, and the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers. There is a lack of consistency not only between but also within agencies with regard to how NEPA is implemented. This report focuses on how successful NEPA processes are defined within each agency and what strategies are the most or least beneficial to positive NEPA outcomes. Also identifies unresolved questions about NEPA processes and presents a research strategy for addressing them. Prepared by Gloria Cordes Larson, 2017-08-08 How can we as parents, educators and members of the business community prepare students to be successful leaders in today's global environment. It's a critically important question. Gloria Cordes Larson, president of Bentley University, explains why today's practices in higher education are inadequate preparation for our rapidly evolving innovation economy. Instead, she passionately advocates for a hybrid learning model that integrates business education with traditional liberal arts courses. Today's businesses demand a new kind of hybrid graduate possessed of both hard and soft skills with the courage to take risks, the creativity to innovate, and the savvy to excel in a turbulent competitive climate. This book is a valuable resource for participants in every learning community: our homes, schools, and businesses. It will change the way you think about what excellence in education means in today's business environment as you develop strategies that will move our children, students, and future employees forward in a rapidly changing and very challenging world. Prepared with that training and knowledge, they will find greater fulfillment and make their own mark on the future. Vick's Magazine, 1906 Everyone Worth Knowing Lauren Weisberger, 2006-05-02

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN A GIRL ON THE FRINGE ENTERS THE REALM OF NEW YORK'S CHIC PARTY HOPPING ELITE
Soon after Bette Robinson quits her horrendous Manhattan banking job like the impulsive girl she's never been, the novelty of walking her four-pound dog around her unglamorous Murray Hill neighborhood wears as thin as the What are you going to do with your life phone calls from her parents. Then Bette meets Kelly, head of Manhattan's hottest PR firm, and suddenly she has a brand new job where the primary requirement is to see and be seen inside the VIP rooms of the city's most exclusive nightclubs. But when Bette begins appearing in a vicious new gossip column, she realizes that the line between her personal and professional life is invisible. The Granite Cutters' Journal, 1916 Principles of tax policy Great Britain: Parliament: House of Commons: Treasury Committee, 2011-03-15 The Treasury Committee welcomes the Government's commitment to a new approach to tax policy making designed to support its ambition for a more predictable, stable, and simple system. But the Government has not done enough to set out the principles underlying that policy. The Committee attempts to identify these principles and considers how tax policy can best support growth. A tax system which is theoretically structured to promote growth will not succeed if businesses are faced with constant change or if the inefficiency of collection outweighs any benefits. The report warns that a tax system which is felt to be fundamentally unfair will quickly lose political support. It also notes that the scope for tax arbitrage has grown substantially over the last quarter of a century and globalisation is likely to increase it further. A tax system which is not competitive by international standards will not support growth. Competitiveness is also not a simple matter of tax rates, although they have a bearing, but of the stability of the system as a whole. The report recommends that tax policy should be measured by reference to the following principles: Tax policy should be fair, support growth, and encourage competition; provide certainty; provide stability; be practicable so that a person's tax liability should be easy to calculate and straightforward and cheap to collect; be coherent; new provisions should complement the existing tax system, not conflict with it.
