Everybody's Business Milton Moskowitz, Michael Katz, Robert Levering, 1982 Everybody's Business Almanac Milton Everybody's business Milton Moskowitz,1990 The Army Almanac Armed Forces Information Moskowitz,1982-01-01 The World Almanac and Book of Facts ,1914 Lists news events population figures and miscellaneous School (U.S.),1950 data of an historic economic scientific and social nature Everybody's Business ,1946 We Need a Department of Peace: Everybody's Business, Nobody's Job William L. Benzon, 2016-07-12 With the prospect of a never ending war on terror before us the need for a Department of Peace in the federal government has never been more urgent Bills for establishing one have been introduced to Congress throughout the twentieth century until today The authors of this compelling book of essays contend that the costs of war always outweigh the benefits even for the victors They argue that the only way we re going to be able to stop fighting senseless wars is if we have a division of the federal government devoted every day to making peace In We Need a Department of Peace readers learn the history of such a proposal through original documents and hear new arguments calling for such a department The story begins in 1793 with A Plan of a Peace Office for the United States by Benjamin Rush one of the Founding Fathers and a signer of the Declaration of Independence Frederick Schuman's Why a Department of Peace makes the case for the creation of a Department of Peace and tells the story of twentieth century efforts through the late 1960s Mary Liebman a prominent activist continues the legislative story into the 1970s Finally Charlie Keil s Waging Peace is a manifesto for the new millennium and his Resolution for a Department of Peace sets out the core legislative program in only one hundred fifty words Colonel Jacque. Everybody's business is nobody's business. The Protestant monastery Daniel Defoe,1895 Southern Capitalism Philip J. Wood, 1986-08-13 Southern Capitalism challenges prevailing views of Southern development by arguing that the persisting peculiarities of the Southern economy such as low wages and high poverty rates have not resulted from barriers to capitalist development nor from the lingering influence of planter values Wood argues that these peculiarities can instead be best understood as the consequence of a strategy of capitalist development based on the creation and preservation of social conditions and relations conducive to the above average exploitation of labor by capital focusing on the evolving relationship between capital and labor as the core of this strategy Wood follows the process of capitalist industrialization in North Carolina from its beginnings in the aftermath of the Civil War to the 1980s How Harvard Rules John Trumpbour, 1989 A collection of essays on Harvard arranged in six sections Three major themes pervade the book the myth of Harvard's independence the myth of Harvard as a liberal left institution and Harvard's contribution to ethno centrism and the superiority of the West

Comprehensive tax reform United States. Congress. House. Committee on Ways and Means,1986 *Plant Closings*Dena Targ,2020-04-29 PLANT CLOSED A sign of the times These two words have had profound meaning for workers in every factory and office across the country Millions of workers who have already been displaced by closings have had to pick up the pieces of shattered lives and get on with the business of living Those who are still working are faced with the insecurity of wondering whether they might find the gates closed some morning when they arrive at work The number of plant closings and the threat of future closings have raised many questions What has been happening to the American economy that has resulted in major companies closing their doors What forces within the international and national political economies are converging to reshape the labor force eliminating jobs in manufacturing and expanding employment in the lower wage insecure manufacturing sector What happens to displaced workers their families and the community in which they work In Plant Closings the authors examine the reasons plants close and the social economic and psychological consequences A variety of causes are identified including capital flight decreasing profit rates and the pursuit of lower labor costs Through the analysis of a case study the authors examine the changing health patterns political attitudes and financial stability of displaced workers There is also discussion of the impact on the community at large and on the individual institutions within the community Finally the authors analyze legislation that addresses the human and social costs of unemployment Carolyn C Perrucci is professor of sociology in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Purdue University Robert Perrucci is professor of sociology in the Department of Sociology and Anthropology at Purdue University Dena B Targ is professor in the Department of Child Development and Family Studies at Purdue University Harry R Targ is professor in the Department of Popular Culture and Law RichardK. Sherwin, 2017-07-05 What are the Political Science at Purdue University consequences when law s stories and images migrate from the courtroom to the court of public opinion and from movie television and computer screens back to electronic monitors inside the courtroom itself What happens when lawyers and public relations experts market notorious legal cases and controversial policy issues as if they were just another commodity What is the appropriate relationship between law and digital culture in virtual worlds on the Internet In addressing these cutting edge issues the essays in this volume shed new light on the current status and future fate of law truth and justice in Cocaine Paul Gootenberg, 2002-01-04 Cocaine examines the rise and fall of this notorious substance from its our time legitimate use by scientists and medics in the nineteenth century to the international prohibitionist regimes and drug gangs of today Themes explored include Amsterdam's complex cocaine culture the manufacture sale and control of cocaine in the United States Japan and the Southeast Asian cocaine industry export of cocaine prohibitions to Peru sex drugs and race in early modern London Cocaine unveils new primary sources and covert social cultural and political transformations to shed light on cocaine s hidden history Environmental Deceptions Matthew Alan Cahn, 1995-01-01 This book explores the tensions between American political culture which is predicated on self interest and environmental regulation which restricts individual property rights The Archaeology of CA-Mno-2122 Brooke S. Arkush, 1995-07-05 CA Mno 2122 is an extensive multi component site complex in the Mono Lake basin of east central California containing 31 native encampments and 4 wing traps dating between A D 500 and 1900 This archeological study of the site provides important information regarding
