European Military Museums A Survey Of Th:

Does War Belong in Museums? Wolfgang Muchitsch, 2014-04-15 Presentations of war and violence in museums generally oscillate between the fascination of terror and its instruments and the didactic urge to explain violence and by analysing it make it easier to handle and prevent The museums concerned also have to face up to these basic issues about the social and institutional handling of war and violence Does war really belong in museums And if it does what objectives and means are involved Can museums avoid trivializing and aestheticising war transforming violence injury death and trauma into tourist sights What images of shock or identification does one generate and what images would be desirable Bibliography of Military History, 1975 National Museums and Nation-building in Europe 1750-2010 Peter Aronsson, Gabriella Elgenius, 2014-12-05 Europe's national museums have since their creation been at the centre of on going nation making processes National museums negotiate conflicts and contradictions and entrain the community sufficiently to obtain the support of scientists and art connoisseurs citizens and taxpayers policy makers domestic and foreign visitors alike National Museums and Nation building in Europe 1750 2010 assess the national museum as a manifestation of cultural and political desires rather than that a straightforward representation of the historical facts of a nation National Museums and Nation building in Europe 1750 2010 examines the degree to which national museums have created models and representations of nations their past present and future and proceeds to assess the consequences of such attempts Revealing how different types of nations and states former empires monarchies republics pre modern modern or post imperial entities deploy and prioritise different types of museums based on art archaeology culture and ethnography in their making this book constitutes the first comprehensive and comparative perspective on national museums in Europe and their intricate relationship to the making of nations and states The Armies of Austria-Hungary and Germany, 1740-1914 László M. Alföldi, 1975 The Second World War in the Twenty-First-Century Museum Stephan Jaeger, 2020-02-24 The Second World War is omnipresent in contemporary memory debates As the war fades from living memory this study is the first to systematically analyze how Second World War museums allow prototypical visitors to comprehend and experience the past It analyzes twelve permanent exhibitions in Europe and North America including the Bundeswehr Military History Museum in Dresden the Museum of the Second World War in Gdańsk the House of European History in Brussels the Imperial War Museums in London and Manchester and the National WWII Museum in New Orleans in order to show how museums reflect and shape cultural memory as well as their cognitive ethical emotional and aesthetic potential and effects This includes a discussion of representations of events such as the Holocaust and air warfare In relation to narrative memory and experience the study develops the concept of experientiality on a sliding scale between mimetic and structural forms which provides a new textual spatial method for reading exhibitions and understanding the experiences of historical individuals and collectives It is supplemented by concepts like transnational memory empathy and encouraging critical thinking through difficult knowledge

Museums and the First World War Gaynor Kavanagh, 1994-01-01 This volume is concerned with how during four demanding dislocating and world changing years the museum that most Victorian of institutions was forced to meet the extraordinary test of war on the home front Museums were no more immune from the pressures of war than any other institution Their history reflects the broader history of the home front and the efforts made to do the right thing at the right time The changes they experienced some long term others transitory do much to explain the nature and character of museums in Britain today The author covers the progress of museums from just before the advent of war to the immediate post war period and considers this in relation to changing social attitudes and economic conditions A Guide to the Study and Use of Military History John E. Jessup (Jr.), John E. Jessup, Robert W. Coakley, 1979 This Guide to the Study and Use of Military History is designed to foster an appreciation of the value of military history and explain its uses and the resources available for its study It is not a work to be read and lightly tossed aside but one the career soldier should read again or use as a reference at those times during his career when necessity or leisure turns him to the contemplation of the military past

Agonistic Memory and the Legacy of 20th Century Wars in Europe Stefan Berger, Wulf Kansteiner, 2022-01-02 This book discusses the merits of the theory of agonistic memory in relation to the memory of war After explaining the theory in detail it provides two case studies one on war museums in contemporary Europe and one on mass graves exhumations which both focus on analyzing to what extent these memory sites produce different regimes of memory Furthermore the book provides insights into the making of an agonistic exhibition at the Ruhr Museum in Essen Germany It also analyses audience reaction to a theatre play scripted and performed by the Spanish theatre company Micomicion that was supposed to put agonism on stage There is also an analysis of a Massive Open Online Course MOOC designed and delivered on the theory of agonistic memory and its impact on the memory of war Finally the book provides a personal review of the history problems and accomplishments of the theory of agonistic memory by the two editors of the volume Monthly Catalog of United States

South-Eastern Europe Oto Luthar, 2016-03-21 This volume presents a series of chapters about the Great War and memory in Central and South Eastern Europe which will widen the insufficient and spotty representations of the Great War in that region. The contributors deliver an important addition to present day scholarship on the more or less unknown war in the Balkans and at the Italian fronts. Although it might not completely fill the striking gap in the historical representations of the situation between the Slovene Italian Soča Isonzo river in the North West and the Greek Macedonian border mountains around Mount Kajmakalan in the South East it will add significantly to the scholarship on the Balkan theatre of war and provide a much needed account of the suffering of civilians, ideas, loyalties and cultural hegemonies as well as memories and the post war memorial landscape. The contributors are Vera Gudac, Dodi Silviu Hariton, Vijoleta Herman, Kauri Oto Luthar, Olga Manojlović, Pintar Ahmed, Pašić Ignjacić, Romsics Daniela, Schanes Fabio, Todero Nikolai, Vukov and Katharina Wesener.
