European Human Rights Law:

European Human Rights Law Mark W. Janis, Richard S. Kay, Anthony Wilfred Bradley, 2008 The third edition of European Human Rights Law Text and Materials has been substantially expanded to provide a complete review of the wide range of rights the Convention protects with new chapters on the right to life property discrimination religious freedom and education The book introduces both the process and the substance of this increasingly important area of European law A broad selection of extracts from essential cases and materials is accompanied by stimulating commentary that guides the reader through the legal rules and court system that have evolved in Strasbourg how the court works and how European human rights law is enforced both at the national and international level European human rights law is also placed into a useful comparative framework alongside human rights cases decided by courts in the United States Canada and elsewhere This third edition has been extensively updated to cover the major developments of recent years including the reform of the European Court of Human Rights and the expansion of the system to central and eastern Europe

European Human Rights Law Sarah Maringe, 2014-07-18 In Section One of the work a brief introduction to the topic illustrates the main purpose of the disquisition and exemplifies the fundamental questions The author emphasizes on the illustration of the International perspective of Fundamental Rights within Section Two which is followed by an explication of the divergent legal sources and impacts of Human Rights Law e g the Charter of the United Nations the European Bill of Rights and the European Convention on Human Rights The next part exemplifies the ECtHR's case law in respect of the most significant principles and methods of interpretation by offering well discussed and analyzed case studies The case analyzes provide the important facts the argumentation and the conclusion of the Court furthermore the author allocates the dissenting opinions critical remarks and further correlations Within Section Four the legal machinery and controlling mechanisms are discussed shortly The International abandonment of violence against women is considered in Section Five which elucidates the categories facts and presence of physical and psychological violence against women and children as well as the judicial approach to the given circumstances in the light of the ECHR The last section summarizes the results and closes with an illustration of possible future developments and perspectives of European Human Rights Law

The Right to Equality in European Human Rights Law Charilaos Nikolaidis, 2014-07-25 A right to equality and non discrimination is widely seen as fundamental in democratic legal systems But failure to identify the human interest that equality aims to uphold reinforces the argument of those who attack it as morally empty or unsubstantiated and weakens its status as a fundamental human right This book argues that an understanding of the human interest which equality aims to uphold is feasible within the jurisprudence of the European Court of Human Rights ECtHR and the European Court of Justice ECJ In comparing the evolution of the prohibition of discrimination in the case law of both Courts Charilaos Nikolaidis demonstrates that conceptual convergence within the European Convention on Human Rights ECHR and the EU on the issue of equality is not as far as it might appear initially While the two bodies of equality law are extremely divergent as to the requirements they impose their interpretation by the international judiciary might be properly analysed under a common light to emphasise the substantive dimension of equality in European Human Rights law The book will be of great use and interest to scholars and students of human rights discrimination law and European politics

Russia and European Human-Rights Law

,2014-11-20 In Russia and European Human Rights Law The Rise of the Civilizational Argument Lauri M Ikssoo and his co authors critically examine Russia s experiences as part of the European human rights protection system since its admittance to the Council of Europe in 1998 The authors combine legal and constructivist international relations theory perspectives in studying Russia s practice and rhetoric as a member of the Council of Europe and a subject to the jurisdiction of the European Court of Human Rights Certain aspects of human rights doctrine and practice in Russia are particularly highlighted the increasing impact of Orthodox Christian teachings on the Russian government s ideology the situation with media freedom freedom of religion etc The authors draw widely on Russian sources and media The questions whether modern day Russia truly fits in the human rights protection system of the Council of Europe and whether a margin of appreciation will suffice when dealing with Moscow are highly relevant in contemporary European politics

Violence

The EU's Human Rights Responsibility Gap Joyce De Coninck,2024-11-14 Can the EU be held legally responsible for its contributions to human rights harms in its Integrated Border Management policy Or do systemic legal design flaws in the EU s human rights responsibility regime give rise to a significant responsibility gap This book delves into these pressing questions offering a transversal analysis of applicable legal frameworks under international and EU law Divided into three parts the book first analyses the international and EU human rights responsibility frameworks revealing both normative incongruency as well as liability incongruency Part two applies these frameworks to specific illustrations within the four tiers of the EU s Integrated Border Management exposing the critical points where responsibility falters Building on these findings and drawing from shared responsibility and relationality theories part three briefly introduces Relational Human Rights Responsibility as an alternative method to ascertaining human rights responsibility of the EU specifically and international organisations more generally

The UK and European Human Rights Katja S Ziegler,Elizabeth Wicks,Loveday Hodson,2015-10-22 The UK s engagement with the legal protection of human rights at a European level has been at varying stages pioneering sceptical and antagonistic The UK government media and public opinion have all at times expressed concerns about the growing influence of European human rights law particularly in the controversial contexts of prisoner voting and deportation of suspected terrorists as well as in the context of British military action abroad British politicians and judges have also however played important roles in drafting implementing and interpreting the European Convention on Human Rights Its incorporation into domestic law in the Human Rights Act 1998 intensified the ongoing debate about the UK's international and regional human rights commitments Furthermore the increasing importance of the European Union in the human rights sphere has added another layer to the relationship and highlights the complex relationships between the UK government the Westminster Parliament and judges in the UK Strasbourg and Luxembourg The book analyses the topical and contentious issue of the relationship between the UK and the European systems for the protection of human rights ECHR and EU from doctrinal contextual and comparative perspectives and explores factors that influence the relationship of the UK and European human rights

The European Court of Human Rights between Law and Politics Jonas Christoffersen, Mikael Rask Madsen, 2011-06-09 The European Court of Human Rights between Law and Politics provides a comprehensive analysis of the origins and development of one of the most striking supranational judicial institutions The book brings together leading scholars and practitioners to cast new light on the substantial jurisprudence and ongoing political reform of the Court The broad analysis based on historical legal and social science perspectives provides new insights into the institutional crisis of the Court and identifies the lessons that can be learned for the future of the European Convention on Human Rights and Fundamental Freedoms The European Court of Human Rights is in many ways is an unparalleled success The Court embarked during the 1970s upon the development of a progressive and genuinely European jurisprudence In the post Cold War era it went from being the guarantor of human rights solely in Western Europe to becoming increasingly involved in the transition to democracy and the rule of law in Eastern Europe Now the protector of the human rights of some 800 million Europeans from 47 different countries the European system is once again deeply challenged this time by a massive case load and by the Member States increased reluctance towards the Court This book paves the way for a better understanding of the system and hence a better basis for choosing the direction of the next stage of development

Skinner,2019-08-22 In its case law on the use of lethal and potentially lethal force the European Court of Human Rights declares a fundamental connection between the right to life in Article 2 of the European Convention on Human Rights and democratic society This book discusses how that connection can be understood by using narrative theory to explore Article 2 law s specificities and its deeper historical social and political significance Focusing on the domestic policing and law enforcement context the book draws on an extensive analysis of case law from 1995 to 2017 It shows how the connection with democratic society in Article 2 s substantive and procedural dimensions underlines the right to life s problematic duality as an expression of a basic value demanding a high level of protection and a contextually limited provision allowing states leeway in the use of force Emphasising the need to identify clear standards in the interpretation and application of the right to life the book argues that Article 2 law s narrative dimensions bring to light its core purposes and values These are to extract meaning from pain and death ground democratic society s foundational distinction between acceptable force and unacceptable violence and indicate democratic society s essential attributes as a restrained responsible and reflective system
