Evaluation In Planning Facing The Challenge Of Complexity:

Evaluation in Planning E.R. Alexander, 2016-04-22 Evaluation is a critical stage in urban and regional planning and development with the consideration of alternative proposals essential for informed debate and decision Evaluation in planning has become even more important with the new paradigm attempting to integrate economic efficiency with equity sustainability and social responsibility The craft of pre development evaluation has long been influenced by Nathaniel Lichfield and in his honour this book brings together prominent researchers and practitioners to discuss evaluation in planning its conceptual foundations and subsequent development its strengths and persisting dilemmas and its best practices and their potential for improving future planning and development The chapters trace evaluation in planning from its historical origin to current applications Part one reviews the evolution of evaluation theory and practice and part two contains a selection of best practice application The final integrating chapter notes key problems and offers directions for future development in evaluation research and practice Evaluation in Planning Nathaniel Lichfield, 1998-09-30 Papers from a September 1996 workshop provide a picture of the state of research in urban and regional planning evaluation covering aspects such as methodological issues analysis of practice and epistemological and theoretical questions Although different positions emerge all authors share a common intention to link recent developments in planning theory with new approaches to evaluation research They look at areas including communicative planning complexity sustainable development natural and built environment preservation and conservation of cultural and natural heritage Annotation copyrighted by Book News Inc Portland OR Planning Theory Franco Archibugi, 2008-01-29 Planning Theory expresses a sound unease about the direction taken by the current analysis and criticism of planning experiences both in the field of economics and in urban and regional planning Instead of seriously revising the technical and scientific shortcomings marking the various problems encountered in the planning experience in both fields academic debates and reflection have instead led to a kind of political interpretation On the basis of the hopelessness of improving the governance of managerial and political planning initiatives planning theory has been reduced to a generic sociological debate on planning itself a debate that freezes planning as a permanently declining engagement To oppose this the present book aims to identify the essential guidelines of a re launch of planning processes and techniques configuring a kind of neo discipline called planology by the author which builds upon a multi disciplinary integration never seen and experimented with until now of economic environmental and sociological approaches a crucial element missing in previous unsuccessful planning attempts Evaluating Sustainable Development in the Built Environment Peter S. Brandon, Patrizia Lombardi, 2010-12-01 The first edition was extremely well received providing an introduction and insight to this important topic in a comprehensive yet easy to read form It was chosen to be issued to the representatives of the organizations from the G8 and G20 countries attending the University Summit held in Turin in 2009 which addressed the issue of how education and research can assist sustainable development

The second edition completely updated to reflect the significant advances and new insights that have been made since publication of the first edition focuses on two main issues Facilitating a dialogue between all stakeholders so that the complexity of the problem can be exposed structured and communicated Understanding how to assess progress in sustainable development It continues to provide coherent guidance on the techniques that can be used to assess sustainable development in a rigorous manner The approach is introduced using illustrations and case studies together with follow up references It remains the ideal starting point for those trying to get a handle on the subject and for those who wish to examine a structured and systematic approach to the evaluation of sustainable development in the built environment

Consensus Planning: The Relevance of Communicative Planning Theory in Dutch Infrastructure Development Johan Woltjer, 2017-11-22 This title was published in 2000 This text offers a standpoint on communicative participatory planning called consensus planning The discussion takes place in the Netherlands where consensus based decision making is part of the national heritage The book explores recent Dutch infrastructure development experiences and concludes that communicative planning theory does not offer uniform relevance for the challenges that planning practitioners face Building on these experiences it proposes the concept of consensus planning as valuable in a complementary normalized and contingent way Consensus planning in other words has diverse practical appearances and sometimes may not exist or be desirable

Evaluation for Participation and Sustainability in Planning Angela Hull, E.R. Alexander, Abdul Khakee, Johan Woltjer, 2012-03-29 Planning evaluation is required to establish the success of planning interventions both of physical developments and new approaches Yet this should not be a task undertaken purely by professionals without participation by those affected by the process and outcomes of the projects This book provides case studies and advice on how to balance conservation with economic growth the cost effectiveness of plans alongside the effects upon the community and the importance of engaging with all stakeholders involved in a project Practical aspects of the evaluation process covered include how evaluation is used in planning introducing new kinds of information or criteria alternative ways of collecting presenting information how strategic planning objectives are implemented in local practice International contributors provide empirical studies and cases of application which are of practical value to those involved in the evaluation of planning The book concludes by offering a new paradigm a locally oriented context specific participatory and multi disciplinary approach to planning evaluation

Evaluating Urban and Regional Plans Mark Seasons, 2021-03-01 Effective practitioners in any field understand that lessons from the past underlie successes in the future Which practices have worked before and which haven't What went wrong and what does that teach us Too often however urban and regional planners simply don't know whether or how well planning policies were carried out Evaluating Urban and Regional Plans blends theory and practice to delineate the questions that planners need to ask as they shape the future of Canadian communities Mark Seasons offers a wealth of pragmatic guidance on comprehensive plan evaluation processes and methods Monitoring the outputs and outcomes generated by a plan and gauging their impact ensures that the planning function remains relevant and that resources are used effectively efficiently and equitably As both a primer on plan evaluation practice and an original contribution to theory Evaluating Urban and Regional Plans is an invaluable resource not only for the Canadian planning community but for planners everywhere Evaluating Sustainable Development Peter S. Brandon, Patrizia Lombardi, 2009-02-18

Sustainable development has been characterised by an emphasis on environmental issues and an ad hoc approach to structuring the subject which hinders the development of knowledge in a systematic way The built environment contributes significantly to the environment but is also one of the major factors in determining whether a community is sustainable in the longer term A structure is required which aids definition provides a common set of values establishes measurement methods to define progress and suggests a management system and decision protocol which enables practitioners to engage and use the resultant structures and information This book provides a suggested structure in which all aspects of sustainable development can be included together with a set of evaluation techniques which can be used within the structure to provide assistance to decision making Making Use of Deleuze in Planning Gareth Abrahams, 2016-10-04 Making Use of Deleuze in Planning translates and re creates some of Gilles Deleuze's most abstract philosophical concepts to form a new practicable planning assessment tool It shows what his philosophy can do for planning theory as well as planning assessment practice and in doing so sets out a pragmatic approach to Deleuzian studies one that helps form bridges between ontological problems and the problems found in professional practice It also breaks new ground in assessment methodology by challenging the essentialist ideas underpinning assessment methods like BREEAM and setting out and testing a new form of non essentialist assessment named SIAM The book argues that Deleuze's philosophy can be made useful to planning as long as one is prepared to adapt and re create his key ontological concepts to respond to the specific demands of the field

The Programming Approach and the Demise of Economics Franco Archibugi, 2019-11-21 This trilogy deals with an epistemology of economics arguing for a radical overturning of conventional analysis and providing an alternative to political economy and social sciences based not on positivism but on a normative and programming paradigm Volume II builds on the work presented in Volume I to explore oppositions to the traditional and conventional teaching of economics and presents testimonies that are favourable to a trend towards a programming approach thereby giving substance to the epistemological overturning of conventional analysis Such oppositions studied include the work of Ludvig von Mises and his theory of praxeology Ian Tinbergen and Wassily Leontief's preference for planning over forecasting science Bruno de Finetti and Daniel Bell's support for the base of utopia in economics the trend from the theory of planning towards the methodology of planning by Andreas Faludi neoclassic curiosity about the multi purposes approach and non economic commodities as investigated by Walter Isard as well as theories expressed by Herbert Simon Robert Lucas George Soros and Mark Blaug Volume III takes studies further and presents a concrete and practical example of how to build a Planning Accounting Framework PAF as associated with Frisch's plan frame explored in Volume II to demonstrate the extent to which decisions and negotiations can be routed in the social sciences

The Dynamism of Stakeholder Engagement Robbert Kivits, Sukanlaya Sawang, 2021-03-31 Large infrastructure projects generally involve multiple stakeholders such as government parties local communities and private organizations New projects can create tensions between different stakeholder groups because different groups naturally have different interests and opinions This book offers a view of how stakeholders are able to influence the project management's decision making process as the project proceeds from the investment preparation phase to the project execution phase and on to the operations phase through various methods such as protests legal battles and even illegal activities This book provides multiple case studies in aviation industry reflecting how large projects create dynamic contexts for stakeholder management and stakeholder behaviour as the project moves through different phases of its lifecycle

Complex Society: In the Middle of a Middle World Bojan Radej, Mojca Golobič, 2021-04-06 The decreasing capacity to govern complex social processes results in negative trends that breach system thresholds in all main social domains with extreme economic stratification of society Independent studies steadily report that a strong majority of the world's population between 60% and 80% already feels excluded and no longer represented by their governments The two prevailing concepts of complexity seem to overlook the central importance of mesoscopic complexity Socially complex conditions call for a new kind of social thought specifically developed for a blinded generation that must be as different from modern and postmodern thoughts as they were different from their middle age precedents Complex Society In the Middle of a Middle World addresses the concerns of the excluded majority by explaining how present complex social conditions work in favor of generational aspirations to achieve a more positive future In the geometry of thinking a complex matter is not comprehensible objectively but only by evaluating overlaps between complexity domains on their periphery which is in the area of their inconsistencies The book first develops an evaluative methodology for studying complex social matters and then tests it with three case studies that reflect some of the most pressing problems in contemporary societies aggregation problem integration problem and organization problem The obtained findings give grounds for the depiction of an outline for the anti postmodern ordering of contemporary societies This ground breaking text will be of particular interest for graduate and post graduate level of social sciences evaluators of project program and policy impact evaluation evaluators of philosophy of science as well as methodologists of social research and public governance
