The Oberland and Its Glaciers Hereford Brooke George, George, 1866 Petr Petrovich Semenov's Travels in the Tian'-Shan', 1856-1857 Colin Thomas, 2021-12-17 In the mid nineteenth century the eyes of western European explorers were firmly fixed on advancing inland from former maritime colonies in the Americas Africa the Indian sub continent and Australasia their motives often being inextricably bound up with concerns of imperial politics and commerce Simultaneously further east Russians resumed their perceived mission to civilise Asia following their own country s humiliation during the Crimean War From a springboard of Siberian territories acquired gradually over the previous three centuries discovery and expansion radiated from the Imperial Russian Geographical Society founded in 1845 and incorporating initiatives drawn from descendants of immigrant French and German scientists who themselves inspired a new generation of liberal intellectuals A key personality in that movement was the Society s librarian and secretary of its physical geography section P P Semenov 1827 1914 a member of a minor gentry family who had been tutored by a pupil of Linnacus and who had studied under Ritter and von Humboldt at Berlin during a tour of Europe in 1853 4 From then he conceived the notion of travelling to the virtually unknown lands of Central Asia ostensibly to verify opinions on the existence there of active volcanoes and glaciers In reality his ambition was to penetrate beyond the Kazakh steppe and to reach the fabled Celestial Mountains the Tian Shan range which constituted the politically sensitive border between Russia and China and the equally hostile buffer zone of Muslim khanates Accompanied only by a serf servant in May 1856 Semenov embarked on a 18 month journey from St Petersburg through Kazan to Semipalatinsk and thence via the Altai to the newly established Russian settlement of Vernoe later Alma Ata now Almaty Subsequently he received a Cossack escort on his trek into the high plateaus and ridges surrounding Issyk kul to the very heart of Asia Throughout his The Geographical Journal ,1919 Includes the Proceedings of the Royal geographical society formerly pub separately The Earth, Plants, and Man Joakim Frederik Schouw, 1852
