Educating For The New World Order:

Educating for the 'new World Order' Beverly K. Eakman,1991      Routledge Library Editions: Adult Education
Various Authors,2021-07-14 Against a background of profound worldwide social and economic change the concept of lifelong learning has come increasingly into the public eye As educators and policy makers rethink the meaning of education the purpose of schooling and the place of learning in our everyday lives educational institutions are opening up to those traditionally deprived of the opportunity The books in this set originally published between 1979 and 1992 including global case studies reflect upon major issues confronting adult educators worldwide and discuss the role of adult education in social and community action examine the relationship between class and adult education look at the concept of culture and the transmission of cultural values in relations to adult education evaluate the role of adult education in reducing unemployment

Apple,2013-01-11 In this book Apple explores the conservative restoration the rightward turn of a broad based coalition that is making successful inroads in determining American and international educational policy It takes a pragmatic look at what critical educators can do to build alternative coalitions and policies that are more democratic Apple urges this group to extricate itself from its reliance on the language of possibility in order to employ pragmatic analyses that address the material realities of social power      Globalizing Education Policy Fazal Rizvi,Bob Lingard,2009-12-04 Rizvi and Lingard s account of the global politics of education is thoughtful complex and compelling It is the first really comprehensive discussion and analysis of global trends in education policy their effects structural and individual and resistance to them In the enormous body of writing on globalisation this book stands out and will become a basic text in education policy courses around the world Stephen J Ball Karl Mannheim Professor of Sociology of Education Institute of Education University of London UK In what ways have the processes of globalization reshaped the educational policy terrain How might we analyse education policies located within this new terrain which is at once local national regional and global In Globalizing Education Policy the authors explore the key global drivers of policy change in education and suggest that these do not operate in the same way in all nation states They examine the transformative effects of globalization on the discursive terrain within which educational policies are developed and enacted arguing that this terrain is increasingly informed by a range of neo liberal precepts which have fundamentally changed the ways in which we think about educational governance They also suggest that whilst in some countries these precepts are resisted to some extent they have nonetheless become hegemonic and provide an overview of some critical issues in educational policy to which this hegemonic view of globalization has given rise including devolution and decentralization new forms of governance the balance between public and private funding of education access and equity and the education of girls curriculum particularly with respect to the teaching of English language and technology pedagogies and high stakes testing and the global trade in education These issues are explored within the context of major shifts in global processes and ideological discourses currently being experienced and negotiated by all countries The book also provides an approach to education policy analysis in an age of globalization and will be of interest to those studying globalization and education policy across the social sciences      Resources in Education ,1998

Language Planning and Education Gibson Ferguson,2006-03-13 Language Planning is a resurgent academic discipline reflecting the importance of language in issues of migration globalisation cultural diversity nation building education and ethnic identity Written as an advanced introduction this book engages with all these themes but focuses specifically on language planning as it relates to education addressing such issues as bilingualism and the education of linguistic minority pupils in North America and Europe the educational and equity implications of the global spread of English and the choice of media of instruction in post colonial societies Contextualising this discussion the first two chapters describe the emergence and evolution of language planning as an academic discipline and introduce key concepts in the practice of language planning The book is wide ranging in its coverage with detailed discussion of the context of language policy in a variety of countries and communities across North America Europe Africa and Asia      International Journal of Religious Education ,1926      Social Studies Teacher Education Christopher C. Martell,2017-10-01 Over the past decade the world has experienced a major economic collapse the increasing racial inequity and high profile police killings of unarmed Black and Brown people the persistence of global terrorism a large scale refugee crisis and the negative impacts of global warming In reaction to social instability there are growing populist movements in the United States and across the world which present major challenges for democracy Concurrently there has been a rise of grassroots political movements focused on increasing equity in relation to race gender class sexual orientation and religion The role of social studies teachers in preparing the next generation of democratic citizens has never been more important and the call for more social studies teacher educators to help teachers address these critical issues only gets louder This volume examines how teacher educators are or are not supporting beginning and experienced social studies teachers in such turbulent times and it offers suggestions for moving the field forward by better educating teachers to address growing local national and global concerns In their chapters authors in social studies education present research with implications for practice related to the following topics race gender sexual orientation immigration religion disciplinary literacy global civics and social justice This book is guided by the following overarching questions What can the research tell us about preparing and developing social studies teachers for an increasingly complex interconnected and rapidly changing world How can we educate social studies teachers to teach against the grain Cochran Smith 1991 2001b centering their work on social justice social change and social responsibility

Educating the Global Environmental Citizen Greg William Misiaszek, 2017-12-15 Misiaszek examines the disconnection between critical global citizenship education models and ecopedagogy which is grounded in Paulo Freire's pedagogy Exploring how concepts of citizenship are affected by globalization this book argues that environmental pedagogues must teach critical environmental literacies in order for students to understand global environmental issues through the world's diverse perspectives Misiaszek analyses the ways environmental pedagogies can use aspects of critical global citizenship education to better understand how environmental issues are contextually experienced and understood by societies locally and globally through issues of globalization colonialism socio economics gender race ethnicities nationalities indigenous issues and spiritualities

Monsters in the Classroom: Noam Chomsky, Human Nature, and Education Philip G. Hill, 2023 In this lucid original and comprehensive work the articulated approaches to pedagogy are based on specific conceptions of human nature Drawing on a vast range of Chomsky's prodigious output in linguistics politics biology cognitive science and education Hill highlights two fundamental elements of Chomsky's understanding of human nature and uses these elements as the foundation of a highly creative approach to pedagogy The originality of the work is apparent in the way the author identifies how key ideas in Chomsky's linguistics and political discourse are rooted in a liberatory approach to education The value of the work lies in its practical nature Even though it makes reference to ideas in various academic disciplines the work's overall value is reflected in the way ideas relate to Hill's personal teaching experiences and how they apply in a concrete classroom setting The reader is offered a practical and highly creative way to apply Chomsky's understanding of human nature in a classroom setting School Life ,1947 Ethnocinema: Intercultural Arts Education

Anne M. Harris, 2012-05-09 The first book entirely devoted to the practice and ethics of the emerging methodology of ethnocinema this volume brings vividly to life not only the Sudanese young women with whom the author has collaborated for two years but her own struggles as researcher teacher and intercultural fellow traveller A superb resource for anyone interested in conducting their own ethnocinema research project the contents will be welcomed too by classroom teachers who recognise a need for alternative pedagogies within diverse classrooms and peripatetic researchers and students who search for authentic representations of their own experiences within the academy and education system With access to online filmed material included this publication is part handbook and part theoretical treatise framing a new creative ethnographic methodology One of a rare breed of books covering the visual research techniques that are gaining traction in the academic community it also introduces ground breaking intercultural research into Sudanese women who have resettled in the West Functional as pedagogic material in university and high school classrooms this package has broad appeal in the academic and educational sectors It is innovative gutsy practical useful critical and follows principles of socially just research Prof Carolyn Ellis University of Southern Florida USA This is an ambitious and passionate work The author has taken on the task not only of exploring the difficult experiences of a group of young refugee women but has also reflected bravely on her own personal and professional life Assoc Prof Greg Noble University of Western Sydney Australia This is an ambitious and passionate work The author has taken on the task not only of exploring the difficult experiences of a group of young refugee women but has also reflected bravely on her own personal and professional life Assoc Prof Greg Noble University of Western Sydney Australia This is an ambitious and passionate work The author has taken on the task not only of exploring the difficult experiences of a group of young refugee women but has also reflected bravely on her own personal and professional life Assoc Prof Greg Noble University of Western Sydney Australia It is innovative gutsy practical useful critical and follows principles of socially just research Prof Carolyn Ellis University of Southern Florida USA This is an ambitious and passionate work The author has taken on the task not only of exploring the difficult experiences of a group of young refugee women but has also reflected bravely on her own personal and professional life Assoc Prof Greg Noble University of Western Sydney Australia This is an ambitious and passionate work The author has taken on the task not only of exploring the difficult experiences of a group of young refugee women but has also reflected bravely on her own personal and professional life Assoc Prof Greg Noble University of Western Sydney Australia This is an ambitious and passionate work The author has taken on the task not only of exploring the difficult experiences of a group of young refugee women but has also reflected bravely on her own personal and professional life Assoc Prof Greg Noble University of Western Sydney Australia

Education, Privatisation and Social Justice Ian Macpherson, Susan Robertson, Geoffrey Walford, 2014-05-12 The involvement of private actors in education is not new yet in the last decade critical issues have arisen that demand close scrutiny This volume explores emerging forms of the private through case studies from Africa South Asia and South East Asia and makes three related observations First what is new about these manifestations is their scale scope and penetration into almost all aspects of the education endeavour from the administrative apparatus to policymaking and from formal provision in education settings to out of school activities such as private tutoring Second what is particularly controversial about these developments is how education itself is being recast as a sector it is increasingly being opened up to profit making and trade and to agenda setting by private commercial interests Third the learner is increasingly conceptualised as a consumer and education a consumer good The case studies therefore enable us to see more clearly how different forms of the private in education alter what is at stake for whom and with what outcomes and the consequences for individuals and societies In turn these raise the very important question about what they mean for our conceptualisations of education learning and teaching on the one hand and for education as a site and means for emancipation on the other These are profound social justice concerns and ones that make this volume distinctive This book sets out to address these hard but urgent questions and will be of interest to academics and students of education education researchers government personnel and policymakers
