Educating The Faithful Religion Schools And Society In Nineteenth Century France:

Educating the Faithful Sarah Ann Curtis, 2000 Focusing on Catholic primary schooling in France from 1830 through World War I Curtis shows how religious education played a key role in transforming France into a modern nation She finds persuasive evidence that the French Catholic teaching orders created the culture needed for the development of a modern educational system Curtis focuses her extensive research on the province of Lyon though many of her findings can be applied more generally Her argument that decisions about schooling were driven by pragmatic as well as ideological considerations for example is a model for further investigation Educating the Faithful is the first major study in English of religious education in modern France Handbook of Religious Culture in Nineteenth-Century Europe Anthony Steinhoff, Jeffrey Zalar, 2024-12-30 This handbook offers a guide to research on religious culture during Europe's long nineteenth century 1800-1914 Grounded in the latest theoretical approaches and in line with trends that have produced a religious turn in the study of modern Europe the volume assesses the state of the field while making provocative recommendations for its enlargement Unique and ambitious in its thematic breadth it addresses the histories of all five of Europe's main religious traditions Eastern Orthodox Christianity Judaism Islam Protestantism and Roman Catholicism and brings these histories into comparative analysis This analysis extends to a wide range of subjects from popular belief and practice education and modern knowledge formation and the arts to the intersections between religion and urbanization civil society and politics and missions and imperialism It also evaluates recent developments in work on religion vis vis both gender and nationalism while calling attention to newer research that proposes secularism as a form of belief in its own right Presenting the scholarship of eighteen leaders in their respective fields the volume explains why religion as a topic of research has moved from the periphery to the center of modern European historiography Women and Achievement in Nineteenth-Century Europe Linda L. Clark, 2008-04-17 A history of European women's professional activities and organizational roles between 1789 and 1914 Europe 1850-1914 Jonathan Sperber, 2014-01-14 This innovative survey of European history from the middle of the nineteenth century to the outbreak of the First World War tells the story of an era of outward tranquillity that was also a period of economic growth social transformation political contention and scientific and artistic innovation During these years the foundations of our present urban industrial society were laid the five Great Powers vied in peaceful and violent fashion for dominance in Europe and throughout the world and the darker forces that were to dominate the twentieth century violent nationalism totalitarianism racism ethnic cleansing began to make themselves felt Jonathan Sperber sets out developments in this period across the entire European continent from the Atlantic to the Urals from the Baltic to the Mediterranean To help students of European history grasp the main dynamics of the period he divides the book into three overlapping sections covering the periods from 1850-75 1871-95 and 1890-1914 In each period he identifies developments and tendencies that were common in varying degrees to the whole of Europe while also pointing the unique qualities of specific regions and individual countries Throughout his argument is supported by illustrative material tables charts case studies and other explanatory features and there is a detailed bibliography to help students to explore further in those areas that interest them Essays in the History of Irish Education Brendan Walsh,2016-09-29 This book provides a complete overview of the development of education in Ireland including the complex issue of how religion can coexist with education and how a national identity can be aided through Irish language teaching It also offers a comprehensive exploration of the development issues challenges and future of education in Ireland within the context of historical studies Religious Education in Public Schools: Study of Comparative Law José Luis Martínez López-Muñiz,Jan De Groof,Gracienne Lauwers,2006 Publisher Description The Routledge History of Women in Europe Since 1700 Deborah Simonton,2006-04-27 This landmark publication collects the essays of the leading women s historians and provides the most coherent overview of women s role and place in Western Europe from the beginning of the eighteenth century to the twentieth century Educating Women Christina de Bellaigue,2007-08-16 The author looks at boarding schools for girls in 19th century England exploring the emergence and expansion of private schooling for girls the recruitment and training of schoolmistresses the lives of schoolgirls and the instruction they received and the experiences of pupils and teachers who crossed the Channel Encyclopedia of Christian Education George Thomas Kurian,Mark A. Lamport,2015-05-07 Christianity regards teaching as one of the most foundational and critically sustaining ministries of the Church As a result Christian education remains one of the largest and oldest continuously functioning educational systems in the world comprising both formal day schools and higher education institutions as well as informal church study groups and parachurch ministries in more than 140 countries In The Encyclopedia of Christian Education contributors explore the many facets of Christian education in terms of its impact on curriculum literacy teacher training outcomes and professional standards This encyclopedia is the first reference work devoted exclusively to chronicling the unique history of Christian education across the globe illustrating how Christian educators pioneered such educational institutions and reforms as universal literacy home schooling Sunday schools women s education graded schools compulsory education of the deaf and blind and kindergarten With an editorial advisory board of more than 30 distinguished scholars and five consulting editors TheEncyclopedia of Christian Education contains more than 1 200 entries by 400 contributors from 75 countries These volumes covers a vast range of topics from Christian education History spanning from the church s founding through the Middle Ages to the modern day Denominational and institutional profiles Intellectual traditions in Christian educationBiblical and theological frameworks curricula missions adolescent and higher education theological training and Christian pedagogy Biographies of distinguished Christian educators This work is ideal for scholars of both the history of Christianity and education as well as researchers and students of contemporary Christianity and modern religious education A Social History of France 1780-1914 Peter McPhee,2017-03-03 This volume provides a lively and authoritative synthesis of recent work on the social history of France and is now thoroughly updated to cover the long nineteenth century from 1789 1914 Peter McPhee offers both a readable narrative and a distinctive coherent argument about this remarkable century and explores key themes such as Peasant interaction with the environment The changing experience of work and leisure The nature of crime and protest Changing demographic patterns and family structures The religious practices of workers and peasants The ideology and internal repercussions of colonisation At the core of this social history is the exercise and experience of social relations of power not only because in these years there were four periods of protracted upheaval but also because the history of the workplace of relations between women and men adults and children is all about human interaction Stimulating and enjoyable to read this indispensable introduction to nineteenth century France will help readers to make sense of the often bewildering story of these years while giving them a better understanding of what it meant to be an inhabitant of France during that turbulent time

Contested identities Carmen M. Mangion, 2019-01-04 English Roman Catholic women s congregations are an enigma of nineteenth century social history Over ten thousand nuns and sisters establishing and managing significant Catholic educational health care and social welfare institutions in England and Wales have virtually disappeared from history Despite their exclusion from historical texts these women featured prominently in the public and private sphere Intertwining the complexities of class with the notion of ethnicity Contested identities examines the relationship between English and Irish born sisters This study is relevant not only to understanding women religious and Catholicism in nineteenth century England and Wales but also to our understanding of the role of women in the public and private sphere dealing with issues still resonant today Contributing to the larger story of the agency of nineteenth century women and the broader transformation of English society this book will appeal to scholars and students of social cultural gender and religious history

Religion and Education: Framing and Mapping a Field Stephen G. Parker, J. Berglund, David Lewin, Deirdre Raftery, 2019-08-26 This publication makes the case for religion and education as a distinct but cross disciplinary field of inquiry To begin with consideration is given to the changing dynamic between religion and education historically and the differing understandings of religious education within it Next religion and education is examined from methodologically specific perspectives namely the philosophical historical sociological and psychological The authors outline the particular insights to be gleaned about religion and education on the basis of their commitment to these methodological standpoints Overall this publication is concerned with demonstrating the scope of the field and the importance of having a range of disciplinary and interdisciplinary perspectives informing it

Challenges of Equality Jeffrey Haus, 2009 Explores the relationship between Judaism state and education in France from the establishment of the Jewish Consistory in 1808 until the separation of church and state in 1905 Historians have typically characterized nineteenth century French Jewry as largely eager to assimilate or at the very least passively accommodating to assimilation with only the most traditional Jews rejecting the trappings of French culture Through the lens of Jewish primary and rabbinical education author Jeffrey Haus shows that even integrated French Jews sought to set limits on assimilation and struggled to preserve a sense of Jewish distinctiveness in France Challenges of Equality argues that Jewish leaders couched their views in terms that the government could understand and accept portraying a Judaism consistent with the goal of cultural and political unification of the French nation At the same time their educational activities asserted the existence of distinctively Jewish cultural space Haus shows how French government officials repeatedly used political and financial pressure to advance their own vision of an integrated French Judaism In response Jewish leaders focused on the concepts of utility and equality to erect and manage the boundaries between their institutions and the state as these were key elements of governmental policy toward religious and educational establishments Haus examines these issues by comparing the financial and curricular histories of Jewish primary schools run by the Consistory and the central French rabbinical school Utilizing a variety of sources including school curricula rabbinical ordination examinations government documents and correspondence state jurisprudential decisions and the French Jewish press Challenges of Equality paints a picture of a resilient and persistent French Judaism that adapted integrated but nevertheless survived Scholars of Jewish history French history European history and the history of education will appreciate the detailed look at Jewish integration in France that Haus provides
