Education And Society In Africa:

Education and Society in Africa Mark Bray, Peter Bernard Clarke, David Stephens, 1986      Education and Society Ansu Datta, 1984 This book provides university students and trainee teachers with an introduction to the social bases of education. It amalgamates a thorough appreciation of sociological theories, concepts and methods with many examples from sub-Saharan Africa including Nigeria, Zambia, Ghana, Kenya, Tanzania and Zimbabwe. The book first deals with the organisation of education in different societies and then with the social functions of education, formal, non-formal and informal processes of education and in particular with adult socialisation. The school and the classroom are dealt with in detail as is the role of the teacher in society, school and the classroom. Finally, the book concludes with an examination of the various social factors which contribute to educational inequality in Africa.

Mass Education in African Society Great Britain. Advisory Committee on Education in the Colonies, 1944      Development of Higher Education in Africa Alexander W. Wiseman, C. C. Wolhuter, 2013-10-21 This volume of the International Perspectives on Education and Society series investigates the challenges and prospects for higher education in Africa, especially issues of development, expansion, internationalization, equity and divergence.

Class Formation and Civil Society Patrick M. Boyle, 2018-10-26 First published in 1999, this study of the politics of education in Cameroon, the Congo and Kenya presents arresting empirical evidence that urban elites exiting public sector educational systems they have dominated in favour of private school networks of their own creation. Seeking to enhance their offspring's chances for survival and even domination in a world of scarce resources and limited opportunities for employment, elites see private schools as tools to shape newly emerging civil societies in Africa in their own image. From a theoretical perspective, the fresh evidence presented here shows that schooling has once again become a major social force influencing the balance of state and society in modern Africa. Re-examining an older political tradition of class analysis and integrating it into more recent civil society perspectives, the author shows that the abandonment of the unreliable education services of dysfunctional African states in favour of private schools has profound consequences for class articulation in societies dividing once again according to educational opportunities.

Teacher Education Systems in Africa in the Digital Era Adegoke, Bade, Oni, Adesoji, 2015-10-19 Teacher education is vital for the realization of a nation's development aspirations. The conception, incubation and delivery of any national development policy as well as the reform and implementation of extant policies are driven by the quality of teachers and their products within a functional educational system. Indeed, national and global models of development including the millennium development goals revolve around the frames of quality education beginning with teacher education. It is therefore important to have functional teacher education systems in Africa to help its citizens explore the networking of the world as a global village. This is achievable through a systematic mobilization of national resources and visible commitment to the development of a modernized cadre of scientific and technological manpower. This book is a rich exposition of theories and praxes essential for the development of teacher education in Africa The book has immense benefits for teachers teacher trainers funding agencies other stakeholders and policy makers Gender, Sexuality and Development, 2008-01-01 This book provides a timely contribution to the field of gender and development in the face of the looming failure of international development targets the deepening HIV AIDS pandemic and the increased incidence of civil conflict in Sub Saharan Africa The overall ambition of the collection is to question assumptions behind much development policy and practice and to push out conceptual boundaries by providing critical insights from local empirical studies that bring new theoretical configurations to specific policy and practice contexts The chapter contributions are from African and Northern writers who have critically engaged with the ways that gendered and sexual identities are produced in particular educational and social settings in this diverse continent After providing a consolidation of the field the book highlights its departures from earlier work on gender education society and development to open spaces that provide a springboard for further research and critique around persistent and enduring development issues Following two introductory chapters the text is organised in four main sections concerning gendered institutions sexual identities HIV AIDS and conflict In addressing such critical issues this edited collection is essential reading for professionals policy makers practitioners and students from a wide range of institutions including government departments international agencies NGOs and universities in Sub Saharan Africa as well as in other low and high income countries worldwide Education and Society in the Middle East and North Africa Milton George,S. Sergio Saleem

Scatolini,2020-01-17 In the past the Middle East and the so called Muslim world used to be beacons of learning and critical thought Although historical variables such as conquest internal conflict and colonization demoted their position on the global stage changes are now in the offing In these interesting times a growing number of educators thinkers and visionaries are trying both to find and to generate new approaches to the past present and future of the region This book is a collection of articles which reflect on various aspects related to education and society in the Middle East and North Africa also known as the MENA region their peoples and educational processes It provides a platform for people to join the global conversation and to contribute to it with data which are relevant to regional concerns research and practices This is necessary because many of the theories and research findings which are still being used to understand the region were generated elsewhere and despite their lack of regional representativeness were generalized as the most trustworthy interpretive tools across the world Hence there is a need for the world to open up to the voices from the MENA region Higher Education

Transformation in Africa Emnet Tadesse Woldegiorgis, Logan Govender, Dennis Zami Atibuni, 2024-11-05 This book critically interrogates the notion of transformation in higher education focusing on epistemological and structural issues in postcolonial and contemporary Africa The book considers the multifaceted challenges facing higher education in the continent and uses the concept of transformation as a common thread weaving through a range of issues including epistemology identity relevance research collaboration and decoloniality Arguing for a holistic approach towards progressive and innovative education systems the book calls for a fundamental transformation that expands access enhances quality and competitiveness addresses past injustices and improves the capacity to act together for a more sustainable and just future Overall the book makes a powerful case for the power of transformation in higher education to shape the social economic and cultural fabric of society This book s critical evaluation of knowledge production in Africa will be an important read for researchers and policymakers involved in Africa s higher education sector

Language, Democracy and Education in Africa Birgit Brock-Utne,2002 This publication is built on two papers In the first paper the author looks at the language question through the eyes of a social and political scientist The second paper is an extended version of the author s talk to the NAI Research Forum on 24 January 2002

Languages and Education in Africa Birgit Brock-Utne,Ingse Skattum,2009-05-11 The theme of this book cuts across disciplines Contributors to this volume are specialized in education and especially classroom research as well as in linguistics most being transdisciplinary themselves Around 65 sub Saharan languages figure in this volume as research objects as means of instruction in connection with teacher training language policy lexical development harmonization efforts information technology oral literature and deaf communities The co existence of these African languages with English French and Arabic is examined as well This wide range of languages and subjects builds on recent field work giving new empirical evidence from 17 countries Botswana Ethiopia Ghana Kenya Madagascar Malawi Mali Mozambique Niger Nigeria Senegal South Africa Swaziland Tanzania Uganda Zambia and Zimbabwe as well as to transnational matters like the harmonization of African transborder languages As the Editors a Norwegian social scientist and a Norwegian linguist both working in Africa have wanted to give room for African voices the majority of contributions to this volume come from Africa

Re-Visioning Education in Africa Emefa J. Takyi-Amoako,N'Dri Thérèse Assié-Lumumba,2018-01-26 This book presents the case for a conceptual and pragmatic revolution of Africa s formal educational systems Using the context of Ubuntu inspired education the authors explore innovative ways to tackle the challenges faced by governments from the local and national level and beyond Along the way the editors and their contributors examine important policy questions to encourage fresh thinking on ways to improve the educational system and in turn to buoy the development of the region as a whole
