R. Michael Paige

Education For The Intercultural Experience:

Education for the Intercultural Experience R. Michael Paige, 1993      Intercultural Experience and Education Geof Alred, Michael Byram, 2003 This edited volume explores the educational significance of intercultural experience. It offers a broader conception of interculturality than commonly found in the area of foreign language teaching. Contributors represent a diverse range of academic and professional interests. The aim of the book is to encourage dialogue and interchange across this range and beyond to stimulate thinking about the educational value of intercultural experience.      Education for the Intercultural Experience R. Michael Paige, 2004      Education for the Intercultural Experience R. Michael Paige, 1993

Intercultural Experience and Identity Lily Lei Ye, 2018-06-13 This book examines the identity formation and negotiation of Chinese doctoral students in the UK and the opportunity for self-transformation this experience offers. As the largest group of international students in the English-speaking world, Mainland Chinese students encounter a range of difficulties and prospects that may be relevant to the wider international student community. Using extensive qualitative and empirical data, the author explores the narratives of eleven Chinese doctoral students at two British universities through a sociological perspective. Balancing analysis with solid theoretical framework and the voices of the students themselves, the author moves away from essentialism and othering, instead shining a light on the effects of globalisation, internationalisation and recent policy strategies. This volume will be of interest and value to students and scholars of comparative and international education, identity formation, intercultural communication, the sociology of education and study abroad.

Intercultural Experience and Education (Languages for Intercultural Communication and Education) Michael Fleming,      Becoming Interculturally Competent Through Education and Training Anwei Feng, Michael Byram, 2009 This book demonstrates the complementarity of educational and training approaches to developing intercultural competence as represented by those who work in commercial training and those who work in further and higher education. It does so by presenting chapters of analysis and chapters describing courses in the two sectors.      What is Legal Education for? Rachel Dunn, Paul Maharg, Victoria Roper, 2022-09-30 How we interpret and understand the historical contexts of legal education has profoundly affected how we understand contemporary educational cultures and practices. This book, the result of a Modern Law Review seminar, both celebrates and critiques the lasting impact of Peter Birks' influential edited collection Pressing Problems in the Law Volume 2. What is the Law School for? Published in 1996, his book addresses many critical issues that are hauntingly present in the 21st century: amongst them, the impact of globalisation, technological disruption and the tension inherent in law schools as they seek to balance the competing interests of teaching, research and administration. Yet Birks' collection misses key issues too. The role of wellbeing, of emotion or affect, the relation of legal education to education, the status of legal education in what since his volume have become the devolved jurisdictions of Northern Ireland, Wales and Scotland: these and others are absent from the research agenda of the book. Today legal educators face new challenges. We are still recovering from the effects of the Covid 19 pandemic on our universities In 1996 Birks was keen to stress the importance of comparative research within Europe Today legal researchers are dismayed at the possibility of losing valuable EU research funding when the UK leaves the EU and at the many other negative effects of Brexit on legal education The proposed Solicitors Qualifying Examination takes legal education regulation and professional learning into uncharted waters This book discusses these and related impacts on our legal educations As law schools approach an existential crossroads post Covid 19 it seems timely to revisit Birks fundamental question what are law schools for

Handbook of Intercultural Training Dan Landis, Janet Bennett, Janet Marie Bennett, Milton J. Bennett, 2004 This handbook deals with the question of how people can best live and work with others who come from very different cultural backgrounds Handbook of Intercultural Training provides an overview of current trends and issues in the field of intercultural training Contributors represent a wide range of disciplines including psychology interpersonal communication human resource management international management anthropology social work and education Twenty four chapters all new to this edition cover an array of topics including training for specific contexts instrumentation and methods and training design

Developing Intercultural Competence and Transformation Victor Savicki, 2023-07-03 Enrollments in international education programs are projected to grow exponentially as students parents and university personnel seek to prepare future leaders who can live and work effectively in a global environment What do we know about the outcomes of such programs and how can educators become more intentional about designing and assessing the impact of such courses How can we help students achieve the intercultural growth and transformation that they may envision as they set forth on their international sojourn International education provides opportunities for students to grow personally and to learn in a rich and intense educational environment The outcomes of such opportunities emphasize not only traditional academic competence but also changes in motivations attitudes self identity and values It is these latter co academic concepts that are the focus of this book Its goal is to give solid substance to the growth and transformation approach to study abroad It defines the central concept of intercultural competence sets it within the framework of transformative learning theory and offers ideas and strategies for facilitating its development In doing so it goes far beyond traditional emphases on the achievement of such formal skills as foreign language acquisition or specific knowledge of course content in national literatures arts or history This book provides study abroad educators with a theoretical framework and examples of practice to craft more meaningful activities that will make a long term difference in the quality of student experiences and set the stage for transformative change If we plan to send a million students a year to study abroad within the decade we need approaches to maximize student growth outcomes in an efficient and effective way It is also relevant for anyone engaged in courses in adult education college student services comparative and international education international business intercultural relations and service learning that involve study abroad and that raise corresponding issues of curriculum design perspectives and world views of others Financial literacy was also offered as an optional assessment The SAGE Handbook of Intercultural Competence Darla K. Deardorff, 2009-08-31 Containing chapters by some of the world's leading experts and scholars on the subject this book provides a broad context for intercultural competence Including the latest research on intercultural models and theories it presents guidance on assessing intercultural competence through the exploration of key assessment principles Indigenist African Development and Related Issues Akwasi

Asabere-Ameyaw, Jophus Anamuah-Mensah, George Sefa Dei, Kolawole Raheem, 2014-07-11 There is no term so heavily contested in social science literature nomenclature than Development This book brings Indigenous perspectives to African development It is argued that contrary to development as we know it not working a greater part of the problem is that conventional development approaches that work have in fact not truly been followed to the letter and hence the quagmire All this is ironic since everything we do about our world is development So how come there is difficult knowledge when it comes to learning from what we know i.e. what local peoples do and have done for centuries as a starting point to reconstructing and reframing development In getting our heads around this paradox we are tempted to ask more questions How do we as African scholars and researchers begin to develop home grown solutions to our problems How do we pioneer new analytical systems for understanding our communities and offer a pathway to genuine African development i.e. Indigenist African development see also Yankah 2004 How do we speak of Indigenist development mindful of global developments and entanglements around us Can we afford to pursue development still mired in a catch up scenario Are we in a race with the development world and where do we see this race ending or where do we define as the finishing line A Publication of the Centre for School and Community Science and Technology Studies SACOST University of Education Winneba Ghana

Interculturality in International Education Jane Jackson, 2018-05-15 This comprehensive volume provides a state of the art overview of the key issues and developments in study abroad research and practice with a specific focus on the intercultural and language learning dimensions of the study abroad experience Rather than looking at individual studies the book seeks to capture the full complexity of the language learning and intercultural dynamics of study abroad by exploring a wide range of topics of particular interest to study abroad researchers and practitioners including the role of individual differences identity reconstruction and interculturality the challenges of assessing learning outcomes and recent pedagogical interventions designed to enhance and extend language learning and engagement in these contexts The volume also takes a step back to look at future directions for study abroad research and offers innovative interventions in study abroad programming that emphasise its intercultural elements This book is an authoritative resource for study abroad scholars and researchers in such fields as intercultural communication applied linguistics sociolinguistics and language education
