Philosophical Questions in Art Education Dorit Barchana-Lorand,2025-08-21 This book examines the rationale of incorporating the arts in the school curriculum from a philosophical rather than pedagogical perspective Educational resources are frequently under scrutiny and education policy makers wish to maximize the use of public funds and children s time at school leaving the arts as a lower priority To understand the logic behind this Lorand revisits milestones in the history of the philosophy of art to address core questions in art education namely what are the challenges of teaching the arts And why teach the arts at all Lorand draws on the work of a broad range of philosophers including Dewey Eisner Greene Hume Plato Kant Langer Read and Schiller The book aims to show how attempts to justify art as a tool for societal and individual improvement fail in advocating art education Ultimately she claims that the arts should be taught because children have the right to receive art education That right stems from the unique nature of art

Promoting Civic Engagement Through Art Education Flávia Bastos,Doug Blandy,2024-10-25 This textbook equips students and educators committed to understanding how art and creative practice work as powerful communicative tools and have a substantial role in advancing civic participation Alongside promoting educational practices with learners civic engagement in mind this book is a call to action inviting creative educators to explore the potential of art for developing critical perspectives articulating voices and diverse points of view and engaging in dialogue across difference Chapters assist students and educators in understanding critical concepts ranging from the protections afforded art under the constitution to the role of civic institutions such as museums community arts centers and schools in advancing civic participation They also present the relationship between art education and civic engagement using watershed political moments such as voter suppression initiatives xenophobic reactions to the COVID 19 pandemic and widespread national Black Lives Matter protests Readers are guided throughout with a series of key questions at the onset of each chapter and encouraged to investigate further the issues discussed through exploration of the many resources embedded in each chapter Coursework and participatory learning experiences that orient future and current art educators to the relationship of the arts and culture to democracy are also featured This book will be ideal for students in art education in both upper division undergraduate and graduate levels with cross curricular appeal for students of political science social studies sociology public history public anthropology heritage studies and public humanities As well as this it will be a must read for educators who are asked to respond to challenges within the political sphere and how these political challenges are influencing educational environments

Colonized Through Art Marinella Lentis,2017 Colonized through Art explores how the federal government used art education for American Indian children as an instrument for the colonization of consciousness hoping to instill the values and ideals of Western society while simultaneously maintaining a political social economic and racial hierarchy Focusing on the Albuquerque Indian School in New Mexico the Sherman Institute in Riverside California and the world's fairs and local community exhibitions Marinella Lentis examines how the U S government's solution to the Indian problem at the end of the nineteenth century emphasized education and assimilation Educational theories at the time viewed art as the foundation of morality and as a way to promote virtues and personal improvement These theories made the subject of art a natural tool for policy makers and educators to use in achieving their assimilationist goals of turning student savages into civilized men and women Despite such educational regimes for students however indigenous ideas about art oftentimes emerged from below particularly from well known art teachers such as Arizona Swayney and Angel DeCora Colonized through Art explores how American Indian schools taught children to abandon their cultural heritage and produce artificially native crafts that were exhibited at local and international fairs The purchase of these crafts by the general public turned students work into commodities and schools into factories
