Life After... Social Studies Sally Longson,2007-06-11 Thousands of students graduate from university each year The lucky few have the rest of their lives mapped out in perfect detail but for most things are not nearly so simple Armed with your hard earned degree the possibilities and career paths lying before you are limitless and the number of choices you suddenly have to make can seem bewildering Life After Social Studies has been written specifically to help students currently studying or who have recently graduated make informed choices about their future lives It will be a source of invaluable advice and wisdom to business graduates whether you wish to use your degree directly or not covering such topics as Identifying a career path that interests you Seeking out an opportunity that matches your skills and aspirations Staying motivated and pursuing your goals Networking and self promotion Making the transition from scholar to worker Putting the skills you have developed at university to good use in life The Life After series of books are more than simple career guides They are unique in taking a holistic approach to career advice recognising the increasing view that although a successful working life is vitally important other factors can be just as essential to happiness and fulfilment They are the indispensable handbooks for students considering their future direction Between Samaritans and States Jennifer Rubenstein,2015-01-29 This book provides the first book length English language account of the political ethics of large scale Western based humanitarian INGOs such as Oxfam CARE and Doctors Without Borders These INGOs are often either celebrated as heroes or do good machines or maligned as incompetents on the road to hell In contrast this book suggests the picture is more complicated Drawing on political theory philosophy and ethics along with original fieldwork this book shows that while humanitarian INGOs are often perceived as non governmental and apolitical they are in fact sometimes somewhat governmental highly political and often second best actors As a result they face four central ethical predicaments the problem of spattered hands the quandary of the second best the cost effectiveness conundrum and the moral motivation trade off This book considers what it would look like for INGOs to navigate these predicaments in ways that are as consistent as possible with democratic egalitarian humanitarian and justice based norms It argues that humanitarian INGOs must regularly make deep moral compromises In choosing which compromises to make they should focus primarily on their overall consequences as opposed to their intentions or the intrinsic value of their activities But they should interpret consequences expansively and not limit themselves to those that are amenable to precise measurements of cost effectiveness The book concludes by explaining the implications of its map of humanitarian INGO political ethics for individual donors to INGOs and for how we all should
