Goodbye Bussamarai The Mandandanji Land War Southern Queensland 1842 1852:

Goodbye Bussamarai Patrick Collins, 2002 Bussamarai was a personal resistance leader whose influence spread across five aboriginal nations Like the legendary Pemulway Yagan or Jandamara he fought for the survival of his people the Mandandanji of southern Queensland Their homeland bordered northern New South Wales and its infamous sites of Aboriginal massacre and frontier warfare Myall Creek Slaughterhouse Creek and Waterloo Creek This history serves as a sequel to those atrocities so unforgettably chronicles in Roger Milliss's Waterloo Creek Closely researched and finely grained this is the first analysis of this fierce leader and the Mandandanji whose valiant fight for their homeland led to their decimation More than an account this is a story enriched by the interpolations of an author whose background in social psychology brings him to speculate on racial violence and the psychological effects of a massacre in 19th century Australia

The Secret War Jonathan Richards, 2008 The Secret War is the latest salvo in the History Wars that sees historians politicians and writers arguing over the extent of Indigenous deaths in frontier clashes It is an authoritative and groundbreaking contribution to Australia's white settlement history Australian author Men and Manliness on the Frontier R. Hogg, 2012-11-14 In mid nineteenth century Britain there existed a dominant discourse on what it meant to be a man denoted by the term manliness Based on the sociological work of R W Connell and others who argue that gender is performative Robert Hogg asks how British men performed manliness on the colonial frontiers of Queensland and British Columbia Worlding the south Sarah Comyn, Porscha Fermanis, 2021-07-06 This electronic version has been made available under a Creative Commons BY NC ND open access license This collection brings together for the first time literary studies of British colonies in nineteenth century Australia New Zealand South Africa South America Southeast Asia and the South Pacific Islands Drawing on hemispheric studies Indigenous studies and southern theory to decentre British and other European metropolises the collection offers a groundbreaking challenge to national paradigms and traditional literary periodisations and canons by prioritising southern cultural networks in multiple regional centres from Cape Town to Dunedin Worlding the south examines the dialectics of literary worldedness in ways that recognise inequalities of power textual and material violence and literary and cultural resistance The collection revises current literary histories of the British world by arguing for the distinctiveness of settler colonialism in the southern hemisphere and by incorporating Indigenous diasporic and south south perspectives Civilian-Driven Violence and the Genocide of Indigenous Peoples in Settler Societies Mohamed Adhikari, 2021-07-12 Existing studies of settler colonial genocides explicitly consider the roles of metropolitan and colonial states and their military forces in the perpetration of exterminatory violence in settler colonial situations yet rarely pay specific attention to the dynamics around civilian driven mass violence against indigenous peoples In many cases however civilians were major if not the main perpetrators of such violence The focus of this book is thus on the role of civilians as perpetrators of exterminatory violence and on those elements within settler colonial situations that promoted mass violence on their part Languages of Australia's First Peoples in Narrative David Rose, 2024-08-08 Celebrating the diverse languages of Australia's First Peoples this book presents stories told by elders in eighteen languages from around the continent and explores their patterns of meaning The stories recount the experiences of the tellers and histories of their communities from tales of anti colonial resistance to origin stories of the Dreaming The book aims to make the languages accessible and engaging through the voices of the elders while building readers knowledge about language and language learning It opens with some basic language knowledge for reading the stories Each chapter then begins with the cultural and historical contexts of the stories which are first previewed in English translation then presented sentence by sentence setting out the original sounds and wordings glossed with plain English Extracts are selected to illustrate patterns of meanings that are characteristic of each language The final chapter sums up the various meaning patterns the stories use and interprets their evolution in the light of First Peoples deep histories as recorded by archaeology and traditional knowledge The book will be useful for language learning programs in communities and schools for researchers of language and language teaching and for any reader with an interest in the languages and cultures of Australia's First Peoples Genocide and Settler Society A. Dirk Moses, 2005-03-01 Colonial Genocide has been seen increasingly as a stepping stone to the European genocides of the twentieth century yet it remains an under researched phenomenon This volume reconstructs instances of Australian genocide and for the first time places them in a global context Beginning with the arrival of the British in 1788 and extending to the 1960s the authors identify the moments of radicalization and the escalation of British violence and ethnic engineering aimed at the Indigenous populations while carefully distinguishing between local massacres cultural genocide and genocide itself These essays reflect a growing concern with the nature of settler society in Australia and in particular with the fate of the tens of thousands of children who were forcibly taken away from their Aboriginal families by state agencies Long considered a relatively peaceful settlement Australian society contained many of the pathologies that led to the exterminatory and eugenic policies of twentieth century Europe The Antipodean Laboratory Anna Johnston, 2023-10-05 In this compelling study Anna Johnston shows how colonial knowledge from Australia influenced global thinking about convicts natural history and humanitarian concerns about Indigenous peoples These were fascinating topics for British readers and influenced government policies in fields such as prison reform the history of science and humanitarian and religious campaigns Using a rich variety of sources including natural history and botanical illustrations voyage accounts language studies Victorian literature and convict memoirs this multi disciplinary account charts how new ways of identifying classifying analysing and controlling ideas populations and environments were forged and circulated between colonies and through metropolitan centres They were also underpinned by cultural exchanges between European and Indigenous interlocutors and knowledge systems Johnston shows how colonial ideas were disseminated through a global network of correspondence and print culture Empire, Colony, Genocide A. Dirk Moses, 2008 In 1944 Raphael Lemkin coined the term genocide to describe a foreign occupation that destroyed or permanently crippled a subject population This text is a world history of genocide that highlights what Lemkin called the role of the human group and its tribulations Raupatu Richard S. Self and Social Identity in Educational Contexts Kenneth I. Mavor,Michael J. Platow,Boris Bizumic,2017-02-24 This innovative volume integrates social identity theory with research on teaching and education to shed new and fruitful light on a variety of different pedagogical concerns and practices It brings together researchers at the cutting edge of new developments with a wealth of teaching and research experience The work in this volume will have a significant impact in two main ways First and foremost the social identity approach that is applied will provide the theoretical and empirical platform for the development of new and creative forms of practice in educational settings Just as the application of this theory has made significant contributions in organisational and health settings a similar benefit will accrue for conceptual and practical developments related to learners and educators from small learning groups to larger institutional settings and in the development of professional identities that reach beyond the classroom The chapters demonstrate the potential of applying social identity theory to education and will stimulate increased research activity and interest in this domain By focusing on self social identity and education this volume investigates with unprecedented clarity the social and psychological processes by which learners personal and social self concepts shape and enhance learning and teaching Self and Social Identity in Educational Contexts will appeal to advanced students and researchers in education psychology and social identity theory It will also be of immense value to educational leaders and practitioners particularly at tertiary level

Blood and Soil Ben Kiernan, 2008 For thirty years Benedict Kiernan has been deeply involved in the study of genocide and crimes against humanity He has played a key role in unearthing confidential documentation of the atrocities committed by the Khmer Rouge His writings have transformed our understanding not only of twentieth century Cambodia but also of the historical phenomenon of genocide This new book andmdash the first global history of genocide and extermination from ancient times andmdash is among his most important achievements Kiernan examines outbreaks of mass violence from the classical era to the present focusing on worldwide colonial exterminations and twentieth century case studies including the Armenian genocide the Nazi Holocaust Stalin s mass murders and the Cambodian and Rwandan genocides He identifies connections patterns and features that in nearly every case gave early warning of the catastrophe to come racism or religious prejudice territorial expansionism and cults of antiquity and agrarianism The ideologies that have motivated perpetrators of mass killings in the past persist in our new century says Kiernan He urges that we heed the rich historical evidence with its telltale signs for predicting and preventing future genocides Indigenous Law Bulletin , 2000 The A to Z of Australia James C. Docherty, 2010-04-01 The last continent to be claimed by Europeans Australia began to be settled by the British in 1788 in the form of a jail for its convicts While British culture has had the largest influence on the country and its presence can be seen everywhere the British were not Australia s original populace The first inhabitants of Australia the Aborigines are believed to have migrated from Southeast Asia into northern Australia as early as 60 000 years ago This distinctive blend of vastly different cultures contributed to the ease with which Australia has become one of the world s most successful immigrant nations The A to Z of Australia relates the history of this unique and beautiful land which is home to an amazing range of flora and fauna a climate that ranges from tropical forests to arid deserts and the largest single collection of coral reefs and islands in the world Through a detailed chronology an introduction appendixes a bibliography and cross referenced dictionary entries on some of the more significant persons places and events institutions and organizations and political economic social cultural and religious facets author James Docherty provides a much needed single volume reference on Australia from its most unpromising of beginnings as a British jail to the liberal tolerant democracy it is today Australian Aboriginal Studies ,2003 Frontier Conflict Stephen Glynn Foster,Bain Attwood,2003 Based on a forum held at the National Museum in Canberra this book presents a series of essays by leading contributors on the subject of conflict between Aborigines and settlers The Europeans in Australia: Democracy Alan Atkinson,1997 This book takes the story from around 1815 to the early 1870s The author tells of the expansion and enrichment of the colonies and the emergence of democracy By exploring the nineteenth century communication revolution he also casts new light on the way Australia first took its place in a global world Book jacket Overland ,2003
