Goods And Not So Goods Consumer Economics For The 70s:

The Global 1970s Duco Hellema, 2018-09-03 No other decade evokes such contradictory images as the 1970s reform and emancipation on the one hand crisis and malaise on the other In The Global 1970s Radicalism Reform and Crisis Duco Hellema portrays the 1970s as a period of global transition Across the world the early and mid 1970s were still years of political mobilization with everything seemingly an object of public controversy and conflict including economic development education and family matters Social movements called for the reduction of social inequalities for participation and the emancipation of various groups at the same time as the rise of ambitious and reform oriented governments Ten years later a different world was emerging with the call for state controlled social and economic changes in decline and new economic policies centred on liberation and deregulation taking their place This book examines a range of explanations for this radical transformation highlighting how economic problems such as the oil crisis political battles and dramatic confrontations resulted in a free market oriented conservatism by the end of the period Divided into nine broadly chronological chapters and taking a global approach that allows the reader to see the familiar themes of the decade examined on an international scale The Global 1970s is essential reading for all students and scholars of twentieth century global history

Consumer Engineering, 1920s-1970s Jan Logemann, Gary Cross, Ingo Köhler, 2019-05-29 In the middle of the twentieth century a new class of marketing expert emerged beyond the familiar ad men of Madison Avenue Working as commercial designers consumer psychologists sales managers and market researchers these professionals were self defined consumer engineers and their rise heralded a new era of marketing To what extent did these efforts to engineer consumers shape consumption practices And to what extent was the phenomenon itself a product of broader social and cultural forces This collection considers consumer engineering in the context of the longer history of transatlantic marketing Contributors offer case studies on the roles of individual consumer engineers on both sides of the Atlantic the impact of such marketing practices on European economies during World War II and after and the conflicted relationship between consumer activists and the ideas of consumer engineering By connecting consumer engineering to a web of social processes in the twentieth century this volume contributes to a reassessment of consumer history more broadly

Introductory Economic Theory [NEHU, Shillong] HL Ahuja, This book begins with an introduction to economics highlighting the economic problem of scarcity and choice Further it goes on and discusses the scope of economics as well as acquaints the students with the methodologies of economics Basic microeconomic concepts such as demand supply competitive market equilibrium elasticity and indifference curve analysis of demand have been explained in a simple and lucid manner The book also dwells into theories of production distribution rent interest and profits It also discusses the market structures prevailing in the capitalist economy namely perfect competition and imperfect competition thoroughly highlighting the sub categories of imperfect competition such as monopolistic competition oligopoly and monopoly Concepts of average revenue and marginal revenue have also been discussed in the book The Prediction of Communist Economic Performance P. J. D. Wiles, 1971 This study represents attempts dating from 1967 by nine experts on Communist economics to forecast the performance of individual Communist countries These predictions provide a great deal of comparable information and make experimental use of elementary econometrical techniques which have rarely been applied to these countries before The book also contains as a unique feature criticism and self criticism of the predictions of 1967 here reproduced unchanged in the light of subsequent events A most valuable by product is the analytical comparison of planning procedures and of agricultural ownership country by country so that the differing progress of the reforms can be easily grasped Economic Report of the President United States.
