Edge Of The Fossil Sea:

At the Glacier's Edge Betsy McCully, 2024-05-17 Vast salt marshes ancient grasslands lush forests pristine beaches and dunes and copious inland waters all surrounded by a teeming sea These are probably not the first things you imagine when you think of Long Island but just beyond its highways and housing developments lies a stunning landscape full of diverse plant and animal life Combining science writing environmental history and first hand accounts from a longtime resident At the Glacier's Edge offers a unique narrative natural history of Long Island Betsy McCully tells the story of how the island was formed at the end of the last ice age how its habitats evolved and how humans in the last few hundred years have radically altered and degraded its landscape Yet as she personally recounts the habitat losses and species declines she has witnessed over the past few decades she describes the vital efforts that environmental activists are making to restore and reclaim this land from replanting salt marshes to preserving remaining grasslands and forests to cleaning up the waters At the Glacier's Edge provides an in depth look at the flora fauna and geology that make Long Island so special At the Sea's Edge

Cunliffe,2017 The story of the contest between humans and the sea played out in the Mediterranean and the Atlantic from early prehistory until AD 1500

On the Ocean Sir Barry Cunliffe,2017-12-15 For humans the sea is and always has been an alien environment Ever moving and ever changing in mood it is a place without time in contrast to the land which is fixed and scarred by human activity giving it a visible history While the land is familiar even reassuring the sea is unknown and threatening By taking to the sea humans put themselves at its mercy It has often been perceived to be an alien power teasing and cajoling The sea may give but it takes Why then did humans become seafarers Part of the answer is that we are conditioned by our genetics to be acquisitive animals we like to acquire rare materials and we are eager for esoteric knowledge and society rewards us well for both Looking out to sea most will be curious as to what is out there a mysterious island perhaps but what lies beyond Our innate inquisitiveness drives us to explore Barry Cunliffe looks at the development of seafaring on the Mediterranean and the Atlantic two contrasting seas the Mediterranean without a significant tide enclosed and soon to become familiar the Atlantic with its frightening tidal ranges an ocean without end We begin with the Middle Palaeolithic hunter gatherers in the eastern Mediterranean building simple vessels to make their remarkable crossing to Crete and we end in the early years of the sixteenth century with sailors from Spain Portugal and England establishing the limits of the ocean from Labrador to Patagonia The message is that the contest between humans and the sea has been a driving force perhaps the driving force in human history
