Hillman, 2020-11-30 This book examines the unsatisfactory situation in the Arab world where there is a pressing need to address poverty unemployment political instability corruption and the existential threat of climate change The authors analyze the relationships between universities and governments in the Arab world and make recommendations that will help develop intellectual capacity and thereby aid the economic and social transitions so desperately needed in all Arab countries Countries aspiring to participate fully in the global knowledge economy require dynamic university sectors operating in concert with governments that actively promote high quality education and research and foster innovation and entrepreneurship Successful university government relationships can be

complex and are continually evolving A Path Out of the Desert Kenneth Pollack, 2008-07-15 A persuasive but painful solution for dealing with the mess in the Middle East Kirkus The greatest danger to America's peace and prosperity notes leading Middle East policy analyst Kenneth M Pollack lies in the political repression economic stagnation and cultural conflict running rampant in Arab and Muslim nations By inflaming political unrest and empowering terrorists these forces pose a direct threat to America's economy and national security The impulse for America might be to turn its back on the Middle East in frustration over the George W Bush administration's mishandling of the Iraq War and other engagements with Arab and Muslim countries But such a move Pollack asserts will only exacerbate problems He counters with the idea that we must continue to make the Middle East a priority in our policy but in a humbler more humane more realistic and more cohesive way Pollack argues that Washington's greatest sin in its relations with the Middle East has been its persistent unwillingness to make the sustained and patient effort needed to help the people of the Middle East overcome the crippling societal problems facing their governments and societies As a result the United States has never had a workable comprehensive policy in the region just a skein of half measures intended either to avoid entanglement or to contain the influence of the Soviet Union Beyond identifying the stagnation of civic life in Arab and Muslim states and the cumulative effect of our misguided policies Pollack offers a long term strategy to ameliorate the political economic and social problems that underlie the region's many crises Through his suggested policies America can engage directly with the governments of the Middle East and indirectly with its people by means of cultural exchange commerce and other soft approaches He carefully examines each of the region's most contested areas including Iraq Iran Syria and Lebanon as well as the Israeli Palestinian peace process and explains how the United States can address each through mutually reinforcing policies At a time when the nation will be facing critical decisions about our continued presence in Iraq and Afghanistan A Path Out of the Desert is guaranteed to stimulate debate about America's humanitarian diplomatic and military involvement in the Middle East Education

Paul Shaw, 2015-05-15 R Paul Shaw has travelled widely in the Arab world obtaining data and gathering impressions first hand from national and local planners In this book he identifies population and manpower problems that are likely to become more serious and more difficult to solve if they are neglected at this early stage of Arab development He focuses on five broad areas which are directly or indirectly related to mobilizing human resources and his book will be of special interest to all those who are concerned with such issues as population migration employment inequality the emancipation of women construction and agriculture Dr Shaw proposes policy directives which are sensitive to the problems as they are seen by the Arab governments themselves and sets out practical guidelines which can be used by Arab planners and policy makers An important feature of the book with respect to current literature on Arab development is that it moves away from a preoccupation with growth related investments to a concentration on development related population manpower and employment issues By bringing together such comprehensive empirical and bibliographic information it will also be invaluable as a reference source for some twenty Arab countries First published in 1983
