Educational Reform And Its Consequences:

Educational Reform and Its Consequences Sally Tomlinson,1994 Understanding Educational Reform Raymond Horn,2002-11-05 The only handbook of its kind to bring together materials from a wide range of authoritative works providing the reader with a comprehensive overview of reform in American education Crafted in ten skillfully written chapters Educational Reform covers the history politics and processes of educational reform and addresses reforms in curriculum instruction and assessment Starting with a definition of educational reform and where its far reaching results can lead the work goes on to assess the role of the public in educational reform the educational reform industry and resistance to reform Of interest to school boards and administrators and useful in graduate and undergraduate courses in education it is written in a conversational tone that brings the subject out of the realm of dry analysis Readers will benefit not only from the numerous case studies that intersperse the themes discussed but also from the extensive bibliography of print and nonprint resources including websites listed for further study There is little doubt that the classroom must change to meet the needs of the 21st century read Educational Reform to learn just how Education Reform and the Limits of Policy Michael Addonizio,C. Philip Kearney,2012 The Political Economy of Education Reforms in Vietnam Minh Quang Nguyen,James Albright,2022-08-15 This book drawing on a political economic perspective of education development is a comprehensive account of the question why some education systems flourish while others falter It provides a state of the art review of the Vietnamese way of education development figuring out the pitfalls challenges and opportunities of neoliberal reform It also sheds new light on the rise of neoliberal capitalism in contemporary Vietnam as the country intensifies its market oriented economic transition Starting from educational development concerns this book differentiates the growth and development concepts in education While growth with limited development is well reflected in many developing education systems the Vietnamese experience of education development stands to provide readers with unique insights about education in developing economies especially in understanding how a socialist oriented education system is struggling to thrive in the times of neoliberal capitalism Authored by scholars specialising in Vietnamese education and politics the chapters address key issues pertaining to the political economy of education reform in Vietnam and the government s enduring efforts to drive education toward international standards through its costly market infused education reforms This book will appeal to postgraduate students educators educational policy makers and scholars interested in Vietnamese studies Vietnam education reforms education governance education for sustainability internationalisation of education and the politics of education reforms Globalization of Knowledge and Its Impact on Higher Education Reform in Transitioning States Katherine Kuhns,2011 The purpose of this dissertation is to try and understand the mechanisms that the Russian State uses to reform higher education and thus help ensure its legitimacy within the context of the new global knowledge economy Most of the discussions to date on the globalization of knowledge the role of higher education and their combined impact on states competitiveness focus on developed or developing countries Very little discussion surrounds the issues faced by countries in economic and political transition Countries in transition are frequently torn in two opposing directions it is necessary for them to focus inward for their own internal stability and growth yet they are very cognizant of the need to integrate into the world economy and correctly direct their internal growth towards international competitiveness Often the pull between authoritarian tendencies and liberal economic necessities paralyzes such a State s ability to definitively choose the most appropriate path for growth Contemporary Russia exemplifies these contradictory tendencies and necessities While all of the countries in the former Soviet Union participated in the same economic and social system for a good part of the last century Russia is possibly the closest to the innovation centers in the West in terms of research culture and history its current educational and technological capabilities and its professed desire to compete equally in the new global economy Given Russia s long history and strong tradition of higher education particularly in the sciences the country stands to gain from participating in this new global arena Yet the result will depend on the future of its higher education system Because of Russia s apparent uncertainty about its political direction the Russian higher education system faces important questions about how institutional reform will take place and the future of the system s relationship with a State that is itself going through complex changes The globalization of knowledge required by an integrated world economic system has ramifications for each country s system of higher education In light of these new global demands and expectations how does a traditionally authoritarian and nationalistic state in economic and political transition respond to these new global demands for improving higher educational quality and to internal demands for greater institutional autonomy Is an authoritarian state able to rationalize its financial constraints with the societal expectation of mass equitable access to higher education against the pressure to make the national economy more globally competitive To answer the aforementioned questions requires a theoretical framework that takes into account the relationship between State governance structures and higher educational institutions while simultaneously taking into consideration how the State reacts to increasing global pressures and expectations The Russian State is defined in this dissertation as an arena in which political power is contested by the country s economic and political elites At the same time the State realizes it must represent a majority of the populace in order not to jeopardize its hold on power It does this primarily through legitimation of its actions by providing social services Contestation takes place when a State is trying to recreate its power at the same time it is trying to be legitimized The main contestation therefore is not necessarily within and among the elites but between the elites and the population as a whole To be seen as legitimate the State will try and provide good services for the populace to satisfy their demands and thus minimize contestation However this provision of services is only for as long as the populace does not attempt to interfere with the State s version of power The provision of social goods serves as a social contract between the ruling elites and the larger population The educational system and the State have a relationship of compensatory legitimation the State attempts to purchase legitimacy by providing public goods such as education. Legitimation becomes even more important in a global environment where domestic legitimation would have sufficed in the past; now the need for legitimation extends to the international realm as well. To be considered an educated society, a State must provide a strong educational system that meets international standards. Yet as the State tries to exert control over the higher education system in order to maintain quality, contestation takes place between the State and the intellectual leaders in educational institutions and higher education consumers, both of which have a large stake in the reform process. To ascertain the relationship between the Russian State and political and economic elites and administrators of institutions of higher education and the efficacy of the State's rationalization of the reform process, a series of interviews was conducted with over 60 university regional and local governmental officials and Ministry of Education and Science officials. The institutions were chosen from a larger study of universities undertaken by State University Higher School of Economics Moscow (2008-2011). While evaluating my interviews with Russian higher education administrators, I looked for four identifiers of Russia's willingness to reform higher education: international competitiveness, symbols of domestic legitimacy, academic standards reform, and quality improvement; symbols of international legitimacy, accession to Bologna Process, the professionalization of Russian HE, creation of elite institutions, and symbols of institutional autonomy, institutional mergers and closures. One might imagine that the State would attempt to assert control over all aspects of the reform process, most especially in the creation of new academic standards and institutional autonomy. However, the evidence for assertion of control over the higher education system becomes apparent through the indirect financial levers that the State can employ, e.g., direct funding of elite institutions and institutional mergers. The higher education system in Russia is State funded and centrally overseen from Moscow, which already gives it enormous leverage over higher educational institutions. But the control mechanism is through funding or lack thereof and not direct coercion. Thus, only part of what we observe in the actual reform process of the Russian higher education system is about modernization and globalization. The remaining thrust of the reform effort revolves around the rationalization of financing, balanced against the need to create world-class universities. This rationalization is important because of the possibility of a decline in demand for higher education in the near term due to the changing demographic situation. It also serves as a mechanism by which the State can regain more effective central control of the higher education system and ensure a quality system that will be able to further the country's economic development. Despite the fact that the Russian State takes very seriously the need for higher education reform, the State reforms might not work because of the reluctance of university intellectuals, the lack of financing should the global economy and the price of oil decline, the public outcry at mass institutional closures, and the ineffectiveness of the State itself. If this were to happen, the State might have to revert to direct coercion, which might make things worse in the long run, both domestically and internationally. As history has demonstrated, the State is ultimately not the most efficient and effective reformer. This inability leads to chaos in the reform process and further undermines the reforms American Post-Conflict Educational Reform N. Daniel Raisch, 2010-01-12 Educational reform and to a lesser extent educational dissent occupy a prominent place in the annals of U S education Whether based on religious cultural social philosophical or pedagogical grounds they are ever present in our educational history Although some reforms have been presented as a remedy for society's ills most programs were aimed toward practical transformation of the existing system to ensure that each child will have a better opportunity to succeed in U S society Educational reform is a topic rich with ideas rife with controversy and vital in its outcome for school patrons educators and the nation as a whole With nearly 450 entries these two volumes comprise the first reference work to bring together the strands of reform and reformers and dissent and dissenters in one place as a resource for parents policymakers scholars teachers and those studying to enter the teaching profession Key Features Opens with a historical overview of educational reform and dissent and a timeline of key reforms legislation publications and more Examines the reform or dissent related to education found in theories concepts ideas writings research and practice Addresses how reformers and dissenters become significant culture shaping people and change the way we conduct our lives Key Themes Accountability Biographies Concepts and Theories Curriculum and Instruction Diversity Finances and Economics Government Organizations Advisory Organizations Business and Foundations Organizations Curriculum Organizations Government Organizations Professional Organizations Think Tanks Public Policy Religion and Religious Education Reports School Types Special Needs Technology This authoritative work fills a void in the literature in the vast areas of educational reform and dissent making it a must have resource for any academic library Availability in print and electronic formats provides students with convenient easy access wherever they may be Common Core Meets Education Reform Frederick M. Hess, Michael Q. McShane, 2014 How can the Common Core complement and not conflict with school improvement efforts already at work across the United States How can it be seamlessly integrated into accountability systems teacher preparation and development charter schools and educational technology This timely volume brings together prominent scholars and policy analysts to examine the pressing issues that will mark Common Core implementation Whether or not you agree with the standards the Common Core is coming and this book will help policymakers practitioners and other stakeholders anticipate the challenges and take steps to address them Common Core Meets Education Reform raises the hard questions about implementing and sustaining the Common Core State Standards so they don't end up in the dustbin of abandoned public education reforms These new standards can help students enormously in becoming problem solvers and critical thinkers which is essential in the 21st century but only if teachers become engaged in the rollout get the support they need and the fixation on high stakes testing gives way to a fixation on learning Randi Weingarten president American Federation of Teachers Adopting the Common Core in a mad dash for federal gold policymakers across the country blew right past critical questions about how they implement the thing This volume in stark contrast meticulously studies the road ahead seeking out tripwires pitfalls and boulders making it a must read for anyone who hopes to avoid total Common Core disaster Neal McCluskey associate director Center for Educational Freedom Cato Institute Washington DC This balanced wide ranging and deeply informed book is certain to guide educators and reformers through a complex time of transition for U S education But it also turns out to be timely and clarifying as politicians battle over ambitious new academic standards with plenty of heat and smoke but appallingly little illumination Thanks to the authors for turning on some lights Chester E Finn Jr senior fellow Hoover Institution Stanford University and president Thomas B Fordham Institute Frederick M Hess is director of education policy studies at the American Enterprise Institute AEI and serves as executive editor of Education Next Michael Q McShane is a research fellow in education policy studies at AEI

Special Education and School Reform in the United States and Britain Maggie McLaughlin, 2002-01-22 This book is about how special education policy and practice is being negotiated within the context of educational reform in two countries The political climate of recent years in both Britain and the USA led to many changes along similar lines with a move towards placing greater power and choice in the hands of those individuals with special educational needs Each chapter provides an overview and comparative analysis of the origins and evolution of specific educational reforms in the USA and the UK The themes explored include providing parents with greater choice decentralising decision making making the whole curriculum available to all accountability funding the necessary changes

Problems and Possibilities of Neoliberal Education Reforms Mustafa Toprak, 2024-11-14 Neoliberal education reforms promise but often don't succeed to improve student outcomes and provide more equitable educational opportunities to students with different backgrounds They hold schools accountable for their performance through high stakes testing and linking performance to rewards and sanctions and by empowering parents This book presents a critical and objective appraisal of these neoliberalist education reforms Mustafa Toprak considers the practical elements of neoliberal reforms including voucher systems choice accountability competition within and between schools educational inequalities and high stakes testing and in doing this contributes to social justice debates and the idea of education as a common good He uses reforms in Chile as a case study and offers a critique of its neoliberal educational reforms Rather than discrediting all the central tenets of neoliberal education Toprak considers the pros and cons of these reforms for students teachers schools and societies and proposes new reforms to ensure that policies accurately and responsively address the needs of all stakeholders

Education Reform: The Unwinding of Intelligence and Creativity Des Griffin, 2013-12-19 This book pays special attention to the impact that a student's early childhood and socioeconomic status has on his or her educational achievement It argues that discussions of education reform need a broader scope one that encompasses a student's background as well as standardized testing merit pay for teachers and other issues regarding the quality of the teaching and learning Education Reform the Unwinding of Intelligence and Creativity features cases and examples from schools in Australia the USA and

Britain It offers a breadth of coverage from early childhood to effective teaching and learning to teacher pay and conditions standardized testing and public and private independent schooling and universities as well as creativity It also includes summaries of educational policies in many developed countries Reforms which emphasize concern for early childhood school leadership and respect for teachers are contrasted with ones based on standardized tests private schools and sacking bad teachers
