

Gothic Architecture and its Meanings 1550-1830

Edited by Michael Hall

After the acceptance of the Classical style in Britain in the early 16th century, Gothic went into an eclipse that lasted over three hundred years. Most historians have marginalised Gothic architecture during those centuries by treating it as either prehistoric antiquarianism or neo-classicism. Now the buildings and the ideas that lay behind them are coming to be better understood. Gothic is emerging from the shadows as an architecture of power, in providing a new point with a Georgian Group symposium, takes a fresh look at contrasting the history of the Gothic Revival through new research by several distinguished architectural historians. It sheds light on an understudied phase of British architecture – by turns beautiful, idiosyncratic and politically charged.

Gothic Architecture Its Meaning 1550 1830:

Gothic Architecture and Its Meanings 1550-1830 Michael Hall, 2002 This book has its origins in a symposium organised by Michael Hall for the Georgian Group on October 28 2000 t p verso Architecture and Interpretation Jill Franklin, T. A. Heslop, Christine Stevenson, 2012 Essays centred on the methods pleasures and pitfalls of architectural interpretation Enlightenment Travel and British Identities Mary-Ann Constantine, Nigel Leask, 2017-04-15 Weaving together science history antiquarianism and art this stimulating collection of essays amply demonstrates Thomas Pennant s centrality to a broad range of British Enlightenment debates and discourses especially those relating to Britain s so called Celtic Fringe At the same time it underscores the epistemological importance of travel and travel writing in the late eighteenth century Carl Thompson Senior Lecturer in English St Mary s University UK Sacred Text -- Sacred Space , 2011-11-11 This book is not designed to define the sacred It is rather a bringing together of case histories a rich varied collection from medieval early modern and nineteenth century contexts in England and Wales that goes beyond familiar paradigms to explore the dynamic protean interaction in different times and places between sacred space and text Essentially an interdisciplinary enterprise it focuses a range of historical and critical methodologies on that complex process of transformation and transmission whereby spiritual intuitions experiences and teachings are made palpable in art and architecture poetry and prayer in histories scriptures and liturgies even landscapes So the sacred variously constructed and inscribed makes itself felt on the pulse is a presence a voice even now not stilled Fenestration Practice and Theory in Early Modern Europe Hentie Louw, 2024-06-05 This book explores the transformation of the window during the Early Modern Period in Europe Following the Italian Renaissance new stylistic norms for modern classical windows had to be invented Building a new classical repertoire drew on existing traditions in fenestration as local builders throughout Europe struggled with the constraints of varying climatic conditions customs and physical resources in pursuit of a broader vision of an international classical revival With the Renaissance the architectural emphasis shifted towards secular design and as the classical revival gained momentum a quest for a cultured lifestyle commensurate with the new architecture increased demand for sophisticated fenestration systems in civil architecture The movement coincided with a period of dramatic climate change the so called Little Ice Age c 1450 c 1850 adding urgency to the campaign for transforming fenestration practice By the late seventeenth century Northern European builders had developed appropriate indigenous classical window forms for their respective societies functional products sophisticated enough to form the basis of new architectural styles northern classical traditions that rivalled and in some respects surpassed those created in Italy Their achievement was embodied in the two flagships of the movement the Franco Italian folding casement the French window and the English mechanical sliding window the sash window Ghost Storeys Cameron Macdonell, 2017-07-04 Most studies of modern Gothic media assume that beyond the 1830s modern Gothic architecture and literature had very little in common The work of

Ralph Adams Cram 1863 1942 America's most prolific Gothic Revival architect and an author of ghost stories challenges that assumption The first interdisciplinary study of Cram's aesthetics Cameron Macdonell's Ghost Storeys deconstructs the boundaries of Gothic architecture and literature through a microhistory of St Mary's Anglican Church in Walkerville Ontario Focusing on Cram and the church's main patron Edward Walker 1851 1915 Macdonell explores the intricate intersections of Gothic aesthetics architectural ethics literature theology cultural values and community construction in an Edwardian era company town When Walker commissioned the church he believed that its economy of salvation could save him from the syphilis that afflicted his body and stained his soul However while implementing that economy Cram whose architectural theory social commentary and ghost stories were pessimistic about reviving the Gothic in the modern world also created an architecture haunted by the sickness of humanity Painstakingly researched and lavishly illustrated Ghost Storeys redefines the allegorical relationship between a marginalized church and the Gothic Revival movement as a global interdisciplinary phenomenon
