Geopolitics Of Academic Writing:

A Geopolitics Of Academic Writing A. Suresh Canagarajah, 2002-12-15 A Geopolitics of Academic Writing critiques current scholarly publishing practices exposing the inequalities in the way academic knowledge is constructed and legitimized As a periphery scholar now working in and writing from the center Suresh Canagarajah is uniquely situated to demonstrate how and why contributions from Third World scholars are too often relegated to the perimeter of academic discourse He examines three broad conventions governing academic writing textual concerns matters of languages style tone and structure social customs the rituals governing the interactions of members of the academic community and publishing practices from submission protocols to photocopying and postage requirements Canagarajah argues that the dominance of Western conventions in scholarly communication leads directly to the marginalization or appropriation of the knowledge of Third World communities

The Handbook of Critical Literacies Jessica Zacher Pandya, Raúl Alberto Mora, Jennifer Helen Alford, Noah Asher Golden, Roberto Santiago de Roock, 2021-09-07. The Handbook of Critical Literacies aims to answer the timely question: what are the social responsibilities of critical literacy academics, researchers, and teachers in today's world? Critical literacies are classically understood as ways to interrogate texts and contexts to address injustices, and they are an essential literacy practice. Organized into thematic and regional sections, this handbook provides substantive definitions of critical literacies across fields and geographies, surveys of critical literacy work in over 23 countries and regions, and overviews of research practice and conceptual connections to established and emerging theoretical frameworks. The chapters on global critical literacy practices include research on language acquisition, the teaching of literature and English language arts, Youth Participatory Action Research, environmental justice movements, and more. This pivotal handbook enables new and established researchers to position their studies within highly relevant directions in the field and engage, organize, disrupt, and build as we work for more sustainable social and material relations. A groundbreaking text, this handbook is a definitive resource and an essential companion for students, researchers, and scholars in the field.

The Routledge Companion to English Studies Constant Leung, Brian V. Street, 2014-03-14. English is now a global phenomenon no longer defined by fixed territorial, cultural, and social functions. The Routledge Companion to English Studies provides an authoritative overview of the subject area. Taking into account the changing conceptualisations of English, this Companion considers both historical trajectories and contemporary perspectives whilst also showcasing the state-of-the-art contributions made by the established scholars of the field. The Routledge Companion to English Studies provides a set of broad perspectives on English as a subject of study and research, highlights the importance of the link between English and other languages within the concepts of multilingualism and polylingualism, investigates the use of language in communication through the medium of digital technology, covering key issues such as Digital Literacies, Multimodal Literacies, and Games, and Broadcast Language. It explores the role of English in education, taking account of social, ethnographic, and global perspectives on pedagogical issues. This collection of thirty-four newly commissioned articles provides a comprehensive and up-to-date picture of the dynamic and diverse field of English Studies and will be an invaluable text for advanced students and researchers in this area.

Challenging Tradition Perry Shaw, Havilah Dharamraj, 2018-03-31. The surge of theological education in the rapidly growing church of the Majority World has highlighted the inadequacy of traditional Western methods of thinking and learning to fully accomplish the task at hand. The limitations of current theological education are embodied in the formation and assessment of the master's or doctoral dissertation processes that follow a linear empiricist tradition developed in the West and exported to the Majority World Challenging Tradition Innovation in Advanced Theological Studies highlights the need for these traditions to be reconsidered in every context throughout the world Drs Shaw and Dharamraj with their team of contributors present innovations in research and documentation that demonstrate how we may better prepare theological leadership through means that are contextually relevant and locally meaningful The Routledge Doctoral Supervisor's Companion Melanie Walker, Pat Thomson, 2010-04-19 Accompanying The Routledge Doctoral Student's Companion this book examines what it means to be a doctoral student in education and the social sciences providing a guide for those supervising students Exploring the key role and pedagogical challenges that face supervisors in students' personal development the contributors outline the research capabilities which are essential for confidence, quality and success in doctorate level research Providing guidance about helpful resources and methodological support the chapters frame important questions within the history of debates act as a road map through international literatures make suggestions for good practice raise important questions and provide answers to key pedagogical issues provide advice on enabling students' scholarly careers and identities While there is no one solution to ideal supervision this wide ranging text offers resources that will help supervisors develop their own personal approach to supervision Ideal for all supervisors whether assisting part time or full time students it is also highly suitable for helping academics to support international students who confront Western doctoral traditions and academic cultures helping both supervisor and student to understand why things are as they are
