Disability and Postsocialism

Teodor Mladenov, 2017-08-07 In the decades following the collapse of state socialism at the end of 1980s disabled people in Central and Eastern Europe endured economic marginalisation cultural devaluation and political disempowerment Some of the mechanisms producing these injustices were inherited from state socialism while others emerged with postsocialist neoliberalisation State socialism promised social security guaranteed by the public and postsocialist neoliberalisation promised independent living underpinned by the market This book argues that both promises failed as far as disabled people were concerned drawing on a wide range of scholarly reports and analyses policy documents legislation and historical accounts as well as on disability studies and social justice theory Besides differences the book also illuminates continuities between state socialism and postsocialist capitalism providing on this basis a more general and historically grounded critique of contemporary neoliberalisation and its impact on individual and collective life The book will appeal to anyone interested in disability studies and postsocialism as well as social policy social movements and critical theory It will also be of interest to professionals involved in disability related service provision as well as to disability activists and policy makers

The Triumph of Broken Promises

Fritz Bartel, 2022-08-09 A powerful case that the economic shocks of the 1970s hastened both the end of the Cold War and the rise of neoliberalism by forcing governments to impose austerity on their own people Why did the Cold War come to a peaceful end And why did neoliberal economics sweep across the world in the late twentieth century In this pathbreaking study Fritz Bartel argues that the answer to these questions is one and the same The Cold War began as a competition between capitalist and communist governments to expand their social contracts as they raced to deliver their people a better life But the economic shocks of the 1970s made promises of better living untenable on both sides of the Iron Curtain Energy and financial markets placed immense pressure on governments to discipline their social contracts Rather than make promises political leaders were forced to break them In a sweeping narrative The Triumph of Broken Promises tells the story of how the pressure to break promises spurred the end of the Cold War In the West neoliberalism provided Western leaders like Ronald Reagan and Margaret Thatcher with the political and ideological tools to shut down industries impose austerity and favor the interests of capital over labor But in Eastern Europe revolutionaries like Lech Walesa in Poland resisted any attempt at imposing market discipline Mikhail Gorbachev tried in vain to reform the Soviet system but the necessary changes ultimately presented too great a challenge Faced with imposing economic discipline antithetical to communist ideals Soviet style governments found their legitimacy irreparably damaged But in the West politicians could promote austerity as an antidote to the excesses of ideological opponents setting the stage for the rise of the neoliberal global economy

China-US Competition Simona A. Grano, David Wei Feng Huang, 2023-01-01 This open access edited book brings together a closer examination of European and Asian responses to the escalating rivalry between the US and China As the new Cold War has surfaced as a perceivable reality in the post COVID era the topic itself is of great importance to policymakers academic researchers and the interested public Furthermore this manuscript makes a valuable contribution to an under studied and increasingly important phenomenon in international relations the impact of the growing strategic competition between the United States and China on third parties such as small and middle powers in the two arguably most affected regions of the world Europe and East Asia The European side has been under studied and explicitly comparative work on Europe and East Asia is extremely rare Given that the manuscript focuses heavily on recent developments and because many of these developments have been quite dramatic there are very few publications that cover the same topics Politics Virginie Mamadouh, 2017-05-15 Depending on the breadth or narrowness of the understanding of politics and the political politics in human geography is defined as either the operation of power in all social relations or the workings of power directed to or by the state This volume avoids the two extremes by acknowledging the transformation of approaches to the political in human geography over the past few decades but also by highlighting the continued importance of the more traditional state based conception of politics The selected articles are clustered around six themes new agendas in political geography state territoriality international relations and globalization internal territorial organisation and geographical scale social movements and electoral participation and identities and citizenship Germany In Transition Gale A.

Mattox, 2019-02-26 This book focuses on themes ranging from foreign and European affairs economic and business issues and eastern Germany to minority rights issues It contains remarks given before conferences of the Robert Bosch Foundation Alumni Association which focuses on Germany's international role Air University Periodical Index, 1955 The Rise and Decline of the Asian Century Christopher Lingle, 1998 He points out that many of institutions credited with the miracle performance of East Asian economies cannot withstand close scrutiny Their short term virtue can be shown to be long term vice irreparably harming the region's prospects for sustainable economic and social progress The coming period should neither be considered the end of an American century nor the beginning of an Asian century Instead it should be constructively regarded as the dawn of a global millennium in which an increasingly internationalized economy will raise the living standards of even greater numbers of people

Landscapes of Realism Dirk Göttsche, Rosa Mucignat, Robert Weninger, 2021-04-15 Few literary phenomena are as elusive and yet as persistent as realism While it responds to the perennial impulse to use literature to reflect on experience it also designates a specific set of literary and artistic practices that emerged in response to Western modernity Landscapes of Realism is a two volume collaborative interdisciplinary exploration of this vast territory bringing together leading edge new criticism on the realist paradigms that were first articulated in nineteenth century Europe but have since gone on globally to transform the literary landscape Tracing the manifold ways in which these paradigms are developed discussed and contested across time space cultures and media this first volume tackles in its five core essays and twenty five case studies such questions as why realism emerged when it did why and how it developed such a transformative dynamic across languages to what extent realist poetics remain central to art and popular culture after 1900 and how generally to reassess realism from a twenty first century comparative perspective
