Franju Raymond Durnan, 1968 The X List Jami Bernard, 2009-04-20 National Society of Film Critics dares to go where few mainstream critics have gone before to the heart of what gets the colored lights going as they say in A Streetcar Named Desire Here is their take on the films that quicken their and our pulses an enterprise both risky and risqué an entertaining overview of the most arousing films Hollywood has every produced But make no mistake about it This isn't a collection of esoteric critic's choice movies The films reflect individual taste rubbing against the grain of popular wisdom And because of the personal nature of the erotic forces at play these essays will reveal more about the individual critics than perhaps they have revealed thus far to their readers The Society is a world renowned marquee name organization embracing some of America's most distinguished critics more than forty writers who have followings nationally as well as devoted local constituencies in such major cities as New York Chicago Los Angeles Boston Philadelphia Atlanta and Minneapolis Yes The X List will have something for every lover of film and for every lover

Nonfiction Film Richard Barsam, 1992-11-22 Richard Barsam has given us as comprehensive a study of the origins and development of the nonfiction mode in motion pictures as we are ever likely to have in one volume He draws on all the major written sources and many which are little known and he shares with us many eloquent descriptions of the films themselves giving us a valuable textbook Richard Dyer MacCann superb work Historical Journal of Film Radio and Television

Cutting Edge Joan Hawkins, 2000 Documenting the Documentary Barry Keith Grant, Jeannette Sloniowski, 1998 Documenting the Documentary features essays by 27 film scholars from a wide range of critical and theoretical perspectives Each essay focuses on one or two important documentaries engaging in questions surrounding ethics ideology politics power race gender and representation but always in terms of how they arise out of or are involved in the reading of specific documentaries as particular textual constructions By closely reading documentaries as rich visual works this anthology fills a void in the critical writing on documentaries which tends to privilege production over aesthetic pleasure As we increasingly perceive and comprehend the world through visual media understanding the textual strategies by which individual documentaries are organized has become critically important Documenting the Documentary offers clear serious and insightful analyses of documentary films and is a welcome balance between theory and criticism abstract conceptualization and concrete analysis

Shocking Representation Adam Lowenstein, 2005-11-09 In this imaginative new work Adam Lowenstein explores the ways in which a group of groundbreaking horror films engaged the haunting social conflicts left in the wake of World War II Hiroshima and the Vietnam War Lowenstein centers Shocking Representation around readings of films by Georges Franju Michael Powell Shindo Kaneto Wes Craven and David Cronenberg He shows that through allegorical representations these directors' films confronted and challenged comforting historical narratives and notions of national identity intended to soothe public anxieties in the aftermath of national traumas Borrowing elements from art cinema and the horror genre these directors disrupted the boundaries between high and low cinema Lowenstein contrasts their works often dismissed by contemporary critics with the films of acclaimed New Wave directors in France England Japan and the United States He argues that these New Wave films which were embraced as both art and national cinema often upheld conventional ideas of nation history gender and class questioned by the horror films By fusing film studies with the emerging field of trauma studies and drawing on the work of Walter Benjamin Adam Lowenstein offers a bold reassessment of the modern horror film and the idea of national cinema

Horror Films - Virgin Film James Marriott, 2012-03-31 From the slick horror of Alien, Scream, and The Ring and the cult classics Dracula, Frankenstein, and The Mummy to the slasher icons Jason, Freddy, and Leatherface, horror just won't stay dead. The genre has earned its place in the moviegoing psyche with many of the key films spawning numerous copycats. But what are the 20 most influential horror films of all time? And what made them so important? James Marriott gives an incisive account of the definitive works and the most influential directors of the genre over the last 80 years, from silent Expressionist classics to Japanese wraiths. The book reveals the inspiration behind each film and examines the choice of director, cast, soundtrack, and marketing. Marriott analyzes the critical reception of each film and examines the subsequent impact on the industry and the public worldwide.

Creaturely Poetics Anat Pick, 2011 Simone Weil once wrote that the vulnerability of precious things is beautiful because vulnerability is a mark of existence, establishing a relationship between vulnerability, beauty, and existence transcending the separation of species. Her conception of a radical ethics and aesthetics could be characterized as a new poetics of species, forcing a rethinking of the body's significance, both human and animal. Exploring the logic of flesh and the use of the body to mark species identity, Anat Pick reimagines a poetics that begins with the vulnerability of bodies, not the omnipotence of thought. Pick proposes a creaturely approach based on the shared embodiedness of humans and animals and a postsecular perspective on human-animal relations. She turns to literature, film, and other cultural texts, challenging the familiar inventory of the human, consciousness, language, morality, and dignity. Reintroducing Weil's elaboration of such themes as witnessing, commemoration, and collective memory, Pick identifies the animal within all humans, emphasizing the corporeal and its issues of power and freedom. In her poetics, the creaturely powerlessness is the point at which aesthetic and ethical thinking must begin.

Binghamton Babylon Scott M. MacDonald, 2015-08-31 Documents a volatile and productive moment in the development of film studies. In Binghamton Babylon, Scott M. MacDonald documents one of the crucial moments in the history of cinema studies: the emergence of a cinema department at what was then the State University of New York at Binghamton, now Binghamton University, between 1967 and 1977. The department brought together a group of faculty and students who not only produced a remarkable body of films and videos but went on to invigorate the American media scene for the next half century. Drawing on interviews with faculty students and visiting artists MacDonald weaves together an engaging conversation that explores the academic excitement surrounding the emergence of cinema as a viable subject of study in colleges and universities The voices of the various participants Steve Anker Alan Berliner Danny Fingeroth Hollis Frampton Ernie Gehr J Hoberman Ralph Hocking Ken Jacobs Bill T Jones Peter Kubelka Saul Levine Camille Paglia Phil Solomon Maureen Turim and many others tell the story of this remarkable period MacDonald concludes with an analysis of the pedagogical dimensions of the films that were produced in Binghamton including Larry Gottheim's Horizons Jacobs's Tom Tom the Piper's Son Gehr's Serene Velocity Frampton's Critical Mass and Nicholas Ray's final film We Can't Go Home Again This is an important episode in film history and in particular the history of the cinematic avant garde and it is exciting to have so many voices from the time assembled in one volume A terrific book Dana Polan Cinema Studies New York University Binghamton Babylon is an enormously important contribution to film video and media historiography David Sterritt author of The Cinema of Clint Eastwood Chronicles of America
