Providing a historical perspective to the contemporary resurgence of British cinema, this unique anthology brings together leading international scholars to investigate the rich diversity of British film production from the early sound period of the 1930s to the present day. The contributors address British Cinema Studies and the concept of national cinema, the distribution and reception of British films in the US and Europe, key genres, movements, and cycles of British cinema in the 1940s, 50s, and 60s, questions of authorship and agency, with case studies of individual studios, stars, producers, and directors, trends in British cinema from propaganda films of the Second World War to the New Wave and the Swinging London films of the Sixties, the representation of marginalised communities in films such as Trainspotting and The Full Monty, the evolution of social realism from Saturday Night Sunday Morning to Nil By Mouth, changing approaches to Northern Ireland and the Troubles in films like The Long Good Friday and Alan Clarke's Elephant, contemporary art and quality cinema from heritage drama to the work of Peter Greenaway, Derek Jarman, Terence Davies, and Patrick Keiller. Rebel Writers: The Accidental Feminists Celia Brayfield, 2019-07-25 Make this your next inspirational read. Trust us, it's Oprah's Book Club worthy. Vice In London in 1958, a play by a 19-year-old redefined women's writing in Britain. It also began a movement that would change women's lives forever. The play was A Taste of Honey, and the author Shelagh Delaney was the first in a succession of young women who wrote about their lives with an honesty that dazzled the world. They rebelled against sexism, inequality, and prejudice, and in doing so, challenged the existing definitions of what writing and writers should be. Bypassing the London cultural elite, their work reached audiences of millions around the world, paved the way for profound social changes, and laid the foundations of second-wave feminism. After Delaney came Edna O'Brien, Lynne Reid Banks, Charlotte Bingham, Nell Dunn, Virginia Ironside, and Margaret Forster, an extraordinarily disparate group who were united in their determination to shake the traditional concepts of womanhood in novels, films, television, essays, and journalism. They were as angry as the Angry Young Men, but were also more constructive and proposed new ways to live and love in the future. They did not intend to become a literary movement, but they did inspire other writers to follow. Not since the Brontës have a group of young women been so determined to tell the truth about what it is like to be a girl. In this biographical study, the acclaimed author Celia Brayfield tells their story for the first time. Infographic Guide to Movies Karen Krizanovich, 2024-07-16 An informative and entertaining collection of statistics about movies from the era of silent films to the present day.
