Geostatistical Simulations M. Armstrong, P.A. Dowd, 2013-06-29 When this two day meeting was proposed it was certainly not conceived as a celebration much less as a party However on reflection this might have been a wholly appropriate gesture because geostatistical simulation came of age this year it is now 21 years since it was first proposed and implemented in the form of the turning bands method The impetus for the original development was the mining industry principally the problems encountered in mine planning and design based on smoothed estimates which did not reflect the degree of variability and detail present in the real mined values The sustained period of development over recent years has been driven by hydrocarbon applications In addition to the original turning bands method there are now at least six other established methods of geostatistical simulation Having reached adulthood it is entirely appropriate that geostatistical simulation should now be subjected to an intense period of reflection and assessment That we have now entered this period was evident in many of the papers and much of the discussion at the Fontainebleau meeting Many questions were clearly articulated for the first time and although many of them were not unambiguously answered their presentation at the meeting and publication in this book will generate confirmatory studies and further research

geoENV I — Geostatistics for Environmental Applications A.O. Soares, Jaime Gómez-Hernández, Roland Froidevaux, 2013-06-29 GeoENV96 the First European Conference on Geostatistics for Environmental Applications held in Lisbon was conceived to bring together researchers mostly from but not limited to Europe working on environmental issues

approached by geostatistical methods Papers were attracted from fields as diverse as hydrogeology biology soil sciences air pollution or ecology It is clear that there is a lot of activity on geostatistics for environmental applications as the collection of papers in this book reveals GeoENV96 was successful in the number and quality of the papers presented which surpassed the initial expectations There is still a large dispersion on the level of application of geostatistics in the different areas To help in spreading the most novel applications of geostatistics across disciplines and to discuss the specific problems related to the application of geostatistics to environmental applications geoENV96 is intended to set the pace and to be the first of a series of biennial meetings The pace is set now let us wait for geoENV98 Lisbon November 1996 The Executive Committee Jaime Gomez Hernandez Roland Froidevaux Amílcar Soares
