Building New Worlds, 1946-1959 John Boston, Damien Broderick, 2013-02-13 Building New Worlds is a history of a pivotal decades long episode in the birth and growth of today's science fiction Enthralling and amusing it's written with affection and wit This is no dry modishly theorized academic analysis Nor is it a rah rah celebration of the Good Old Days Here is a candid and astute reader's response to a magazine that by today's standards was often comically bad but was also immensely important in its time and improved like the Little Engine or maybe Starship That Could New Worlds is best remembered today as the fountainhead of the New Wave of audacious experimental SF in the second half of the 1960s under editor Michael Moorcock But these first pioneering issues from 1946-59 were edited by the magazine's founder John Ted Carnell 1912-72 Carnell was a pillar of the old style UK SF establishment but gamely supportive of innovators most famously of the brilliant J G Ballard Brian W Aldiss and John Brunner whose early work he nurtured The story of how New Worlds got started survived and got better is essential to the history of the genres of the fantastic in the UK and indeed the world And huge fun to read Watch for the companion volumes New Worlds Before the New Wave and Strange Highways dealing with New World's companion magazine Science Fantasy

Cognitive and Neuropsychological Approaches to Mental Imagery M. Denis, Johannes Engelkamp, John T.E. Richardson, 2012-12-06 The locus of concreteness effects in memory for verbal materials has been described here in terms of the processing of shared and distinctive information This theoretical view is consistent with a variety of findings previously taken as support for dual coding insofar as both verbal and perceptual information may be involved in comprehending high imagery sentences and in learning lists of concrete words But going beyond previous accounts of imagery this view also can provide explanations for several findings that appear contradictory to the thesis that concrete and abstract materials differ in the form of their storage in long term memory Although this does not rule out a role for imagery in list learning or text comprehension it is clear that the complex processes involved in comprehension and memory for language go beyond mechanisms supplied by a theory based on the availability of modality specific mental representations The task now is to determine the viability of the theory in other domains Several domains of imagery research presented at EWIC provided fertile ground for evaluating my theoretical viewpoint Although not all provide a basis for distinguishing representational theories of imagery from the imagery as process view there are data in several areas that are more consistent with the latter than the former In other cases there are at least potential sources of evidence that would allow such a distinction

The History of the Science-fiction Magazine Michael Ashley,2000 The second of three volumes this book takes up the story to reveal a turbulent period that was to witness the extraordinary rise and fall and rise again of science Mike Ashley charts the SF book years in the wake of the nuclear age that was to see the golden age of science fiction

Paul Muldoon Tim Kendall,Peter McDonald,2004-01-01 The essays in this book testify to the fascination of Paul Muldoon s poems and also to their underlying contentiousness The contributors see Muldoon from many different angles biographical formal literary historical generic but also direct attention to complex moments of creativity in which an extraordinary amount of originality is concentrated and on the clarity of which a lot depends In their different ways all of the essays return to the question of what a poem can tell us whether about its author about itself or about the world in which it comes into being The contributors even in the degree to which they bring to light areas of disagreement about Muldoon s strengths and weaknesses continue a conversation about what poems and poets can tell us
