Germanic Warrior 236-568 AD Simon MacDowall, 2000-09-25 The 3rd to 6th centuries AD saw the collapse of the classical Mediterranean civilisation and the emergence of new states in Western Europe based on the Germanic warrior society This book focuses particularly on the men that made up the retinues of the Germanic warlords who carved kingdoms out of the carcass of the West Roman Empire Although sources for this early period are scarce Simon MacDowall manages to construct a convincing picture of the Germanic warrior Using evidence from Roman historians German archaeology and Anglo Saxon poetry MacDowall examines first the warriors society and hierarchy before dealing with their training equipment appearance tactics and style of fighting

Armies of the Germanic Peoples, 200 BC-AD 500 Gabriele Esposito, 2022-01-30 An overview of the Germanic peoples military history from this period and an examination of the weapons and tactics they employed on the battlefield Gabriele Esposito begins this study by showing how from very early on the Germanic communities were heavily influenced by Celtic culture He then moves on to describe the major military events starting with the first major encounter between the Germanic tribes and the Romans the invasion by the Cimbri and Teutones Julius Caesar s campaigns against German groups seeking to enter Gaul are described in detail as is the pivotal Battle of the Teutoburg Forest which effectively halted Roman expansion into Germany and for centuries fixed the Rhine as the border between the Roman and Germanic civilizations Escalating pressure of Germanic raids and invasions was a major factor in the collapse of the Western Roman Empire The author s analysis explains how Germanic warriors were able to crush the Roman military forces on several occasions gradually transformed the Roman Army itself from the inside and after the fall of the Empire created new Romano Germanic Kingdoms across Europe The evolution of Germanic weapons equipment and tactics is examined and brought to life through dozens of color photos of replica equipment in use

German Literature of the Early Middle Ages Brian Murdoch, 2004 A detailed contextualized picture of the very beginnings of writing in German from around 750 to 1100 This second volume of the set not only presents a detailed picture of the beginnings of writing in German from its first emergence as a literary language from around 750 to 1100 but also places those earliest writings into a context The first stages of German literature existed within a manuscript culture so careful consideration is given to what constitutes the actual texts but German literature also arose within a society that had recently been Christianized through the medium of Latin Therefore what we understand by literature in Germany at this early period must include a great amount of writing in Latin Thus the volume looks in detail at Latin works in prose and verse but with an eye upon the interaction between Latin and German writings Some of the material in the newly written German language is not literary in the modern sense of the word but makes clear the difficulties and indeed the triumphs of the establishing of a written literary language Individual chapters look first at the earliest translations and functional literature in German including charms and prayers next the examination of heroic material juxtaposes the Hildebrandlied with the Christian

Ludwigslied and with Latin writings like Waltharius and the panegyrics Otfrid's work the Gospel poem in German is given its due prominence the smaller German texts and the later prose works are fully treated as is chronicle writing in German and Latin Old High German literature was a trickle compared to the flood of the Latin that surrounded and influenced it but its importance is undeniable that trickle became a river Contributors Linda Archibald Graeme Dunphy Stephen Penn Christopher Wells Jonathan West Brian Murdoch Brian Murdoch is Professor of German at the University of Stirling Scotland
