Richard Morris,2021-11-25 Parish churches have been at the heart of communities for more than a thousand years But now fewer than two in one hundred people regularly attend services in an Anglican church and many have never been inside one. Since the idea of church is its people the buildings are becoming husks, staples of our landscapes but without meaning or purpose. Some churches are finding vigorous community roles with which to carry on but the institutional decline is widely seen as terminal. Yet for Richard Morris post-war parsonages were the happy backdrop of his childhood. In Evensong he searches for what it was that drew his father and hundreds like him towards ordination as they came home from war in 1945. Along the way we meet all kinds of people: archbishops, chaplains, campaigners, bell ringers, bureaucrats, archaeologists, gravediggers, architects, scroungers, and follow some of them to dark places. Part personal odyssey, part lyrical history, Evensong asks what churches stand for and what they can tell us; it explores why Anglicanism has often been fractious and why it has become so diffuse. Spanning over two thousand years it draws on new discoveries, reflects on the current state of the Church in England and ends amid the messy legacies of colonialism and empire. The Victorian Woodblock Illustrators Eric Samuel De Maré, 1980. Catalogue, 2nd International Exhibition of Botanical Art & Illustration, 20 October 1968 to 15 April 1969 Hunt Botanical Library, 1969.
