Documentary John Ellis,2011-07-20 Digital technologies have transformed documentary for both filmmakers and audiences Documentary Witness and Self Revelation takes an audience centred approach to documentary arguing that everyday experiences of what it feels like to film and to be filmed have developed a new sophistication and skepticism in today s viewers The book argues that documentary has developed a new third phase of its century long history films now tend to document the encounters between filmmakers and the filmed But what do we really know about those encounters The author s extensive experience of documentary production practice also enables him to examine technological changes in detail Innovations in technology can seem to offer greater realism but can at the same time frustrate attempts to achieve it John Ellis therefore proposes the idea of Slow Film as an antidote to the problems of increasing speed brought about by easy digital editing This book is ideal for students studying film media studies and visual culture In the Limelight and Under the Microscope Diane Negra,Su Holmes,2011-03-17 This timely collection explores the politics of female celebrity across a range of contemporary and historical media contexts Amidst concerns about the apparent decline in the currency of modern fame famous for being famous as well as debates about the shifting parameters of public private visibility it is female celebrities who are positioned as the most active discursive terrain This collection seeks to interrogate such phenomena by forging a greater conceptual theoretical and historical dialogue between celebrity studies and critical gender studies It takes as its starting point the understanding that female celebrity is a particularly fraught cultural phenomenon with ideological and industrial implications that warrant careful scrutiny In moving across case studies from the 19th century to the present day this book works from the assumption that the case study should play a crucial role in generating debate about the dialogue between past and present and the individual essays seek to reflect this spirit of enquiry
