mainstay of the Panzer divisions during the Blitzkrieg era and made up the bulk of the armored force sent to North Africa. Although less heavily armored than many of its opponents it was sturdy and reliable and its main armament was the equal of any enemy weapon it was called upon to face. Operating in one of the most inhospitable environments on earth the Pzkw III was at the forefront of the dramatic advances of 1941 and the defensive efforts of the following year all undertaken in the incredible vastness of the Libyan desert. This volume of the TankCraft series concludes the story of the tank's North African service examining the models that took part in the campaign beginning with the retreat from El Alamein and ending with the surrender of the last Axis forces in Tunisia in May 1943. Using archive photos and extensively researched color illustrations to examine the Pzkw III and the units that operated this deservedly famous armored vehicle during the final battles in North Africa. A key section of his book displays available model kits and aftermarket products complemented by a gallery of beautifully constructed and painted models in various scales. Technical details as well as modifications introduced during production and in the field are also examined providing everything the modeller needs to recreate an accurate representation of these historic tanks.

Operation Market Garden Ben Skipper, 2022-07-20 Every General's aim is to end a war by Christmas and Montgomery perhaps saw his opportunity in a bold strike across the southern portion of the Netherlands close to the borders of an embattled Reich. Still heady from earlier victories in the Normandy campaign the plan to push deep into enemy territory with land and airborne forces was as daring as it was dangerous. Some would say the furthest objective Arnhem Bridge was a Bridge too Far. Separated into two distinct elements Market the airborne assault was designed to capture the vital bridges across the many rivers and canals that were needed. Garden the ground assault would ensure the bridges were soon part of a wider Allied salient. However planning and intelligence was as not as thorough as it had been in previous operations and Market Garden turned from glorious adventure with easily achievable aims to an almost devastating defeat. This Battle Craft title also looks at four pieces of military hardware that were involved in these legendary battles. Representing the land forces are the Triumph HW3 motorcycle a dispatch riders stalwart and the unique German Sd Kfz 2 Kettenkrad. These amazing machines were vital in maintaining lines of communications. On the main route of the march the state of the art British Cromwell duelled valiantly against the deadly Panther Ausf G. The Quartermaster section provides the modeller with an insight into the development and operational use of the four chosen vehicles that were involved in Market Garden. A selection of historical and contemporary photos and illustrations feature alongside stunning showcase builds providing the modeller with subjects to whet the creative appetite. It also features details of model kits and extras that can really help the modeller bring military history to life.

The Development Of Reconnaissance Units In Modern Armies [Illustrated Edition]* John J. McGrath, 2014-08-15 Illustrated with 60 maps plans and diagrams Reconnaissance and counter reconnaissance are battlefield missions as old as military history itself and missions for which many armies have created specialized units to perform In most cases these units were trained equipped and used differently from the majority of an army s fighting units Horse cavalry performed these missions for centuries for it had speed and mobility far in excess of main battle units Once the horse was replaced by mechanization however the mobility advantage once enjoyed by the horse cavalry disappeared Since the early 20th century the search for the proper mix of equipment the proper organization and the proper employment of reconnaissance units has bedeviled armies around the world This survey uses a diverse variety of historical cases to illustrate the enduring issues that surround the equipping organizing and employment of reconnaissance units It seems that these specialized units are either too heavily or too lightly equipped and too narrowly specialized or too conventionally organized Pre war reconnaissance doctrines tend to undergo significant change once fighting begins leading to post conflict analysis that reconnaissance units were misused in one way or another McGrath ends his study with an intriguing conclusion about the role that specialized reconnaissance units should have in the future that may surprise many readers Steel Thunder on the Eastern Front Stackpole Books, Michael Olive, 2014-11-15 A visual history of the artillery used by both sides on the Eastern Front in World War II Hundreds of photos most of them from private collections around the world Depicts artillery pieces other equipment and the men who crewed the guns Color insert shows preserved guns and ammunition Ideal reference for military history fans scholars modelers and reenactors Perfect complement to the narrative accounts in the Stackpole Military History Series Hitler and Czechoslovakia in World War II Patrick Crowhurst, 2013-10-24 The invasion of Czechoslovakia by Nazi Germany in March 1939 helped to precipitate Europe's descent into World War II six months later The move supposedly to protect the Sudeten Germans shocked many in Europe who saw it as a clear statement of intent by Hitler Here Patrick Crowhurst argues that occupation of the Sudetenland and the Czech lands was also crucial to the Nazi war machine The armaments factories and raw materials that Hitler seized accelerated Germany's capabilities Czech tanks would prove crucial in the Ardennes and as the Wehrmacht fought at Stalingrad Armaments Minister Albert Speer was corralling Czech industrial machinery to produce engines aircraft and equipment in support In addition new Slovakian and Czech primary material are used to give a new in depth account of the German reaction to the assassination of Reinhardt Heydrich on the streets of Prague in June 1942 The recriminations were brutal and dovetailed with Hitler's plans for the genocide of Czech Jewry This is a new side of the History of Nazi Europe and argues for the centrality of the Czech occupation in the overall narrative of World War II
