Fits Faints And Falls In Old Age:

Fits, Faints and Falls in Old age M.S. Kataria, 2012-12-06 Events in anyone day of the aged consist of the functions of daily living modified or enhanced for each individual according to his or her capability It is the constant aim of the medical professions to enhance the individual's quality of life and to try to avoid what is preventable Among some of the hazards of the geriatric day are fits faints and falls It is the fall which often highlights the first two and the consequences may be serious for an old person Perhaps one day an easy way to circumvent the forces of gravity or drugs to counteract impaired sensory input will be found The importance of the study of gait has been increasingly recognized by physicians working in this field of medicine for the elderly writings by geriatricians on the subject are numerous Bernard Isaacs in his gait research laboratory in Birmingham is studying the subject In this book the experience of the contributors is brought together inevitably with some overlap which has in the main been avoided by restructuring modification and crosschecking of articles Fits and Faints J. B. P. Stephenson, 1990 This book is concerned with one of the major areas of misdiagnosis in medicine today It has been estimated that as many as thirty percent of children typed as epileptic when presenting with loss of consciousness falls or other paroxysmal episodes have in fact non epileptic attacks Yet because of the stigma attached to this label and the frequent side effects of anti epileptic drugs it is important that the alternative etiological mechanisms be recognized The most common of these conditions the vagalmediated anoxic seizure or fainting fit is so frequent that it will be encountered by anyone involved in the practice of clinical medicine in its widest sense These seizures are discussed in depth using original data and extensively reviewing the literature Many other less common but nonetheless important varieties of fits faints and funny turns are self induced by a Valsalva maneuver and motor events ranging from day dreaming to the effects of suffocation and brain swelling As Jean Aicardi writes in his foreword to this volume Over 140 case histories bring the flavor of real life into an exhaustive yet highly readable account This monograph is undoubtedly the most comprehensive source of information available about the various types of anoxic attacks their clinical and EEG features mechanisms and prognosis This is a delightful book that anyone involved in clinical medicine in general and child neurology in particular will enjoy reading Aging in Today's World Renée Rose Shield, Stanley M. Aronson, 2005 Never before in human existence have the aged been so numerous and for the most part healthy In this important new book two professionals an anthropologist and a physician wrestle with the complex subject of aging Is it inevitable Is it a burden or gift What is successful aging Why are some people better at aging than others Where is aging located How does it vary among individuals within and between groups cultures societies and indeed over the centuries Reflecting on these and other questions the authors comment on the impact age has in their lives and work Two unique viewpoints are presented While medicine approaches aging with special attention given to the body its organs and its functions over time anthropology focuses on how the aged live within their cultural settings As this volume makes clear the two disciplines have a great deal to teach each other and in a spirited exchange the authors show how professional barriers can be surmounted In a novel approach each author explores a different aspect of aging in alternating chapters These chapters are in turn followed by a commentary by the other Further the authors interrupt each other within the chapters to raise questions contradict ask for clarification and explore related ideas with these interjections emphasizing the dynamic nature of their ideas about age Finally a third voice that of a random old man periodically inserts itself into the text to remind the authors of their necessarily limited understanding of the subject

Falling in Old Age Rein Tideiksaar,1989 Preventing Falls J. Thomas Hutton,2010-10-29 The risk of serious injury resulting from a fall increases with age as our eyesight ability to react quickly memory and cognitive functions begin to decline For the growing population of people over age 65 falls can lead to loss of dignity and independence and they can cause serious injury or even death Preventing Falls is an essential guide for the elderly caregivers Parkinson s sufferers and many others who face this health risk in their daily lives As people age knowing how to accommodate motor sensory and cognitive changes is important While no single cause for a fall exists the leading factors are environmental hazards balance problems muscle weakness poor vision and impaired judgment Parkinson s patients as well as those with various neurological or muscular disorders are especially prone to falls because their motor skills are seriously compromised This book addresses valuable skills and coping mechanisms as well as environmental changes and assistive devices that are needed to prevent falls Many elderly victims of a fall require the skilled care of a nursing home within a year of the incident especially those elders who cannot care for themselves and whose family members are unable to provide adequate help The editors place emphasis on successful aging the ability to maintain mobility and remain independent Preventing Falls is a handy guidebook for elders to decrease their risk of falls develop personal confidence and maintain their independence This vital sourcebook is complemented with a valuable 60 minute videotape offering step by step instruction on the best methods for preventing falls J Thomas Hutton M D Ph D Lubbock TX is the Director of the Neurology Research and Education Center at Covenant Health System and Medical Director of the National Parkinson Foundation Center of Excellence at Covenant Health System Jeffrey W Elias Ph D Reno NV is Associate Director for Research at the Sanford Center on Aging at the University of Nevada Jo Ann Shroyer Ph D Lubbock TX is Professor and Chair of the Department of Merchandising Environmental Design and Consumer Economics at Texas Tech University Zane Curry Ph D Lubbock TX is Associate Professor in the Department of Merchandising Environmental Design and Consumer Economics at Texas Tech University Clinical Gerontological Nursing W. Problems in Geriatric Medicine A. Martin,2012-12-06 The fact that there are special problems in the care of the elderly in the community is ample justification for writing a separate volume on the subject The knowledge that there are increasing numbers of older people in virtually every country in the world makes it all the more important that the family physician should have sympathy with and understanding of the problems of them since they are likely to make up a significant part of his workload and increasingly will take up more of his time and energy There is a progressive amount of disability with advancing years and this is particularly true of those aged 75 years and over Increasing age is associated with serious impairment of hearing and vision senses which younger people take for granted Old age sees the arrival of major diseases of middle age with much greater frequency such as ischaemic heart and cerebrovascular disease diabetes mellitus and osteoarthritis There are other disorders that are virtually confined to the elderly such as fractures of the femoral neck Paget s disease and myeloma We now know that the disintegration of the conducting tissue of the heart is largely an age related phenomenon Ageing processes affect every major organ system in the body and the impairment of physiological performance resulting from these affects the elderly individual's response to infections disease and environmental changes in complex ways that are not seen in younger people
