Five Directors The Golden Years Of Radio

Marwan Kraidy, Patrick D. Murphy

Five Directors The Golden Years Of Radio:

Five Directors Ira Skutch, 1998 Five Directors collects the fascinating memories of some of radio's most vivid personalities: Himan Brown, Axel Gruenberg, Fletcher Markle, Arch Oboler, and Robert Lewis Shayon. They explain in their own words their journey through radio broadcasting, how it affected their lives, and how they saw it affecting the consciousness of a country. Their histories are not just stories of success in early twentieth-century America but individual portraits of the roller coaster changes in lifestyle that swept the United States. Radio delivered not only entertainment but up-to-date news from Charles Lindbergh's transatlantic triumph to Roosevelt's comforting Fireside Chats during the depths of the Depression. Five Directors is witness to the triumphs of radio and brings its enormous impact home with clear, personable narratives and prose. It includes a selected list of credits for each director and a handy index, making the book a breezy, useful tool for anyone fascinated by or nostalgic about America's first nationwide entertainment industry. Christine Becker, 2008 An original study of Hollywood film stars and 1950s television. The Rise of Radio, from Marconi Through the Golden Age

Alfred Balk, 2006 A sweep of radio history from its birth as Marconi's wireless telegraph through its status under deregulation, this book analyzes the changing medium's social, political, and cultural impact. It casts light on many topics, including the roles of women and African Americans, programming sources outside the Hollywood Broadway nexus, and more. Global Media Studies

Marwan Kraidy, Patrick D. Murphy, 2004-02-24 Emphasising the connection of globalisation to local culture, this collection considers the diversity of modes of reception, reception contexts, uses of media content, and the performative and creative relationships that audiences develop. Qualitative Research Methods for Media Studies

Bonnie S. Brennen, 2012-11-12 This book introduces the essential qualitative methods used in media research with an emphasis on integrating theory with practice. Each method is introduced through step-by-step instruction on conducting research and interpreting research findings, alongside in-depth discussions of the historical, cultural, and theoretical context of the particular method and case studies drawn from published scholarship. This text is a comprehensive and accessible introduction to qualitative methods, ideal for media and mass communication research courses.

The Broadcast 41 Carol A. Stabile, 2018-10-16 How forty-one women, including Dorothy Parker, Gypsy Rose Lee, and Lena Horne, were forced out of American television and radio in the 1950s Red Scare. At the dawn of the Cold War era, forty-one women working in American radio and television were placed on a media blacklist and forced from their industry. The ostensible reason: so-called Communist influence. But in truth, these women, among them Dorothy Parker, Lena Horne, and Gypsy Rose Lee, were by nature of their diversity and ambition a threat to the traditional portrayal of the American family on the airwaves. This book from Goldsmiths Press describes what American radio and television lost when these women were blacklisted, documenting their aspirations and achievements. Through original archival research and access to FBI blacklist documents, The Broadcast 41 details the blacklisted women's attempts in the 1930s and 1940s to depict America as diverse.

complicated and inclusive The book tells a story about what happens when non male non white perspectives are excluded from media industries and it imagines what the new medium of television might have looked like had dissenting viewpoints not been eliminated at such a formative moment The all white male dominated Leave it to Beaver America about which conservative politicians wax nostalgic existed largely because of the forcible silencing of these forty one women and others like them For anyone concerned with the ways in which our cultural narrative is constructed this book offers an urgent reminder of the myths we perpetuate when a select few dominate the airwaves
