Flaubert and Madame Bovary Francis Steegmuller,1968 Flaubert and Madame Bovary Francis Steegmuller,1968

Flaubert and Madame Bovary Francis Steegmuller,2004-11-30 Francis Steegmuller's beautifully executed double portrait of Madame Bovary and her maker is a remarkable and unusual biographical study a sensitive and detailed account of how an unpromising young man turns himself into one of the world's greatest novelists Steegmuller starts with the young Flaubert prone to mysterious fits hypochondriacal at odds with and yet dependent on his bourgeois family Then drawing on Flaubert's voluminous correspondence Steegmuller tracks his subject through friendships and love affairs a trip to the Orient nervous breakdown and tenuous recovery and finally into the study where a mind at once restless and jaded finds a focus in the precisely detailed reality of an imagined woman utterly ordinary in her unhappiness whose story was to revolutionize literature

Savage Reprisals: Bleak House, Madame Bovary, Buddenbrooks Peter Gay, 2003-12-17 A revelatory work that examines the intricate relationship between history and literature truth and fiction with some surprising conclusions Focusing on three literary masterpieces Charles Dickens's Bleak House 1853 Gustave Flaubert's Madame Bovary 1857 and Thomas Mann's Buddenbrooks 1901 Peter Gay a leading cultural historian demonstrates that there is more than one way to read a novel Typically readers believe that fiction especially the Realist novels that dominated Western culture for most of the nineteenth century and beyond is based on historical truth and that great novels possess a documentary value That trust Gay brilliantly shows is misplaced novels take their own path to reality Using Dickens Flaubert and Mann as his examples Gay explores their world their craftsmanship and their minds In the process he discovers that all three share one overriding quality a resentment and rage against the society that sustains the novel itself Using their stylish writing as a form of revenge they deal out savage reprisals which have become part of our Western literary canon A New York Times Notable Book and a Best Book of 2002

Translating Trans Identity Emily Rose, 2021-03-25 This book explores the ways in which translation deals with sexual and textual undecidability adopting an interdisciplinary approach bridging translation transgender studies and queer studies in analyzing the translations of six texts in English French and Spanish labelled as trans Rose draws on experimental translation methods such as the use of the palimpsest and builds on theory from areas such as philosophy linguistics queer studies and transgender studies and the work of such thinkers as Derrida and Deleuze to encourage critical thinking around how all texts and trans texts specifically work to be queer and how queerness in translation might be celebrated These texts illustrate the ways in which their authors play language games and how these can be translated between languages that use gender in different ways and the subsequent implications for our understanding of the act of translation and how we present our gender identity or identities In showing what translation and transgender identity can learn from one another Rose lays the foundation for future directions for research into the translation of trans identity making this book key reading for scholars in translation studies transgender studies and queer studies

Dancing Fear and Desire Stavros Stavrou Karayanni, 2006-01-01 Throughout centuries of European colonial domination the bodies of Middle Eastern dancers male and female move sumptuously and seductively across the pages of Western travel journals evoking desire and derision admiration and disdain allure and revulsion This profound ambivalence forms the axis of an investigation into Middle Eastern dance an investigation that extends to contemporary belly dance Stavros Stavrou Karayanni through historical investigation theoretical analysis and personal reflection explores how Middle Eastern dance actively engages race sex and national identity Close readings of colonial travel narratives an examination of Oscar Wilde's Salome and analyses of treatises about Greek dance reveal the intricate ways in which this controversial dance has been shaped by Eurocentric models that define and control identity performance

The Open Road Jean Giono, 2021-10-12 A nomad and a swindler embark on an eccentric road trip in this picaresque philosophical novel by the author of The Man Who Planted Trees The south of France 1950 A solitary vagabond walks through the villages towns valleys and foothills of the region between northern Provence and the Alps He picks up work along the way and spends the winter as the custodian of a walnut oil mill He also picks up a problematic companion a cardsharp and con man whom he calls the Artist The action moves from place to place and episode to episode in truly picaresque fashion Everything is told in the first person present tense by the vagabond narrator who goes unnamed He himself is a curious combination of qualities poetic resentful cynical compassionate flirtatious and self absorbed While The Open Road can be read as loosely strung entertainment interspersed with caustic reflections it can also be interpreted as a projection of the relationship of author art and audience But it is ultimately an exploration of the tensions and boundaries between affection and commitment and of the competing needs for solitude independence and human bonds As always in Jean Giono the language is rich in natural imagery and as ruggedly idiomatic as it is lyrical

The Flanders Road Claude Simon, 2022-07-12 By the winner of the 1985 Nobel Prize in Literature a riveting stylistically audacious modernist epic about the French cavalry's bloody face off against German Panzer tanks during WWII On a sunny day in May 1940 the French army sent out the cavalry against the invading German army's panzer tanks Unsurprisingly the French were routed Twenty six year old Claude Simon was among the French forces As they retreated he saw his captain shot off his horse by a German sniper This is the primal scene to which Simon returns repeatedly in his fiction and nowhere so powerfully as in his most famous novel The Flanders Road Here Simon's own memories overlap with those of his central character Georges whose captain a distant relative dies a similar death Georges reviews the circumstances and sense or senselessness of that death first in the company of a fellow prisoner in a POW camp and then some years later in the course of an ever more erotically charged visit to the captain's widow Corinne As he does other stories emerge Corinne's prewar affair with the jockey Iglisia who would become the captain's orderly the possible suicide of an eighteenth century ancestor whose grim portrait loomed large in Georges's childhood home Georges's learned father whose books are no help against barbarism The great question throughout the question that must be urgently asked even as it remains unanswerable is whether fiction can confront and respond to the trauma of history The Uncollected Essays of Elizabeth Hardwick

Elizabeth Hardwick, 2022-05-24 Essays on music art pop culture literature and politics by the renowned essayist and observer of contemporary life now collected together for the first time The Uncollected Essays of Elizabeth Hardwick is a companion collection to The Collected Essays a book that proved a revelation of what for many had been an open secret that Elizabeth Hardwick was one of the great American literary critics and an extraordinary stylist in her own right The thirty five pieces that Alex Andriess has gathered here none previously featured in volumes of Hardwick's work make it clear that her powers extended far beyond literary criticism encompassing a vast range of subjects from New York City to Faye Dunaway from

Wagner's Parsifal to Leonardo da Vinci's inventions and from the pleasures of summertime to grits soufflé. In these often surprising, always well wrought essays we see Hardwick's passion for people and places, her politics, her thoughts on feminism, and her ability, especially from the 1970s on, to write well about seemingly anything.
